Generation 1

1. WILLIAM<sup>1</sup> ROLSTONE was born about 1708. He died in Aug 1767 in Augusta (now Botetourt) Co., Va. (age ~59). He married Eleanor about 1727. She was born about 1712. She died after 1767 in Augusta (or Botetourt if after 1770) Co., Va..

Notes for William Rolstone:

William Rolstone's date and place of birth, as is his parentage, are unknown. Although his parentage is unknown, yDNA places his paternal ancestry in Tyrone County of now Northern Ireland in the 1600's. Earlier generations may have been from Scotland.

Some genealogies place his birth in 1708 in Boston, Massachusetts, as the son of John Roulstone and Dorothy Nicholson; however, no documentation has been found to support this proposed relationship nor date of birth.

"... William along with his father John III and John's brother Thomas coming to The Valley of Virginia (Shenandoah Valley) around 1736. There was trouble with the Shawnee and Cherokee because of the influx of settlers. Wars were fought, homes destroyed ..... etc. The dispute came to a head in 1743. It was resolved in 1744 by the Treaty of Lancaster..

1744 was the year both John Ralston and his brother Thomas died. I believe they were killed during a raid by hostile Indians. Either Shawnee or Cherokee." {Jerry Ralston, July 2020} This record would seem to confirm William's relationship to the Boston Roulston's; however, there was more than one William Rolston in the Augusta County area.

There are other sources that suggest William and his family emigrated first to the area of Fredericksburg, Virginia, around 1740 from Londonderry, a major port city in Ulster, Northern Ireland, and were originally from Scotland, perhaps descendants of Gavin Raulston (1552-1612). If so, William and Eleanor married in Scotland?, and all but their youngest children, Matthew and Andrews, were born in Scotland?.

What is known is that William first appears in the Augusta County, Virginia, court records on August 28, 1750 when assigned to a list of tithables {Chronicles of the Scotch-Irish Settlement in Virginia, book 2, page 416}. At this point in history, Augusta County, Virginia, covered a vast area of lands to the west and northwest. As the years passed, Augusta County would become subdivided many times. Western portions of early Augusta County would become the State of Kentucky; northwestern portions of early Augusta County would become the State of West Virginia. Although the early lands of Augusta County were extensive, William and his family lived in the northeast corner of the Greenfield-Amsterdam Community. This community was located in an area of Augusta County that would become Botetourt County, Virginia in 1769. As such, most of the historical records for William appear in August County while later records for the land appear in Botetourt County. The area where William and his family resided was predominately inhabited by Scotch-Irish immigrants.

On June 13, 1753, thirty acres of land was surveyed along Looney Creek for William Rolston. Kegley's Virginia Frontier {page 79} notes this transaction "... by John Ralston." On November 24, 1753, William and sons were assigned to a road project near Looney's Mill Creek. {Chronicles of the Scotch-Irish Settlement in Virginia, page 23} "... William Rolston and two others ...", this is assumed to be his younger sons, William and Samuel, and then Robert and David Rolston who have reached the age of majority were named separately. Looney's Mill Creek runs along the eastern portion of the Greenfield-Amsterdam Community in what was still Augusta County at that time.

On March 22, 1757, William presents a bill to Colonel Buchanan at Fort William in Augusta County for bushels of rice and wheat along with 7 pounds of flour {A Seed-Bed of the Republic - Early Botetourt, page 93}. In 1758, William served as a member of the Colonial Militia under the command of Colonel John Buchanan. He held the rank of private. It is not known if he was stationed at Fort William.

On July 11, 1761, William received a land grant on Catawba Creek not far from Looney's Mill Creek in Augusta County {Book K, page 353}. This same plot of land was transferred to William's son, William Junior in 1767 {Augusta County Will Book 4, page 23}. This area became Botetourt County in 1770 after William's death.

"In the Name of God Amen I William Ralston of the County of Augusta and Colony of Virginia being very sick and weak in Body but of perfect mind and memory and calling to mind the mortality of the Body and the uncertainty of this life I do therefore make and ordain this to be my last Will and Testament and first I recommend my Soul to God who give it and my Body to the Grave to be Buried in a Christian and decent manner and as to such Worldly Estate and Goods as are mine I intend to give and bequeath as follows." {Augusta County Will Book No. 4, page. 23, Dec. 16, 1766}

His will names his wife Eleanor and "beloved" sons David and Robert; no other children are named. William willed all his estate to his wife except for the crops from the "plantation" for which she would retain only 1/3. Sons David and Robert are both bequeathed a small sum of 10 shillings each. The other 2/3's of the crop is presumably shared by these same two sons. The will was witnessed by Wm. Ralston and Saml. Ralston. The will is "proved" August 18, 1767 by witnesses. The will named his wife, Eleanor, as the sole executor of the estate, and she entered into bonding (500 Pounds) as the executor, William and Samuel Rolston were also included in this bond along with her. An "...appraisement of Wm. Rallstone's estate..." {Augusta County, Book 4, page. 55} is recorded on November 17, 1767. Typical of appraisements of this era, there is no mention of land William may have owned.

Seven sons are attributed to William and his wife Eleanor. Noticeably absent is the mention of any daughters.

Notes for Eleanor:

Miss Eleanor was born about 1712, perhaps as early as 1710. Her parentage and place of birth are unknown. It has been suggested that Eleanor's maiden name was Batetant or Botetort (Virginia Eleanor Botetout) and she was born in Augusta County, Virginia. There are those who place her birth as 1719 in Bedford, Bedford County, Virginia. Her maiden name has also been suggested as Marshall.

About 1727, Eleanor married William Rolstone (William Lewis Raulstone according to some sources). The date and place of their marriage is undocumented. Seven children are attributed to their union, but only two sons are proven. Of the seven children attributed to Eleanor and William, no daughters were noted.

Eleanor's husband preceded her in death in 1767. She and sons, David and Robert, were named in her late husband's will. There are no further mentions of her beyond the few court records relating to the estate of her late husband.

Her date and place of death are unknown. She certainly died in Virginia and would likely have been buried next to husband William in Augusta (now Botetourt) County, Virginia.

William Rolstone and Eleanor had the following children:

- i. ROBERT<sup>2</sup> ROLSTONE was born about 1728. He died after 1766.

Notes for Robert Rolstone:

Robert Rolstone was born about 1728, perhaps in Ireland, the eldest, or perhaps second, of seven children born to William Rolstone and wife Eleanor. He was noted in August County, Virginia, sometime after his 16th birthday along with his father, mother, and siblings. Augusta County Order Book #2, page 416, dated August 28, 1750, adds Robert and brother David as tithables. A tithable being at least 16 years of age; making Robert born before 1734.

This Robert is often confused with the Robert Rolston who resided at Tinkling Spring. The Robert of Tinkling Springs was about 10 years older. The Robert of Tinkling Spring, along with his wife, arrived in Augusta County around 1740; some ten years before William Rolstone and his family appeared in the county records. Augusta County, Virginia, court records dated October 6, 1795, show a Robert Ralston as about to remove to Kentucky. This is may also be the Robert Rolston of Tinkling Spring.

Little is known of Robert other than the sparse mentions in the Augusta County court records. There is no record of Robert having married. It is assumed that he lived and worked on his father's plantation.

In 1749 a land grant was made onto him. This same land was conveyed to David Rolstone in 1758.

Robert was listed as an heir in the will of his father, William. William's will was written on December 17, 1766 shortly before his death. In the will Robert was left a small some of money and a third share in the crops; the same as his brother David. No further record of Robert is found after the will. Robert may have died soon after, removed to lands to the west, or simply lived the remainder of his life in obscurity.

2. ii. JOHN ROLSTON was born before 1730. He died after 1800 in Kentucky or Ohio (age 70+). He married Agnes before 1751 in Virginia. She was born about 1731. She died after 1795 in Kentucky or Virginia (age 64+).
3. iii. DAVID ROLSTONE SR. was born about 1733. He died in 1802 in Rockingham Co., Va. (age ~65). He married Ann Copeland between 20 Mar 1754-19 Mar 1755 in Augusta Co., Va.. She was born in 1720. She died after 23 Aug 1779 in Rockingham Co., Va..
4. iv. WILLIAM ROLSTONE was born about 1735. He died in Jun 1811 in Augusta Co., Va. (age ~75). He married Elizabeth on 01 Nov 1761 in Augusta Co., Va.. She was born before 1745. She died after 19 Mar 1810 in Virginia.
5. v. SAMUEL ROLSTON was born about 1738. He died in 1807 in Augusta Co., Va. (age ~69). He married Agnes Hall, daughter of John Hall and Agnes V, on 11 Sep 1766 in Augusta Co., Va.. She was born about 1740 in Virginia. She died after 1810 in Augusta Co., Va..
6. vi. MATTHEW ROLSTONE was born in 1742 in Augusta (now Botetourt) Co., Va.. He died in Dec 1800 in Jefferson Co., Tenn. (age 58). He married Martha Moore, daughter of James Moore and Jean, in 1764 in Augusta Co., Va.. She was born in 1744 in Augusta Co., Va.. She died in 1806 in Jefferson Co., Tenn. (age ~62).
- vii. ANDREW ROLSTONE was born about 1745 in Augusta (now Botetourt) Co., Va.. He died in 1782 (age ~37).

Notes for Andrew Rolstone:

[NOTE: Andrew is shown here as the son of William & Eleanor Rolston. This relationship is suggested by other genealogical works, but there is, as yet, no substantiating evidence for this relationship.]

Andrew Rolstone was born about 1745 or perhaps earlier, between 1740-1742. Andrew Ralstone appears in the Augusta County, Virginia, Will Book, Number 2, on 19th of March, 1755, where Benjamin Lewis is ordered to pay Andrew 1.10 pounds as part of John Nickoll's estate. It is assumed that Andrew was at the age of majority at this time, which would place his date of birth at or prior to 1734.

There is no known marriage for Andrew, but he is suspected of fathering a child later known as John Mitchell.

The 1782 date of death is from the research of Anita Kraft. Some have placed his death in 1805. His place of death and burial are unknown but assumed to have been in Virginia.

Generation 2

2. JOHN<sup>2</sup> ROLSTON (William<sup>1</sup> Rolstone) was born before 1730. He died after 1800 in Kentucky or Ohio (age 70+). He married Agnes before 1751 in Virginia. She was born about 1731. She died after 1795 in Kentucky or Virginia (age 64+).

Notes for John Rolston:

John Rolston was born sometime before 1730, probably in Ireland, the second, or perhaps the eldest, of seven children attributed to William Rolstone and wife Eleanor, maiden name unknown. [Relationship proven by yDNA.] John also appears as John Ralstone. His date of birth is based on the land purchase of 1751 that implies that John would have had to of been at least 21 years of age.

One undisclosed source contends that this John emigrated to the area of Fredericksburg, Virginia around 1740 from County Londonderry in Ulster and was originally from Scotland.

Sometime before 1751 in Virginia, John married Agnes, maiden name unknown. Five children are attributed to their union. On September 2, 1751, John and wife Agnes purchased 435 acres of land from James Patton located on the "Waters of Looney Creek" in Augusta County, Virginia. {Augusta County, Virginia Deed Book 4, page 37} In 1769 this area became Botetourt County. On September 9, 1780, John sold the same 450 acre parcel of land [then described as Looney's Mill Creek] to Matthew Ralston {his younger brother?} for the modest sum of 70 pounds. {Botetourt County, Virginia, Deed Book 3, page 10}

John Ralston, Date: Oct 7, 1765, Location: Augusta Co., VA, Remarks: John Nelson's estate appraised, by Jno. Cravens, Jno. Ralston, ---- Metzger (German)., Description: Appraiser. {Chronicles of the Scotch-Irish Settlement in Virginia, 1745-1800. Extracted from the Original Court Records of Augusta County" by Lyman Chalkley.}

It is not known if John served during the American Revolution. There are records for a John of Virginia; However, both of these John's were born much later than the John of this biography:

John Rolliston, Birth Date: 174?, Birthplace: Virginia, Volume: 149, Page 249. {Reference: Historical Reg. of Virginians in the Revolution, soldiers, sailors and marines, 1775-1783. Edited By John H. Gwathmey. Richmond, Va. 1938. (13, 872p.):676}

In Augusta County, Virginia in 1783, John Ralston and sons, William and Henry, were recorded as members of Captain Dickey's Company. Also noted was John's brother, Wm. Ralston and son James.

By 1788 John had moved with some of his children to Fayette County, Kentucky, as he was found on the Tax List for that year. Also found on this same Tax List was David Rolston, his relationship to John is unknown. On September 15, 1789 in Deed Book 26, page 362, of Augusta County, Virginia, John Ralston, of Fayette County, Kentucky, appointed his brother William Ralston as his attorney to sell a tract of land. This act was witnessed by John's sons, William and Henry Ralston.

Son Henry left Virginia for Kentucky. He was found in the 1796 Tax List of Bourbon County. By the following year his brother William had followed him as both Henry and William appear in the 1797 Tax List of that county. In the 1800 Tax List for Bourbon County, Kentucky, John and Henry Rolston were listed. This is believed to be the same John and his eldest son, Henry. Son Henry moved across the river into Ohio, but there is no record of John moving with him. Son William moved to Harrison County, Kentucky.

John died sometime after 1800. His date and place of death and burial are unknown. He may have died in Bourbon County or moved with his son to Ohio in 1801 and died there.

Notes for Agnes:

Agnes was the wife of John Rolston. Nothing is known of Agnes's birth or parentage, but there is some speculation that her maiden name was Robinson. She, like her husband, was born during the first half of the 1700's.

Agnes and her husband, John, had four children. Her husband and children left Virginia and moved to Kentucky in the late 1700's. The last record of Agnes is the 1780 sale of property in Botetourt County, Virginia. It is not known if Agnes was still living at the time the family removed to Kentucky or if she may have died in Virginia. Her date and place of death and burial are unknown.

John Rolston and Agnes had the following children:

7. i. WILLIAM THOMAS<sup>3</sup> RALSTON was born in 1759 in Augusta Co., Va.. He died on 07 Jul 1835 in Farmingdale, Sangamon Co., Ill. (age 76). He married Agnes Nancy McClure, daughter of Andrew McClure and Margaret Kerr, on 10 May 1790 in Virginia (now Fayette Co., Ky.). She was born on 02 Oct 1772 in Botetourt Co., Va.. She died in 1844 in Gardner Twp.,

- Sangamon Co., Ill. (age 71).
8. ii. HENRY W. ROLSTON was born about 1765 in Augusta Co., Va.. He died on 14 Jul 1857 in Brown Co., Ohio (age ~90). He married (1) SARAH SAMPLES, daughter of Robert R. Samples, on 20 Nov 1792 in Rockingham Co., Va.. She was born after 1771 in Virginia. She died on 15 Dec 1833 in Brown Co., Ohio (age ~60). He married (2) JANE ALLISON on 28 Sep 1835 in Augusta Co., Va.. She was born about 1780 in Virginia. She died before 1860 in Brown Co., Ohio.
  9. iii. RUTH ROLSTON was born on 06 Oct 1767 in Botetourt Co., Va.. She died in 1837 in Montgomery Co., Ky. (age 69). She married John Allison on 09 Feb 1792 in Fayette Co., Ky.. He was born on 07 Dec 1759 in Rowan Co., N.C.. He died on 20 Mar 1833 in Nicholas Co., Ky. (age 73).
  10. iv. JOHN ROLSTON was born on 17 Dec 1769 in Augusta Co., Va.. He died on 17 Sep 1834 in Jessamine, Bath Co., Ky. (age 64). He married Elizabeth Neely, daughter of Joseph E. Neely and Martha Robertson Johnston, on 17 Nov 1798 in Bourbon Co., Ky.. She was born on 01 Jan 1782 in Lancaster Co., Penn.. She died on 27 Dec 1827 in Bath Co., Ky. (age 45).
  - v. JAMES ROLSTON was born about 1773 in Botetourt Co., Va.. He died in 1815 in Kentucky (age ~42). He married Nancy Curry on 27 Nov 1794 in Fayette Co., Ky.. She was born about 1773.

Notes for James Rolston:

James Rolston was born about 1773 in Botetourt County, Virginia, the youngest of five children born to John Rolston and his wife Agnes. In the late 1780's James accompanied his father and brothers to Fayette County, Kentucky. It is unclear if James's mother was living at the time of their move.

On November 27, 1794 in Fayette County, Kentucky, James married Nancy Curry. Children from their union are unknown.

According to the history of Brown County, Ohio, James, his brother Henry and a relative, Phoebe Curry, moved to Pleasant Township, Ohio, in 1801. Like the others, James would have spent some time in Bourbon County, Kentucky, before moving across the Ohio River into what was then Clermont County, Ohio. The last record of James is in the 1810 Tax List for Clermont County, Ohio.

James is said to have died in 1815. His place of death and burial are unknown.

3. DAVID<sup>2</sup> ROLSTONE SR. (William<sup>1</sup>) was born about 1733. He died in 1802 in Rockingham Co., Va. (age ~65). He married Ann Copeland between 20 Mar 1754-19 Mar 1755 in Augusta Co., Va.. She was born in 1720. She died after 23 Aug 1779 in Rockingham Co., Va..

Notes for David Rolstone Sr.:

David Rolstone Sr. was born about 1733, probably in Ireland, the third of seven children born to William Rolstone and his wife, Eleanor. [Relationship confirmed by yDNA.] He is said to have been born in Boston, but there is no record of his birth. David, his siblings, and their parents are assumed to have been born in Ireland. David may have been born as early as 1730.

David arrived in August County, Virginia, some time after his 16th birthday along with his father, mother, and other siblings. Augusta County Order Book #2, page 416, dated August 28, 1750, adds David and brother Robert as "tithables." A tithable being at least 16 years of age, and thus, David was born before 1734. David's surname is also found in legal documents as Ralston and Rolston. Variations in the spelling of the Rolston surname were quite common during his lifetime.

On November 24, 1753, members of the Rolston family were assigned to a road project near Looney's Mill Creek. {Chronicles of the Scotch-Irish Settlement in Virginia, page 23} "... William Rolston and two others ..." that is assumed to be other sons as David and brother Robert were named separately. Looney's Mill Creek runs along the southeast portion of the Greenfield-Amsterdam Community in that part of Augusta County that would later become Botetourt County.

A Robert Rolstone and his wife Martha arrived in the New World from Ireland and registered in Orange County, Virginia, in 1740 for a land grant. Even with the same surname, there are no known family kinships between Robert and David. A land grant made to Robert Rolstone in 1749 was conveyed to David Rolstone in 1758. On November, 18, 1763, David and Ann sold this same 350 acre parcel of land to his brother Samuel Rolston and wife, Agnes, for 70 pounds. This sale was witnessed by Moses Sample.

Sometime between March of 1754 and March of 1755, David married the widow Mrs. Ann Copeland, maiden name unknown. Three sons were be born to the couple and at least one daughter, perhaps more, as daughters seldom appeared in court records during this era of Virginia History. Some report that they had a daughter named Anne. In 1760 David purchased 250 acres on Linvel's Creek in Rockingham County. Five years later, in 1765, John Henton purchased 400 acres that adjoined the Rolstone property. The introduction of these two families became a close relationship in the years that followed as children of the two families married, and Henton (or Hinton) become a common middle name of many Rolston's for generations that followed.

On May 18, 1773, the orphan Mary McLaughlin was bound to David Ralstone. Mary McLaughlin has not been researched. Her age at the time of being bound is not known nor is the length of her stay with the Rolstone family.

In the 1788 Rockingham Militia Vouchers for Captain John Herdman's Company #2, David Ralston and son James are listed for 8 horses. Also listed is an apprentice named Samuel Mahoney. Shown separately are sons David Jr., and William. {Virginia Valley Record, page 99}

David was shown as owning 451 acres in Rockingham County in 1789 according to John Wayland's Virginia Valley Records {page 44}. The following year in the 1790 Census, David was listed with "six white souls." Besides David and wife Ann, the other four "white souls" cannot be positively identified. These could have been children and grandchildren or just farm laborers with no relationship to the family. Son David Rolstone Jr. was listed separately during this census. Eleanor, their only known daughter, was married and living in Kentucky. Although son William does not appear elsewhere in the 1790 census, he was married and had too many children to have been a part of his father's census data. David's son James may have been the only family member still living at home during this census.

On July 26, 1799, David was appointed Sheriff of Rockingham County by the Colonial Governor, Thomas Jefferson. The appointment was probably more of a bureaucratic function of Jefferson's than a personal endorsement. Thomas Jefferson became the third President of the United States in 1801 and served two terms of office.

David died in 1802 in Rockingham County at the age of about 70. His place of burial is unknown.

David was a member of the Cook's Creek Presbyterian Church as were his sons William and David Jr.. In 1761 David Ralston was listed as one of the church elders. {source: Cooks Creek Presbyterians - A Heritage of Faith} The Cook's Creek Presbyterian Church to the south of Harrisonburg, near Dayton, and the New Erection Church to the north of Harrisonburg continued simultaneously until January of 1867 when the two churches combined to become the Presbyterian Church of Harrisonburg. {reference page 26} The older Cooks Creek Church, with the graveyard that would contain the bodies of David and his wife, was abandoned some time later. The site of the old church and the accompanying graveyard are now submerged under Silver Lake located north of Dayton and just off of Virginia Highway #701.

On October 19, 1802, sons William and David Ralston were bonded for 1,000 pounds as the executors of David's estate. Sons, David (Jr.) & William, and daughter, Eleanor, are proven as descendants by notations found on the power of attorney obtained by Eleanor:

"Rec'd October 29th 1803 of David Rolstone and William Rolstone Exers of David Rolstone deceased by the hands of Sarah Rolstone and Mary Rolstone Wives of the said David and Wm Rolston the Sum of two hundred dollars and the same by virtue of a power of atty to me directed by Eleanor Curry. Recd also a note of Nich Curry's payable to David Rolstone deceased for one hundred Dollars."

The wording in daughter Eleanor's power of attorney implies that David Rolstone Sr. had a will; however, the will does not appear in the Will Book for either Rockingham or Augusta counties of Virginia.

It has been suggested that David and his wife Ann had a daughter named Anne and a son named Henry. The existence of these two children can neither be confirmed nor denied.

Notes for Ann Copeland:

(Mrs.) Ann Copeland, sometimes found as Anne, was born about 1720. There are some reports that she was born in 1724. Her parentage and maiden name are not known, but it has been suggested that her maiden name was Bowlin or Bolling and that her given name was Sarah.

Historical records imply that Ann was the widow of Benjamin Copeland. The relationship between Ann and the deceased is, however, never clearly stated within any of the court documents. One court entry on 19 March, 1755, (Will Book #2, page 87) refers to Ann Rolstone's accounts as administratrix of Benj. Copeland - paid Mr. Hall for schooling the children.

An entry on 17 November, 1758, (Will Book #2, page 287) says - paid Thos. Pointer for one-half year schooling of Jacob and Mary Copland, the sum of 1 pound. This particular entry continues to include credits since 23d Sept 1757 to Hannal Copland, Sarah Copland and others. The relationship of these four named Copland's to Ann (Rolstone) is never stated.

Ann's marriage to David Rolstone, Sr. is not documented in the county records, but she is shown as Ann Rolstone in 1755. She had four children by David, three sons and one known daughter. There may have been other children.

Ann's date of death is not known although she is thought to have preceded her husband in death. The last known record of Ann is on a land deed, along with her husband David, on August 23, 1779. She would have been about age 59 at that time. Ann is believed to be buried at the old Cook's Creek Presbyterian Church to the south of Harrisonburg, near Dayton. The old Cooks Creek Church was abandoned in 1867 along with the graveyard that contained the bodies of David and his wife. The site of the old church and the accompanying graveyard are now submerged under Silver Lake located north of Dayton and just off of Virginia Highway #701. Her husband David is also believed to be buried there. Although unproven, she is said to have died in 1803, the year after her husband's death.

David Rolstone Sr. and Ann Copeland had the following children:

11. i. JAMES<sup>3</sup> ROLSTONE was born before 1756 in Augusta Co., Va.. He died after 1799. He married Unknown in Virginia.
  12. ii. ELEANOR ROLSTON was born in 1756 in Augusta (now Rockingham ) Co., Va.. She died between 1812-1820 in Fayette Co., Ky. (age 50+). She married Nicholas Curry, son of John Curry, about 1776 in Augusta Co., Va.. He was born in 1756 in Virginia. He died between 1801-1803 in Fayette Co., Ky., age ~45.
  13. iii. WILLIAM ROLSTON was born in 1757 in Augusta (now Rockingham) Co., Va.. He died on 22 Aug 1807 in Bull Creek, Wood Co., Va. (now W.V. (age 50). He married Mary Hopkins, daughter of Archibald Hopkins and Jennet Love, on 16 Apr 1782 in Rockingham Co., Va.. She was born on 23 Aug 1755 in Augusta (now Rockingham) Co., Va.. She died on 23 Aug 1823 in Waverly, Wood Co., Va. (now W.V.) (age 68).
  14. iv. DAVID ROLSTONE JR. was born on 20 Oct 1760 in Augusta (now Rockingham) Co., Va.. He died on 05 Jun 1849 in Rockingham Co., Va. (age 88). He married Sarah Hinton, daughter of John Hinton and Esther Evans, on 18 Jan 1783 in Rockingham Co., Va.. She was born in 1764 in Lancaster Co., Penn.. She died in 1822 in Rockingham Co., Va. (age ~58).
4. WILLIAM<sup>2</sup> ROLSTONE (William<sup>1</sup>) was born about 1735. He died in Jun 1811 in Augusta Co., Va. (age ~75). He married Elizabeth on 01 Nov 1761 in Augusta Co., Va.. She was born before 1745. She died after 19 Mar 1810 in Virginia.

Notes for William Rolstone:

William Rolstone (Jr.) was born about 1735, probably in Ireland, the fourth of seven children born to William Rolstone and Eleanor, maiden name unknown.

In 1761, William and brother Matthew jointly purchased a plot of land on Mossy Creek in Augusta County.

On November 1, 1761 in Augusta County, Virginia, William married Elizabeth "Betsy," maiden name unknown. William's name appears in the Virginia marriage records, but his wife's name was not mentioned.

William was referred to as "William, Junior" in the book Botetourt County Virginia Early Settlers, by Charles T. Burton, and Burton indicates that land on the Waters of Catawback were transferred to William, Jr. (Augusta County Will Book 4, page 23). William was a witness to his father's 1766 will, but he was not named as an heir.

In Augusta County in 1783 William Ralston and son James were recorded as members of Captain Dickey's Company. Also noted as members were William's brother, John Ralston, and John's sons, William and Henry.

The 1800 Tax List for Augusta County, Virginia, listed William and two of his sons as being age 16 and older. The two sons can not be readily identified. The Tax List, taken on May 7th, has Samuel and David Ralston listed this same date.

On March 19, 1810 William wrote his will. {source: August County Will Book XI, page 32}

"I William Ralston of this state of Virginia and County of Augusta feeling from growing infirmities natural to old age that I cannot long be an inhabitant of this world an desirous to divide my estate in the most equitable manner among my heirs ...."

William's will lists children: Betsy, William, David, Eleanor, James, Matthew, Sally, and George. His wife is living at the date of this will, March 19, 1810, but he does not address her by name. Samuel Rolston is a witness of the will. Samuel is assumed to be William's nephew, son of his brother, Samuel Rolston. At the end of his will he appoints as executors "... my wife together with my three sons James William & David."

His will was presented to the court on June 24, 1811, presumably shortly after William's death. William's place of burial is unknown.

William [same William?] appears in the D.A.R. Patriot Index as born about 1740 and died prior to June 24, 1811 in Virginia. His participation in the American Revolution is unknown.

Notes for Elizabeth:

Elizabeth "Betsy" [maiden name unknown] was born sometime prior to 1745. Her maiden name is suggested to be Gibson, but there is no evidence to support this proposal.

Betsy married William Rolstone on November 1, 1761 in Augusta County, Virginia. Eight children are attributed to their union. Her husband wrote his will in 1810 and preceded her in death in 1811.

On August 14, 1828, her son William (III) and his wife Eleanor of Rockingham County purchase, for "... the sum of one dollar lawful money of Virginia ...", a parcel of land in Augusta County from David Rolston of Augusta County. The land is said to be at Mofey (sic?) Creek and next to lands of Elizabeth Rolston. {source: Augusta Co., Va., Deed Bk. 51, page 200} David was William's older brother.

William Rolstone and Elizabeth had the following children:

- i. ELIZABETH<sup>3</sup> ROLSTON was born about 1762 in Augusta Co., Va.. She died after 1810.

Notes for Elizabeth Rolston:

Elizabeth "Betsey" Rolston was born about 1762 in Augusta County, Virginia, one of eight children born to William Rolstone and Elizabeth "Betsy" [Gibson?]. She was named after her mother.

Elizabeth is not known to have married.

An 1800 Harrison County, Kentucky court case listed Elizabeth Ralston Sr. and Elizabeth Ralston Jr., and James Rutledge of Augusta County, Virginia. The case was listed as supposedly deposed. The nature of this case between Elizabeth, her mother (Elizabeth Sr.), and Mr. Rutledge is unknown. James Enos Rutledge was the husband of Betsey's sister, Eleanor.

The March 19, 1810 will of William Rolstone lists Betsey as one of his children. {source: August County Will Book XI, page 32} Her father died in June of 1811.

- ii. DAVID ROLSTON was born about 1764 in Augusta Co., Va.. He died after 1810.

Notes for David Rolston:

David Rolston was born about 1764 in Augusta County, Virginia, the second of eight children born to William Rolstone and Elizabeth "Betsy" Gibson.

The March 19, 1810 will of William Rolstone names David as one of his children and co-executor. {source: August County Will Book XI, page 32}

- iii. GEORGE ROLSTON was born about 1766 in Augusta Co., Va.. He died after 1810.

Notes for George Rolston:

George Rolston was born about 1766 (or later) in Augusta County, Virginia, one of eight children born to William Rolstone and Betsy Gibson.

The March 19, 1810 will of William Rolstone names George as one of his children. {source: August County Will Book XI, page 32} No other record of George found.

15. iv. JAMES RALSTON was born in 1768 in Augusta Co., Va.. He died on 02 Jul 1833 in Henry Co., Ind. (age ~65). He married Lydia Crooks, daughter of Richard Crooks and Levinah Dorsay Wilson, on 28 May 1794 in Bourbon Co., Ky.. She was born on 17 Mar 1776 in Washington Co., Penn.. She died in 1833 in Henry Co., Ind. (age ~56).
16. v. ELEANOR RALSTON was born on 16 Nov 1770 in Augusta Co., Va.. She died on 18 May 1831 in Fulton Co., Ill. (age 60). She married James Enos Rutledge, son of Edward Rutledge and Sarah Armstrong, on 14 Jul 1788 in Augusta Co., Va.. He was born on 29 Jan 1768 in Augusta Co., Va.. He died in 1848 in Fulton Co., Ill. (age 79).
17. vi. MATTHEW ROLSTON was born in 1771 in Augusta Co., Va.. He died about 1854 in Barren Co., Ky. (age ~83). He married Mary Zerilda Galloway, daughter of John Galloway and Mary Elizabeth Cummings, on 09 Apr 1801 in Madison Co., KY.. She was born about 1778 in Virginia. She died about 1859 in Barren Co., Ky. (age ~81).
- vii. WILLIAM ROLSTON was born about 1778 in Augusta Co., Va.. He married Eleanor Herdman, daughter of Herdman, on 21 May 1819 in Rockingham Co., Va.. She was born about 1800.

Notes for William Rolston:

William Rolston was born about 1778 in Augusta County, Virginia, one of eight children born to William Rolstone and Betsy [Gibson?].

The March 19, 1810 will of William Rolstone (~1735-1811) names William as one of his children and co-executor of his estate. {source: August County Will Book XI, page 32}

On May 21, 1819 in Rockingham County, Virginia, William Rolston married Eleanor Herdman. Children from their union are unknown.

On August 14, 1828, William and his wife Eleanor of Rockingham County purchase, for "... the sum of one dollar lawful money of Virginia ...", a parcel of land in Augusta County from David Rolston of Augusta County. The land is said to be at Mofey (sic?) Creek and next to lands of Elizabeth Rolston. {source: Augusta Co., Va., Deed Bk. 51, page 200} It may be assumed that the David in this transaction was William's brother, David. It is unknown what relationship Elizabeth Rolston was to William or David. She may have been William's mother, as 'Betsy' was a common nickname for the given name of Elizabeth.

In the 1850 census of District 2, Augusta County, Virginia, a farmer named William Ralston was enumerated:

William Ralston	M	70	Virginia (farmer)
William Henderson		M	71 Virginia (D.&D.; deaf & dumb)
Margaret Bear	F	60	Virginia

It is not known if this is the same William Rolston.

Notes for Eleanor Herdman:

Assumed to be the sister of John Herdman who married Sally Rolston, sister of Eleanor's husband.

- viii. SALLY ROLSTON was born about 1785 in Augusta Co., Va.. She died after 1820. She married John Herdman, son of Herdman, on 07 Feb 1803 in Rockingham Co., Va.. He was born about 1772.

Notes for Sally Rolston:

Sarah "Sally" Rolston was born about 1782, perhaps earlier, in Augusta County, Virginia, one of eight children born to William Rolstone and Betsy Gibson. She is also found as Sarah Rolstone.

On February 7, 1803 in Rockingham County, Virginia, Sally married John Herdman. Her father posted the marriage bond suggesting that his daughter had not yet reached the age of 21. No children were born to their union.

Sally's brother William married Eleanor Herdman in 1819. John Herdman, Sally's husband, and Eleanor Herdman may have been siblings.

The March 19, 1810 will of William Rolstone names Sally as one of his children. {source: August County Will Book XI, page 32} She was addressed only by her first name in the will.

John Herdman, a farmer, was enumerated in the 1820 census of Rockingham County, Virginia:

Free White males, age 45 and over:	2 [John and one other]
Free White females, age 26-44:	1 [Sally]
Slaves, male, age <14:	3
Slaves, male, age 26-44:	1
Slaves, female, age 26-44:	2

Nothing is known of the couple after the 1820 census.

Notes for John Herdman:

John Herdman was born about 1772, probably in Virginia. His parentage is unknown. He may have been a junior.

On February 7, 1803 in Rockingham County, Virginia, John Herdman married Sally Rolston.

The first census of Rockingham County was conducted in 1784. Listed are John Herdman, Sr. - 3 white souls and John Herdman, Jr. - 7 white souls. Unless the John Herdman who married Sally Rolston was much older than thought, neither of these are her husband.

Court records dated prior to John's birth speak of another John Herdman who was perhaps the father or uncle of this John:

5. SAMUEL<sup>2</sup> ROLSTON (William<sup>1</sup> Rolstone) was born about 1738. He died in 1807 in Augusta Co., Va. (age ~69). He married Agnes Hall, daughter of John Hall and Agnes V, on 11 Sep 1766 in Augusta Co., Va.. She was born about 1740 in Virginia. She died after 1810 in Augusta Co., Va..

Notes for Samuel Rolston:

Samuel Rolston or Samuel David Rolston, as said by some, was born about 1738 in Ireland?, the fifth of seven children attributed to William and Eleanor Rolstone. [Relationship proven by yDNA.]

Samuel was a witness to his father's 1766 will; however, Samuel was not named as an heir within that will.

In the seventh volume of Henings's Statutes is a schedule appearing in September of 1758 that names Samuel Rolston as one of many Augusta County soldiers or persons to whom pay was due for service or services rendered during the French and Indian Wars (1754-60). In addition to Samuel, Matthew Rolestone and William Rolestone were among those listed.

In 1763 Samuel purchased 350 acres on Mossey Creek from [brother] David Rolstone and his wife Ann for 70 pounds. {Augusta County Deed Book 11, pages 406 & 488} From land records of 1815, after Samuel's death, it shows that this land was located about 14 miles from the Staunton Court House.

On September 11, 1766 in Augusta County, Virginia, Samuel married Agnes Hall. They raised a family of ten children.

There is also a record for 1766 showing a Samuel Rolston as having married Rosanna; Samuel and Rosanna are assumed not to be the same persons as Samuel and Agnes.

On March 19, 1779, Samuel and Agnes sell a portion of land to William Rolstone, Samuel's brother. {Augusta County Deed Book 22, p. 474} It was originally thought that this might be Samuel's son, William, but Samuel's son would not have reached the age of majority by this date and thus could not have owned land.

The Augusta County Tax List, B, for 1787, page 125, listed Samuel and two sons age 16 and above. The Tax List of Augusta County for June 17, 1790 shows four males age 16 and above. As the birth years for all of Samuel and Agnes's children have not been established, it is not known which of the male children were being counted as age 16 and above. Samuel appears on May 7, 1800 Tax List of Augusta County with two others above age 16. Listed with Samuel were sons David and William Ralston.

Samuel, about age 69, died in 1807 in Augusta County, Virginia. His place of burial is unknown.

Samuel's will of 1807 names Samuel and Thomas Rolston as administrators. The Augusta County Will Book 10, page 61-6, dated October 22, 1807, says: Samuel Ralston estate appraised. Sons Samuel and Thomas are named as executors to the will.

Notes for Agnes Hall:

Agnes Hall (or Nancy Agnes Hall) was born about 1740; she is said to be the daughter of John and Agnes V. Hall.

On September 11, 1766 in Augusta County, Virginia, Agnes married Samuel Rolston. Ten children were born to their union. Her husband preceded her in death in 1807.

The 1810 census of Augusta County, Virginia, enumerated Agnes, age 45+, along with six other family members: 1 male, age 1-10; 2 males, age 16-26, 1 female, age 16-26; 1 male, age 26-45; and 1 female, age 26-45. These family members are likely one of her sons, Samuel or Thomas, and his family.

Samuel Rolston and Agnes Hall had the following children:

18. i. SAMUEL<sup>3</sup> RALSTON was born between 1766-1771 in Augusta Co., Va.. He died before 1850 in Highland Co., Va.. He married Anna Curry, daughter of James Curry and Margaret Francis, on 10 Sep 1811 in Augusta Co., Va.. She was born about 1790 in Pendleton (now Highland) Co., Va.. She died between 1870-1880 in Highland Co., Va..

She married Richard Rankin, son of Richard Rankin Sr. and Mary Agnes Douglas, on 11 Jan 1820 in Augusta Co., Va.. He was born in 1761 in Cumberland Co., Penn.. He died in 1828 in Augusta Co., Va. (age ~67).

Notes for Eleanor Rolston:

Eleanor Rolston was born sometime after 1766 in Augusta County, Virginia, one of ten children born to Samuel Rolston and Agnes Hall.

On January 11, 1820 in Augusta County, Virginia, Eleanor married Richard Rankin, becoming his second wife. Eleanor may have been beyond her childbearing years, and no children were known to have been born to the couple. Eleanor's sister, Mary, had married Eleanor's husband's brother, Armstrong Rankin, some twenty years earlier.

Eleanor was listed as an heir to her father's estate, receiving 1/10 share. Her residence was listed as Augusta County, Virginia. {source: Augusta County, Virginia, Deed Book 48, Page 553, January 21, 1826} Her husband Richard died two years later, presumably preceding her in death.

Eleanor likely remained in Augusta County, Virginia, until her death. Her date of death and place of burial are unknown.

Notes for Richard Rankin:

Richard Rankin was born about 1761 in Cumberland County, Pennsylvania, the son of Richard Rankin Sr., and Mary Agnes Douglas.

On June 11, 1789 in Augusta County, Virginia, Richard married Polly Mathews. One child is said to have been born to the couple. Polly died, but her date of death is not known.

On January 11, 1820 in Augusta County, Virginia, Richard married Eleanor Rolston. Richard's brother, Armstrong Rankin, had married Eleanor's sister, Mary Rolston. Eleanor was probably beyond her childbearing years, and no children were known to have been born to the couple. The couple remained in Augusta County. His wife Eleanor's residence is listed as Augusta County in the 1826 will of her father Samuel.

Richard, about age 67, died in 1828 in Augusta County, Virginia. His place of burial is unknown.

- v. WILLIAM ROLSTON was born between 1771-1774 in Augusta Co., Va.. He died after 1826.

Notes for William Rolston:

William Rolston was born between 1771 and 1774 in Augusta County, Virginia, one of ten children born to Samuel Rolston and Agnes Hall. William was counted as a tithable in the 1790 Augusta County Tax List along with his father and two other brothers. He was not counted during the 1787 Tax list, making him under age 16 at that time; thus he was born between the years of 1771 and 1774.

On May 13, 1796, a marriage license is issued to William Ralston and Ann Gibson. It is not known if this is this the same William.

In 1799, Augusta County records show William purchasing land from his parents, Samuel and Agnes. Augusta County Court records for 1802 records William Ralston, son of Samuel, removed to Kentucky. {source: Chronicles of the Scotch-Irish Settlement in Virginia, vol. #2, p. 428}

William and his brother David appear in the 1820 census of Christian County, Kentucky.

The Augusta County list of land owners for 1815 lists William Rolston as an heir to land on Mossey Creek, 14 miles north of the Staunton Court House. This is the land of his father. William was listed as an heir to his father's estate, receiving 1/10 share. His residence was listed as Washington, Tennessee. {source: Augusta County, Virginia, Deed Book 48, Page 553, January 21, 1826} The 1830 census of Washington County, Tennessee does not list anyone by the surname of Rolston or Ralston.

21. vi. DAVID ROLSTON was born on 05 Sep 1775 in Augusta Co., Va.. He died on 30 Aug 1856 in Christian Co., Ky. (age 80). He married (1) SUSANAH MATTHEWS, daughter of Robert Matthews, on 20 Nov 1792 in Rockingham Co., Va.. She was born in Mar 1775 in North Carolina. She died in Nov 1816 in Christian Co., Ky. (age 41). He married (2) MARCY W. GRIFFIN, daughter of Griffin and Martha S, on 03 Aug 1822 in Christian Co., Ky.. She was born on 24 Jul 1801 in North Carolina. She died on 24 Dec 1891 in Christian Co., Ky. (age 90).
22. vii. MATTHEW ROLSTON SR. was born in 1781 in Augusta Co., Va.. He died in 1840 in Alton, Madison Co., Ill. (age 60). He married (1) JENNY SHANKLIN, daughter of Edward Shanklin, on 21 Mar 1799 in Rockingham Co., Va.. She was born about 1782. She died about 1808 in Christian Co., Ky. (age ~26). He married (2) NANCY ELLEN JONES on 27 Oct 1808 in Christian Co., Ky.. She was born about 1780 in Virginia. She died in 1855 (age ~75).
23. viii. MARY RALSTON was born about 1782 in Augusta Co., Va.. She died about 1835 (age ~53). She married Armstrong Rankin, son of Richard Rankin Sr. and Mary Agnes Douglas, on 17 Dec 1801 in Augusta Co., Va.. He was born in 1776 in Cumberland Co., Penn.. He died about 1803 in Augusta Co., Va. (age ~27).
- ix. RUTH ROLSTON was born about 1783 in Augusta Co., Va.. She died after 1826. She married John Johnston, son of Johnston, on 20 Dec 1804 in Augusta Co., Va.. He was born before 1783.

Notes for Ruth Rolston:

Ruth "Ruthey" Rolston was born about 1783 in Augusta County, Virginia, the ninth of ten children born to Samuel Rolston and Agnes Hall. Her surname is found as Rolston or Ralston.

On December 20, 1804 in Augusta County, Virginia, "Ruthey" married John Johnston. The couple is assumed to have had children, but their names are not known.

Ruth was listed as an heir to her father's estate, receiving 1/10 share. {source: Augusta County, Virginia, Deed Book 48, Page 553, January 21, 1826}

What became of Ruth, her husband, and children is unknown.

Notes for John Johnston:

John Johnston, also found as John Johnson, was born sometime before 1783. His place of birth and parentage are unknown.

He married Ruth Rolston on December 20, 1804 in Augusta County, Virginia. Children from this union are not known.

In the 1815 list of Augusta County land owners, John's property is located on Middle River, 6 miles west and 3 miles east of the Staunton Court House.

What became of the couple is unknown.

Perhaps the same John Johnston:

1880 census of District 5, Giles County, Tennessee:

**Samuel C. Johnston died June 18, 1893 at the age of 76 and was buried in the Mount Moriah Cemetery in Pulaski, Giles County, Tennessee. His obituary has his surname as Johnstone. Samuel died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mary E. Rothrock (husband George M. Rothrock). Samuel's other children are: Margaret (Mrs. J. D. Pullen), Martha "Mattie" H. (Mrs. Jack H. Roger) and John Johnston (Alice William).

24. x. THOMAS ROLSTON was born about 1785 in Augusta Co., Va.. He died between 1850-1859 in Augusta Co., Va. (age 65+). He married Nancy Ailshire on 22 Feb 1810 in Augusta Co., Va.. She was born about 1782 in Virginia. She died on 01 Dec 1859 in Augusta Co., Va. (age ~77).
6. MATTHEW<sup>2</sup> ROLSTONE (William<sup>1</sup>) was born in 1742 in Augusta (now Botetourt) Co., Va.. He died in Dec 1800 in Jefferson Co., Tenn. (age 58). He married Martha Moore, daughter of James Moore and Jean, in 1764 in Augusta Co., Va.. She was born in 1744 in Augusta Co., Va.. She died in 1806 in Jefferson Co., Tenn. (age ~62).

Notes for Matthew Rolstone:

Matthew Rolstone, later spelt as Roulston and Raulston, was born in 1742 in Augusta (now Botetourt) County, Virginia, the sixth of seven children attributed to William Rolstone and wife Eleanor.

As with most of the children attributed to William and Eleanor, there is no known direct evidence or documentation that proves this descendency.

The Roulston spelling of the surname was adopted after his move to Tennessee. Some researchers place his birth as 1742 in the area now known as Bedford County, Virginia, but no records have been found to support this claim. At the time of Matthew's birth, Bedford County did not yet exist, and that area of Virginia was Brunswick County.

In 1761, Matthew and brother William jointly purchased a plot of land on Mossy Creek in Augusta County.

In 1764 in Augusta County, Virginia, Matthew married Martha Moore. Six children were born to the couple.

In 1767, his father William Rolstone (Sr.) died. Matthew, like most of the children of the senior William, was not named as an heir in the will.

Mathew served as a private in Captian Mill's Company of the Virginia Militia during the Revolutionary War.

On November 9, 1780, Matthew purchased 435 acres of land on Looney's Mill Creek from his older brother John Rolston and wife Agnes for the modest sum of 70 pounds. {Botetourt Co., Va., Deed Bk. 3, p. 10} In 1783 Matthew was named as a member of Captain Mill's Company along with some 50 others along Looney's Mill Creek. {Virginia Frontier, p. 418} He held the rank of private.

In the 1787 tax rolls for Botetourt County, Matthew was listed as having one son age 16-21, no slaves, 8 horses and 14 head of cattle. This same year, Matthew and Martha sold eight acres on Looney's Mill Creek. This transaction was witnessed by Moses Ralston, his eldest son.

Matthew had several land holdings in Botetourt County. A deed of sale from Matthew and wife Martha to Samuel Moires on 10 November 1788 assigns "... 150 acres 46 of which being granted to the said Mathew Ralston by Patent bearing date July the nineteenth 1787 including one hundred and four Acres which is part of four hundred and thirty five Acres of land made over to the said Mathew Ralston by a deed assigned to him by John Ralston who was assignee of Col. James Patton, the land lying and being in Botetourt County on a branch of Loonies Mill Creek ...." {Botetourt Co., Va., Deed Bk. 4, pp. 61-62}

By 1790 Matthew and his wife Martha had sold most all of their property holdings in Botetourt County, Virginia, and removed to Tennessee sometime there after. The last piece of property was sold on September 13, 1796, {Botetourt Co., Va., Deed Bk. 4, p. 51} with Matthew and Martha's son William as their attorney. The deed states, "William Rolston attorney in fact for his father Matthew Rolston of Jefferson County ...."

In Jefferson County, Tennessee, Matthew Roulstone petitions the court for permission to operate a ferry.

None of the family members were enumerated in the 1880 census of Jefferson County, Tennessee.

Matthew, 58, died in December of 1800, shortly after writing his will, and was buried as Mathew Raulston in the Beth-Carr United Methodist Church Cemetery outside of White Pine in an area known as Leadvale in Jefferson County, Tennessee.

Matthew's will of December 29, 1800, names his wife Martha and children Moses, William, Samuel, James, Elizabeth and Ruth. Sons William and Samuel are named as his executors:

And at the decease of my beloved wife, or so much as shall remain, shall be equally divided amongst my children share and share alike. (signed) Matthew Roulston

Matthew Ralston (Rolstone) is listed in the D.A.R. Patriot Index, page 2397, as born about 1742 in Virginia and died after December 29, 1800 in Tennessee. He was about 58 years of age at the time of his death. He was buried as Mathew Raulston in the Beth-Carr United Methodist Church Cemetery in Leadvale, Jefferson County, Tennessee.

Notes for Martha Moore:

Martha "Polly" Moore was born in 1744 in Augusta County, Virginia, the daughter of James and Jean Moore. She was said to be known as Patsy. [Middle name may have been Elizabeth.]

In 1764 in Augusta County, Virginia, Martha married Matthew Rolstone. Martha gave birth to six known children. Between 1770 and 1775 an unknown child was likely born but died, probably in childhood, prior to Mathew's will being written.

In his will dated 13 September 1767, Martha's father, James Moore Sr. of Botetourt County, divides a portion of his estate between four children: John, James, "Martha Ralston", and Jean McClanahan. About 1790 Martha's husband moved the family to Tennessee. Her husband wrote his will on December 29, 1800 and likely died in January of 1801.

Martha, about age 62, died in 1806 in Jefferson County, Tennessee, and was buried as Martha Moore Raulston in the Beth-Carr United Methodist Church Cemetery in Whit Pine, Jefferson County, Tennessee.

Matthew Rolstone and Martha Moore had the following children:

25. i. MOSES MATTHEW<sup>3</sup> ROULSTON was born in 1766 in Augusta (now Botetourt) Co., Va.. He died in 1829 in Hamilton Co., Tenn. (age ~63). He married (1) SUSANNAH WHITE, daughter of Hugh White and Margaret Allison, on 13 Apr 1791 in Greene Co., Tenn.. She was born about 1770 in Tennessee. She died about 1800 in Tennessee (age ~30). He married (2) MARY DENNY, daughter of William Denny, on 19 Oct 1802 in Jefferson Co., Tenn.. She was born about 1770. She died after 1860 in Johnson Co., Ill..
- ii. WILLIAM ROULSTON was born in 1768 in Augusta (now Botetourt) Co., Va.. He died in 1831 in Williamson Co., Tenn. (age ~63). He married Ann Moore on 06 Sep 1795 in Jefferson Co., Tenn.. She was born between 1770-1775 in Virginia. She died after 1841.

Notes for William Roulston:

William Rolston/Roulston was born about 1768 in Augusta (now Botetourt) County, Virginia, the second of six children known to have been born to Matthew Rolstone and Martha Moore. The 1768 date of birth, as established by J. Leonard Raulston, may be incorrect as William was not listed as being between the ages 16 and 21 during the 1787 tax list for Botetourt County, Virginia. It is speculated that William was born about 1772 and maybe as late as 1774. In the 1790's the family removed to Tennessee.

On September 6, 1795 in Jefferson County, Tennessee, William married Ann Moore. Children born to their union are unknown. The couple, or perhaps just William, returned to Virginia in 1796.

In September of 1796, William sold 298 acres of land in Botetourt County, Virginia, for his father who was then residing in Jefferson County of the territory that later become the State of Tennessee. "This indenture made this thirteenth day of September in the year of our Lord one Thousand seven hundred and ninety six between William Rolston attorney in fact for his father Matthew Rolston of Jeferson County in the territory south west of the Ohio ...." {Botetourt County, Virginia, Deed Book 4, page 51} William is presumed to have returned to Tennessee after the sale was completed.

William's father died in December of 1800 or January of the following year. William and his younger brother Samuel were named as co-executors in their father's will dated 29 December, 1800. His father's 1800 will mentions "... granddaughters Patty, Betsy, Susannah, Maryann." They were all children of William's older brother, Moses Matthew Roulston. From his father's will, "I give unto my son William all that part of my plantation that lies above the Waggen Road from the river as far as the foot of the hill at the edge of the first bottom, and so up the edge of bottom to the upper end of the orchard."

In 1813 William sold this land and acted as brother James attorney for the sale of another piece of property.

William is said to have died in 1831 in near Franklin in Williamson County, Tennessee. It has, however, been suggested that this William removed to Hart County, Kentucky, dying there in 1824. No record of death found for either location.

Notes for Ann Moore:

Ann Moore was born between 1770 and 1775 in Virginia. Some place her year of birth as 1780. Her parentage is unknown.

On September 6, 1795 in Jefferson County, Tennessee, Ann married William Roulston. Ann's mother-in-law, husband William's mother, was the former Miss Martha Moore. Any relationship between Ann Moore and Martha Moore is unknown.

Children born to their union are unknown. It has been suggested that they had a son, John Ralston (1811-1854), who was born in Barren County, Kentucky, and died in Hart County, Kentucky on June 12, 1854.

Although her date and place of death are unknown, some sources place her death after 1841 in Hart County, Kentucky.

26.    iii. ANNE ELIZABETH ROULSTON was born on 06 Jan 1770 in Augusta (now Botetourt) Co., Va.. She died on 18 Jun 1835 in Indian Creek, Putnam Co., Tenn. (age 65). She married William West Jared, son of John Jared and Hannah Whitacre, on 02 Dec 1792 in Jefferson Co., Tenn.. He was born on 03 Jun 1758 in Kingswood, Huntenden Co., N.J.. He died on 22 Sep 1827 in (now Cookeville, Putnam Co.), Tenn. (age 69).
- iv. SAMUEL ROULSTON was born in 1775 in Augusta (now Botetourt) Co., Va.. He died in 1831 in Tennessee (age ~55). He married (1) BETSY LOWREY on 01 Jan 1802 in Jefferson Co., Tenn.. She was born in 1780 in Botetourt Co., Va.. She died on 12 May 1870 (age ~90). He married (2) ELIZABETH SHAW, daughter of Hugh Shaw, on 28 Jan 1806 in Sumner Co., Tenn.. She was born on 21 Jun 1786. She died on 03 Oct 1842 in South Carolina (age 56).

Notes for Samuel Roulston:

Samuel Roulston was born in 1776 in Augusta (now Botetourt) County, Virginia, the fourth of six children born to Matthew Rolstone and Martha Moore. In the 1790's the family removed to Tennessee. Samuel and brother William were named as co-executors in their father's will dated 29 December, 1800.

On January 1, 1802 in Jefferson County, Tennessee, Samuel married Betsy Lowrey. Children from their union, if any, are unknown. The couple divorced.

On January 28, 1806 in Sumner County, Tennessee, Samuel married Elizabeth Shaw. Children from their union, if any, are unknown.

That same year Samuel sold his property to John Moore. Samuel's mother, Martha, had a brother named John, but this John was probably his son, and a first cousin to Samuel.

Patsy Moore is also noted as having been a wife of Samuel's; no marriage record found.

Samuel was an Ensign in the 39th Regiment of the U.S. Navy during the War of 1812.

Samuel, about age 55, died in 1831. He is said to have died in Sumner County, Tennessee, but was buried in the Bean-Roulston Graveyard in South Pittsburg, Marion County, Tennessee. He is assumed to have been survived by his wife. The 1830 census of Sumner County lists no one by the name of Roulston or any variation of the surname's spellings.

Notes for Elizabeth Shaw:

Age at death: 56 years, 3 months, and 12 days. Birth date calculated from age at death.

27. v. JAMES J. ROULSTON was born on 16 Jun 1778 in Augusta (now Botetourt) Co., Va.. He died on 07 Aug 1844 in Marion Co., Tenn. (age 66). He married Jane Simmons, daughter of Robert Simmons and Anne Miller, on 01 Jan 1802 in Jefferson Co., Tenn.. She was born on 27 Mar 1782 in Charleston, Charleston Co., S.C.. She died on 12 May 1870 in Marion Co., Tenn. (age 88).
28. vi. RUTH ROULSTON was born in 1781 in Botetourt Co., Va.. She died after 1850 in Buffalo Valley, Jackson or Putnam Co., Tenn. (age 70+). She married Mark Young, son of William Young and Elizabeth Huff, about 1804 in Tennessee. He was born on 08 Jan 1780 in Essex Co., Va.. He died on 08 Feb 1857 in Putnam Co., Tenn. (age 77).

Notes for William Thomas Ralston:

William Thomas Ralston was born in 1759 in Augusta County, Virginia, the eldest of five children known to have been born to John Rolston and Agnes Nancy McClure. In 1783 John Ralston and sons William and Henry were recorded as members of Captain Dickey's Company. William's father then moved the family to Fayette County of the Kentucky Territory (Kentucky became a state in 1792).

On September 15, 1789, In Deed Book No. 26, page 362, of Augusta County, Virginia, John Ralston [this William's father], of Fayette County, Kentucky, appointed his brother William Ralston as his attorney to sell a tract of land. This act was witnessed by John's sons, William and Henry Ralston.

On May 10, 1791 in Fayette County, Kentucky, William Rolston married Agness Nancy McClure. Twelve children were born to the couple. The 1795 Tax List of Bourbon County, Kentucky, lists a William Rolston. Bourbon County was where William's father and brother would later appear. William appeared once again on the Bourbon County Tax List in 1797 along with brother Henry. He and his wife later removed to Sangamon County, Illinois.

On March 1, 1821 in Montgomery County, Kentucky, Margaret, age 29, married Robert J. Boyd. No children were born to their union. In 1828 her parents and five of the children removed to Sangamon County, Illinois, and Margaret and her husband removed to Callaway County, Missouri, first enumerated there in 1830. They were enumerated there in the 1850 census:

He married (2) JANE ALLISON on 28 Sep 1835 in Augusta Co., Va.. She was born about 1780 in Virginia. She died before 1860 in Brown Co., Ohio.

Notes for Henry W. Rolston:

Henry W. Rolston was born about 1765 in Augusta County, Virginia, the second of five children born to John Rolston and his wife Agnes. Henry's middle name is presumed to be "William" in honor of his paternal grandfather, William Rolstone.

Some genealogies show this Henry as the son of David Rolstone Sr.. This assumption is due to David's son, David Rolstone Jr. being a witness to Henry's marriage. David Rolstone Jr. and Henry W. Rolston were first cousins.

In 1783 John Rolston and sons William and Henry were recorded as members of Captain Dickey's Company. Henry would have had to have been at least 16 years of age, and thus, he was born on or before 1767.

On November 20, 1792 in Rockingham County, Virginia, Henry married Sarah Samples. The marriage was witnessed by David Rolstone, Jr., and Moses Samples. Henry appeared in the 1793 Rockingham county tax list with 2 horses. About 1796, Henry moved his family to Kentucky, and appeared in the 1796, 1797, and 1800 Tax Lists for Bourbon County, Kentucky. According to the "History of Brown County, Ohio," {W.H. Beers & Co., 1883, p. 375} Henry Ralston, his brother James, and a relative, Phoebe Curry, moved to Pleasant Township, Brown County, Ohio, around 1801. The town was actually located in Clermont County at that time as Brown County did not form until 1817. The Currys are noted as having moved to Bourbon County, Kentucky, in 1799, before preceding into Ohio two years later. Phoebe Curry was Mrs. Robert Curry, the former Miss Phoebe Samples, Henry's wife's sister and thus, his sister-in-law. The Brown County, Ohio, history continues by noting that Henry arrived late in the Spring and the neighbors turned in to help him clear a piece of his land on which to grow corn.

Sarah, Henry's wife of 41 years, and the mother of his six children, died December 15, 1833.

On September 28, 1835 in Augusta County, Virginia, Henry married Jane Allison. In the 1850 census Henry, age 85, and his wife Jane, age 70, were living next to Henry's son James in Pleasants township of Brown County, Ohio.

Henry, 93, died in July, 14 1857 in Brown County, Ohio. His place of burial is unknown.

Notes for Sarah Samples:

Sarah Samples was born sometime after 1871 in Virginia, one of four children known to have been born to Robert R. Samples and his wife. Interpretation of some early records show Sarah's maiden name spelled as "Sampel."

On November 20, 1792 in Rockingham County, Virginia, Sarah married Henry W. Rolston. The first three of their six children were born in Rockingham County before the family moved west. About 1801 the family had settled in Brown County, Ohio. Their last three children were born there. Sarah's sister Phoebe, Mrs. Robert Curry, also lived in Brown County, Ohio.

Ruth Rolston was born October 6, 1767, in Virginia, the third of five children and only daughter born to John Rolston and wife Agnes. In 1788 her father moved the family to Fayette County of what would later become the state of Kentucky.

On February 9, 1792 in Fayette County, Kentucky, Ruth married John Alison/Allison. The couple lived in the area of Bourbon County that became Nicholas County in 1799. Ten children are attributed to their union. Four were born before the formation of Nichols County. The family was enumerated in the 1820 census of Nicholas County, Kentucky:

Notes for John Allison:

John Alison or Allison was born December 7, 1759 in Rowan, Rowan County, North Carolina, the son of Andrew Alison. Other sources suggest he was the son of John Allison and Elizabeth Bowen. Yet other sources place his birth in Virginia.

"John was a Virginian, a soldier in the war of the Revolution and in the battle of King's Mountain. He was of English descent and was a prominent farmer of Montgomery County [North Carolina]. He afterward moved to Nicholas County, Kentucky, and bought a farm on which stood a brick house - one of the first in that part of the state - of David Caldwell, a relative of the venerable pioneer.

Mr. Allison died aged seventy-seven years. He was a devout Presbyterian, a man of excellent character and highly respected. He had but one wife, who was the mother of his children." {source unknown}

Notes for John Rolston:

John Rolston/Ralston was born December 19, 1769 in Augusta County, Virginia, the youngest of five children known to have been born to John Rolston and his wife Agnes. The family moved to Kentucky shortly before 1800.

On November 17, 1798 in Bourbon County, Kentucky, John, age 28, married Elizabeth "Betsey" Neely, age 16. Fourteen children were born to their union. The couple and four of their children were enumerated in the 1810 census of Bourbon County, Kentucky:

Head	free white males					free white females
	0-9	10-15	16-25	26-44		0-9	10-15	16-25	26-44
John Ralston	3	0	1	1	3	1	0	1

The male, age 16-25, in the 1810 census was not a son of the couple.

Sometime after 1810, the family moved to Bath County. Bath County was formed in 1811. The couple remained in Bath County until their deaths. Between 1814 and 1817, three of their young children died. John's wife died in 1827, leaving John with several young children. One of their older daughters died in 1833.

John, 64, died on September 17, 1834 in Jessamine, Bath County, Kentucky. His place of burial is unknown. John's date of death was recorded in the family Bible of his son, Dr. Joseph Neely Ralston.

Forgotten Statesman of Illinois
By Dr. J. F. Snyder

The article here is from Transactions of the Illinois State Historical Society for the Year 1908. It presents a very interesting look at the life and times of James Harvey Ralston. James Ralston and two of his brothers and one sister were residents of Quincy in the 1830's and 40's. The author of the article, Dr. J. F. Snyder, mentioned many people and events in his writing. The result is a lot of history of Quincy, Adams County and the state of Illinois in its infancy.

Early in the eighteenth century the Ralston and Neely families emigrated to the United States from Londonderry, one of the nine counties constituting the province of Ulster, in the northern part of Ireland. They stopped temporarily in the state of New York; then moving to the western wilderness settled permanently in the region now known as Bourbon county in Kentucky. They were the progeny of intermingled Scotch and Irish-the Ralstons tracing their descent, according to their family records, "from Ralph, son of MacDuff who slew Macbeth and restored the rightful monarch to the throne of Scotland," while the Neely's "sprung from the Clan MacNeil, known in Scottish history and romance as the 'Lords of the Isles,' the histories of these families filling a large space in the annals of Scotland. Many marriages have occurred between them in succeeding generations, and their kinship and clanship are marked by strong physical resemblances, and similar trails of character." Among the products of the American interblending of those families in our recent history were Gen. John J. Neely, Judge James H. Ralston, J Neely Johnson who was elected Governor of California in 1854, and others who served their country with distinction both in civil and military life

One of the several intermarriages mentioned of members of those noted families was that of John Ralston, a young Kentucky farmer and Miss Elizabeth Neely, who were united in Wedlock, in Bourbon county, near the close of the eighteenth century. Though environed from their birth by the institution of slavery, young Ralston and wife were not of the patrician class, or included in the blue-grass aristocracy, as they owned no slaves, or possessed, besides their farm, little more than sound health, industry and contentment. From their prolific union were born, as the years went by, fourteen children-four sons and ten daughters-an exuberant fulfillment of their sole mission of life. To rear and properly train that swarm severely taxed the resources of the parents; but the youngsters, as they grew up, scattered away to search out for themselves their destined sphere in the world wherein to achieve their individual fortunes. Occupying no higher station himself than that of an ordinary farmer, John Ralston seems to have been ambitious that his sons should rise to a higher intellectual level than mere tillers of the soil. Or, it may be that he perceived in them indications of superior talents that he considered it his duty to develop at the cost of any reasonable sacrifice to himself it might involve. Possibly, and very probably, he may have been influenced in so doing by the boys giving free expression to their aspirations to higher mental culture, and more refined vocations than his. At any rate, after duly discussing the matter with his wife, he determined to give his son, Thomas Neely Ralston, a thorough education which would prepare him for the ministry. In that course he was doubtless guided by the boy's natural predilection for the church, inherited from some far-back Scotch Presbyterian ancestor. In his limited financial circumstances, with a rapidly increasing family, principally of girls, to give the boy a collegiate education was really a grave undertaking for John Ralston. However, by diligent labor, economy and frugality, he accomplished it. Thomas graduated at Transylvania, was ordained, attained the degree of Doctor of Divinity and for many years was a famous pulpit orator and divine of Lexington, Kentucky. Another son, Joseph Neely Ralston, born January 25th, 1801, was also educated at Transylvania University, choosing for his calling in life the profession of medicine. He left Kentucky in 1832 and located in Quincy, Illinois where he continued the practice of medicine until his death, in June, 1876. Of Dr. Ralston, Hon. Wm. A. Richardson says, "He was one of my patron saints, a fine gentleman and noble man, respected and loved by every one." He is thus mentioned in the History of Adams County, Illinois, published in 1876, "Of his eminence in the profession, it is sufficient to say that for more than forty years he held a leading position among the physicians of Quincy and Adams county. He was one of the founders, and the first president of the Adams County Medical Society, and was at several subsequent periods re-elected to that position. Weighed down through his long life with the cares and anxieties of the most exacting of professions he never forgot the duties of a citizen, maintaining to the last his interest in public affairs. Identified with every movement promising to promote the public welfare, he was keenly alive to the educational interests of his adopted home, enjoying a leading social position, and maintaining always a large practice. He was rather tall and spare in figure, dignified in carriage, courteous almost to punctiliousness in manner, clean and precise in speech, self-poised, quick in his perceptions, steadfast in his convictions, sagacious in counsel-the sturdy virtues which commanded for him universal respect and confidence."

William H. Ralston, a third and younger son of John and Elizabeth (Neely) Ralston, was a lawyer, who also resided for awhile in Quincy, then moved to Leavenworth, in Kansas, where he became quite eminent in his profession, and was a very prominent citizen.

James Harvey Ralston, the subject of this sketch, was born in Bourbon county, Kentucky, on the 12th of October, 1807. His boyhood years were passed on his father's farm, not in luxury and idleness; but early initiated in the arts and toil of agriculture, he grew up to manhood as an ordinary farm laborer, industrious, energetic and self-reliant. A prominent trait of his youth was pride of character, inciting a desire to learn, in order to improve his mental and social condition. But he could only occasionally be spared from his post on the farm for a few weeks in the winter time to attend the country schools in his neighborhood where little more than the simplest rudimentary branches were taught. What he acquired there increased his yearning for more learning; but he understood his father's situation well enough to know that the paternal resources would be totally exhausted by the heavy expenses incurred in education his brothers, Thomas and Joseph, so that no assistance for himself could be expected from that quarter, or cessation of his farm work be permitted, to advance his own schooling. Driven, therefore, to depend upon his own efforts, he resolutely applied himself to study at home, taking advantage of every spare moment-by fire-light at early dawn, and aid of the grease lamp, or tallow dip, at night when the day's drudgery was ended-to enlarge his store of knowledge from the few books within his reach. With such restricted opportunities, and no systematic instruction, his education was necessarily very defective. That drawback, however, occasioned no depression of his ambition, or of faith in his own abilities. Having one brother in the ministry and another in the medical profession, neither of whom, in his estimation, was his superior, notwithstanding their higher education, and unwilling that he should in any way cast discredit upon the family, he aspired to rank with them in literary and social position. Thereupon, without the essential foundation of scholastic training he embarked in the study of law.

Arriving at the age of legal emancipation from servitude to his father, he left Kentucky in the fall of 1828, and made his way to Quincy, Illinois to begin there the shaping and upbuilding of his own career. One of his sisters, married to a Kentuckian named Stamper, who preceded him to Quincy, was probably the influence that induced him to settle in that frontier village. History is silent regarding the occupation he engaged in for that first two years after getting there-if in any; but that during that time he steadfastly kept his high aims in view, and persistently continued his legal studies there, must be inferred from the following record in Vol. B. of the Law, Chancery and People's Records in the circuit clerk's office of Adams county, Illinois: "At a circuit court begun and held at the court house in Quincy for the county of Adams and State of Illinois on Thursday, the twenty-first day of October in the year of our Lord, one thousand, eight hundred and thirty. Present, the Hon. Richard M. Young, judge of the fifth judicial circuit of the State of Illinois. On motion of George Logan, Esq, an attorney of this court, James H. Ralston, Esq. appeared and was sworn as an attorney and counselor at law, he having presented a license according to law, signed by two of the judges of the Supreme Court."

A short time before his admission to the bar, Mr. Ralston was elected a justice of the peace in and for the county of Adams, and served in that capacity for three or four years, or until he became well established as a lawyer in the higher courts. Responding, in the spring of 1832, to the call of Gov. Reynolds for a force of armed men to repel the hostile incursion of Black Hawk and his band, Mr. Ralston at once volunteered and was enrolled, along with Orville H. Browning, a brother attorney of Quincy, as a private in Captain Wm. G. Flood's company of mounted riflemen, which subsequently was incorporated in the second brigade commanded by Brigadier General Sam. Whiteside. On the company's roster he is reported, "Absent on duty," and was honorably mustered out of the service, at the mouth of Fox river, on the 28th of May, 1832. His career as an Indian fighter was brief and not very eventful, but from another record at Quincy it is learned that a few months later he again enlisted, in a more peaceful cause and for a longer period of service. That record states that on the 11th day of October, 1832, James H. Ralston was united in marriage with Miss Jane Alexander, Daughter of Col. Sam. Alexander, a well known substantial citizen of Adams County. She was born on the 6th day of October, 1811, and was at the time of her marriage, a sprightly intelligent, and very attractive girl. Before the approaching winter had set in, Attorney Ralston and bride were settled down to housekeeping on their own account in a modest home near the northeast corner of Eighth and Hampshire streets, in Quincy, were the residence of Mr. Nehemiah Bushnell now stands, adjacent to the post office. They were, for the following fourteen years among the most conspicuous and highly esteemed members of Quincy's best society, taking a leading part in all social gaieties and entertainments, as well as in every public movement for the improvement of the town and welfare of its citizens.

Esq. Ralston began the practice of law in the courts presided over by Judge Richard M. Young, whose circuit originally embraced all the territory between the Mississippi and Illinois rivers from the mouth of the latter to Lake Michigan. Of that bar he was for many years, excepting when in public office, one of its busiest and most successful practitioners. For some time he was in partnership with Almeron Wheat, and later with Joseph Warren, Quincy lawyers of marked ability. In the terrible epidemic of Asiatic cholera brought west by General Winfield Scott's troops about the close of the Black Hawk war, which visited Quincy as it spread down the Mississippi the next year (1833) with appalling fatality, about its first victim in that village was Mrs. Sarah Stamper, sister of Dr. Joseph and J. H. Ralston.

In August, 1836, James H. Ralston and George Galbraith were elected to represent Adams county in the lower house of the tenth General Assembly-that historic legislature made famous by its enactment of the wild system of internal improvements that proved such a disastrous failure. Mr. Galbraith died during the first session, (which convened at Vandalia on December 5, 1836, and adjourned March 6, 1837) and his vacancy was supplied by election of Archibald Williams at a special election in the spring. That legislature is also famous for the number of its talented members who later achieved high distinction in the public affairs of Illinois and of the nation. In the senate were Orville H. Browning, Cyrus Edwards, Wm. J. Gatewood, Archer G. Herndon, Henry I. Mills, William Thomas, John D. Whiteside and John D. Wood. With Mr. Ralston in the house were James Semple, James Shields, Robert Smith, Edward D. Baker, Milton Carpenter, Newton Cloud, Richard M. Cullom, John Dougherty, Stephen A. Douglas, Jesse K. Dubois, Ninian W. Edwards, Abraham Lincoln, Augustus C. French, Wm. L. D. Ewing, Wm. A. Richardson, John A. McClernand, Usher F. Linder and John Moore; names interwoven everlastingly in the fabric of our State and national history, an aggregation of intellectual strength seldom, if ever equaled (sic) and never surpassed, in any other legislative assembly of Illinois. And yet, the State, with all its immense resources, was forty years in recovering from results of the stupendous folly of their legislation in that one session.

Mr. Ralston, of course, voted for the internal improvement measures. He would have been ostracized by his party and by the community he represented had he opposed them. As was the result with all his eminent associates in that legislature who voted, as he did, for the crazy scheme, its total and disastrous failure subjected him to no public censure or loss of popularity. On the 14th of December, 1836, the tenth General Assembly in joint sessions elected Hon. Richard M. Young U. S. Senator for the full term of six years to succeed Hon. W. L. D. Ewing who was elected by the preceding legislature for the unexpired term of Hon. Elias K. Kane deceased. Up to the time of his promotion to the national senate Judge Young had presided over the old fifth, or Quincy, judicial circuit since his election to that position in 1828. His resignation immediately after the senatorial election left the Judgeship vacant, which the Legislature proceeded to supply, by ballot, in joint session on the 14th of January, 1837, with the following result: Sixty-three ballots were cast for James H. Ralston, forty-two for Wm. A Minshall and nineteen for George P. W. Maxwell. The commission for Judge Ralston's new office, the duties of which he at once entered upon, was dated February 4, 1837. If he resigned his seat in the legislature when elevated to the circuit bench no record of that fact can be found; no one was elected to succeed him in that General Assembly, and his name does not appear in the house journal of its second session, held for the purpose of legalizing suspension by the banks of specie payments, which met at Vandalia on the 10th and adjourned on the 22d of July, 1837.

Judge Ralston was but twenty-nine years and three months old when elected to the Judgeship—a young man of striking personality, six feet tall, straight and well-formed, with auburn hair, blue eyes and faultless features. Polite and agreeable in address, he was as courtly and dignified in bearing and manners as the Virginia gentleman of colonial days. In disposition he was sociable, kind and generous, though impulsive, spirited and ambitious. Strictly honest in personal affairs and the discharge of public duties, actuated in every relation of life by a high sense of honor, he was an eminently respectable citizen, moral, sober, and of unblemished character. In some instances, no doubt, his judgment was at fault but in the main his motives were pure, and he perhaps never willfully violated his conceptions of right and justice. He was a plausible, showy, man in public, entertaining in conversation, and a fluent impressive speaker, though, not invariably grammatical in his language, or exactly correct in his logic or rhetoric. As before stated, his early education was only rudimentary, and tho greatly improved in after years by promiscuous reading and desultory study, he probably never was a student of close, systematic application, consequently his learning in some directions had advanced little beyond general principles and common-sense deductions. A prominent characteristic of Judge Ralston is said to have been his firmness and determination of purpose, yet, he was weak in resisting flattery and blandishments; and was easily influenced by those in whom he had implicit confidence.

He was a member of the Masonic Order, but not attached to any church, having very liberal views on the subject of man's so-called spiritual nature and future responsibilities. He was fond of music, of gay lively society, and had quite a taste for literature; poetry particularly, which he often quoted. One of his favorite quotations, consonant with his own sentiments, from the tragedy entitled "Pizarro," was this:

"Should the scales of justice poise doubtfully, let mercy touch the beam and turn the balance to the gentler side."

As all contemporaries of Judge Ralston of that period have long since gone to their final rest, the only means accessible for forming an estimate of his ability as a jurist are the records of his court. The unavoidable inference to be drawn from them, notwithstanding the scurrilous criticism of Gov. Ford, is that he acquitted himself as a judge with credit and honor. During the two and a half years he presided over the Quincy circuit very few of his decisions were taken to the Supreme Court on error or appeal and of those few, only two were reversed. He may in some instances have erred too inflexible adherence to forms and technicalities; but certainly nothing can now be found in the history of the old fifth judicial circuit to sustain the malignant strictures of Gov. Ford. The annual salary of circuit judges at that time was seven hundred dollars, a sum less than the wages received by some of the skilled mechanics. Dissatisfied with that meager (sic) pay, and assuming that he could earn a larger revenue by the practice of his profession, Judge Ralston resigned his position on the bench, on the 31st of August, 1839, and resumed his place at the bar.

Gov. Ford's vilification of Judge Ralston evidently did not express the estimate placed upon him, at the time, by the people of Adams county. His judicial services, instead of disparaging him in public opinion, seem to have increased his popularity in that community. In 1838 a majority of Whigs were elected in both branches of the Illinois Legislature and that party came nearer electing its State ticket than it ever did before or afterwards, Thomas Carlin, the candidate of the Democrats for Governor, being elected over Cyrus Edwards the Whig, by the majority of only 996. Two years later, in 1840, the Whigs made stupendous efforts to retain their ascendancy gained in 1838, and also to carry the State for their national ticket, Harrison and Tyler. The Democrats were as equally determined to regain their lost supremacy in the Legislature and to secure the electoral vote of the State for their presidential candidate, VanBuren. In order to sway the people in their favor both parties presented their strongest and most available men for local candidates in each of the several counties. In Adams county the Whigs brought out Archibald Williams to head their county ticket as their candidate for State Senator. He was an able man, well known all over the Military Tract; was a volunteer in the Black Hawk war, stood high in the esteem and confidence of the people of Adams county whom he had served well as Senator in the eighth and ninth General Assemblies and as a member of the House in the tenth General Assembly in which he received a respectable vote for U. S. Senator, but was defeated by Hon. Richard M. Young.

After mature deliberation the Democrats of Adams county selected Judge Ralston to oppose him. The political campaign of 1840 far surpassed any in the previous history of the State for strenuous exertions and excitement, for expensive and spectacular displays, and impassioned oratory, particularly by the Whigs. In Adams county the fury of the contest centered in the race for State Senator. In their eagerness to elect Williams the Whigs exceeded all bounds of legitimate party contention, carrying their opposition of Judge Ralston to the extreme of personal enmity. He was invulnerable however, to all their attacks and at the election, on Aug. 3, 1840, was elected receiving 1, 546 votes to 1, 447 cast for Williams, a clear majority of 99. At the November election of that year he was also elected presidential Elector for that district.

The first, or called session of the twelfth General Assembly convened at Springfield on the 23d of November, and adjourned December 5th. The second, or regular session commenced on the following Monday, December 7th and adjourned March 1, 1841. Judge Ralston was there again in company with many of the leading politicians and statesmen of the State, some of whom, as himself, had been promoted since their service in the House, four years before, to seats in the upper chamber. With him in the Senate were Edward D. Baker, Richard M. Cullom, Wm. J. Gatewood, John Moore, Archer G. Herndon, Wm. A. Richardson, Adam W. Snyder and John D. Woods. Among the great commoners in the House were Wm. H. Bissell, John J. Hardin, John Dougherty, Cyrus Edwards, Joseph Gillespie, W. L. D. Ewing, Wickliffe Kitchell, Abraham Lincoln, John A. McClernand, Lewis W. Ross, Lyman Trumbull and David M. Woodson. There was in each branch of the Legislature a decided majority of Democrats. The Governor, Thomas Carlin and Lieutenant Governor, Stinson H. Anderson, were Democrats, and of that party General W. L. D. Ewing was elected Speaker of the House defeating Abraham Lincoln the Whig candidate. Three of the justices of the Supreme Court, however, were Whigs, and but one a Democrat.

In the seventy working days of that regular session of the twelfth General assembly a surprising amount of legislation was enacted, which comprised some measure of weighty importance to the public, and others of questionable policy. Political parties at that time were divided chiefly upon the bank question. As a part of the great internal improvement scheme of 1836 the State was made a stock holder in the State bank to the amount of $3,100,000. The banks were prohibited by law from issuing notes of less denomination than five dollars; and the law of 1838 provided that any bank having suspended specie payments, and failed to resume such payments before adjournment of the next session of the Legislature thereafter, would forfeit its charter and close its doors unless that session of the Legislature sanctioned the suspension and permitted it to continue. All the banks had suspended specie payments, and had not resume the paying of specie when the twelfth Legislature came together. The Democrats, supreme in that body, were divided on the State banking system. The radicals among them favored enforcing the forfeiture penalty and closing up the banks at once; but the other faction, know by the radicals as the "week-kneed" (sic) voted with the Whigs, not only to legalize suspension of the banks, but to permit them to issue bills of less denomination than five dollars. Judge Ralston was one of the "week-kneed" and in that matter voted with the Whigs.

Though really hostile to the banks, and loyal to all the main principles of the party, Judge Ralston and the other "bolting" Democrats very plausibly justified their course by the reason that the woeful depression of business, extreme scarcity of money, and unprecedented hard times generally, rendered the leniency they extended to the banks absolutely necessary for relief of the commercial interests of the country, and for averting further hardships to the people. And the end, in that emergency, certainly did justify the means.

Party lines were not observed in much that was accomplished by the Legislature at that session. The member of both parties voted together in desperate attempts to provide ways and means for paying the semi-annual interest on the enormous State debt, and for trying to devise plans to extricate the State from its crushing embarrassments. They were also united, actively or passively, in granting the infamous Mormon charters, neither party daring, by its opposition, to offend that new powerful voting element. The crucial test of party fealty, however, was "Reorganizing the judiciary" an audacious scheme for converting the Supreme Court from a Whig to a Democratic tribunal by an addition to it of five Democratic justices, and legislating the circuit judges out of office, which was passed by a constitutional majority of both houses, and passed again over the Council of Revision's veto. There is no better proof of Judge Ralston's fidelity to his party than the fact that he voted with it throughout for that high-handed revolutionary measure. He was an active, vigilant and influential senator, a member of the judiciary committee and chairman of the Committee on Public Accounts and Expenditures, on all occasions watchful of his constituents interests as well as those of the public.

At that time the State was apportioned into three Congressional districts, the first comprising the western half, and the second the eastern half, of southern Illinois, the third embracing the balance of the State north of Greene county, from the Mississippi to the Wabash. In the third district the numerical strength of the parties was very nearly equal, Major John T. Stuart, the Whig candidate, having defeated Stephen A. Douglas for Congress at the August, 1838, election by only thirty-five majority, receiving 18,248 votes to 18,213 for Douglas. The act of February 15, 1839, changed the date of the next Congressional election from its regular biennial time in 1840 to August 2, 1841, and biennially thereafter. It was known that Major Stuart would be a candidate for re-election. Douglas could not again be his competitor, having been elevated by the "Reorganization of the judiciary" to the Supreme Court bench. Upon consultation, the Democrats choose Judge Ralston for their candidate to oppose Stuart. He made the race, and was defeated by the surprising plurality of 2,164 with 19,562 votes for him in the district, 21,726 for Stuart, 507 for Frederick Collins (Abolitionist), and twenty-six scattering.

Governor Ford attributes that overwhelming defeat of Ralston to his course in ignoring the Democratic policy regarding banks, and voting in the Senate with the Whigs to legalize the bank suspensions. That explanation is in part correct, but only in part. Opposition to banks was a Democratic article of faith, fixed and sacred as the dogma of a high protective tariff is with the Republican party of today. But there was another, and far more potent, factor responsible for the failure of Ralston's election, overlooked, or purposely ignored by Governor Ford. That was the votes of the Mormons given as a unit for the Whig ticket. In the three years, from 1838, when a total of 36,461 votes were polled in the district, to 1841, when the number of votes was 41,821, an increase of 5,360—there had been an astonishing influx of Mormons into Hancock and adjoining (sic) counties of the district. They had been driven out of Missouri by the Democrats in power, and on coming to Illinois voted solidly for the Whigs in retaliation. All white males among them, over the age of 21, voted (constitutionally) after a residence here of six months, and many voted in less than six weeks after their arrival, as none were challenged, and all voted for Major Stuart. Hence Judge Ralston's Waterloo.

At the general election in August, 1842, the Democrats, aided by the Mormons who then had turned against the Whigs, swept the State, electing the Governor, Thomas Ford, with a plurality of 8,317, the entire State ticket, and a large majority in both houses of the Legislature. In the thirteenth General Assembly, that met at Springfield on December 6th, Judge Ralston, not having resigned to run Congress, was, with E. D. Baker, Richard M. Cullom and others, one of hold-over senators industriously attentive to his duties, as before. The earnest work of that session, proving of inestimable value to the people, marked the beginning of a new era for Illinois.

The law-makers had re covered from their lunacy of 1836, and returned to methods of sanity and sound common sense. Getting together, regardless of party differences, they passed a bank adjustment bill, a bill for completion of the canal, one for securing the State's portion of proceeds of public lands sales, another for redemption of outstanding Macallister and Stebbins bonds; they appointed the Governor the State Fund Commissioner, and, as a crowning act of wisdom, provided a "two mill" tax (20 cents on the $100.00) on all property, which ensured the prompt payment of maturing interest, and placed the gigantic state debt in process of ultimate honorable extinction. The bank adjustment bill was a "compromise" entered into by Gov. Ford and the bank directors, whereby the banks agreed to go into liquidation, call in their circulating "shin plasters" and surrender to the State their bonds to the amount of $2,050,000.00 in exchange for an equal amount of bank stock held by the State. That was Gov. Ford's pet measure. He claimed that he wrote the bill, and that it passed by his personal influence.

Although it was adopted by the Legislature almost unanimously, for some reason not now apparent, Judge Ralston opposed it. Lyman Trumbull, then Secretary of State, did all he could to defeat it, and Stephen A. Douglas, Supreme Court Justice, as one of the Council of Revision, voted to veto it after it had passed both houses.

Governor Ford was one of the ablest jurists in the State, a man of singularly clear, philosophical mind, largely endowed by nature with vigorous, comprehensive intellect which was reinforced by a fair education and much study. In stature he was small with thin, homely features, deep-set gray eyes, and long, sharp nose turned slightly at the point to one side. Well supplied with vanity and self-esteem, his prejudices were invincible, and his arrogance at times, intolerable and ludicrous. As insignificant in body and sour as he was admirable in mental power, lacking in physical and moral courage, vindictive, obstinate and spiteful, he hated those whom he could not control, and when opportunity offered, caused them to feel the sting of his resentment. His spirit of vengeance outlived the lapse of time. He might forget a benefaction, but never forgave an injury. Of those who opposed his bank compromise bill, Douglas was beyond his reach, but Trumbull who was at his mercy, was immediately dismissed from the office of Secretary of State and replaced by Thompson Campbell. Having no chance to punish Judge Ralston, he "nursed his wrath to keep it warm" until he wrote his History of Illinois several years later, in which he fully vented his pent-up malice. However, expecting to publish the book soon, and knowing that Judge Ralston was still living, he was too cowardly to designate him by name in his contemptible vilification (sic). When General Shields published Fords History in 1854, Ralston was on the Pacific slope, and probably never saw in what terms his fellow Democrat, whom he had helped to make Governor of Illinois, had so meanly maligned him.

When the Legislature adjourned Judge Ralston again took his accustomed place at the Quincy bar, giving to his profession his undivided attention. It is not to be presumed, however, that he abjured further interest in politics, or renounced all political ambition. Few, indeed, in this great Democratic republic who have once enjoyed the subtle charm of office-holding voluntarily relinquish it, or lose the ardent desire to regain it. The Judge was doubtless at all times, as all politicians are, in a receptive mood, willing to "make the sacrifice for the public good," but was not openly a candidate for any position. Yet, he was accused in 1845 of coquetting with the Mormons, his erstwhile foes, who still voted the Democratic ticket, and held the balance of power in that district, but he stoutly denied the (Whig) impeachment. It is though, altogether probable that his hold on popular favor had waned, and the fickle public was fawning upon new idols, as it often does.

To the class of "has been", or of "would like to be" politicians, the war with Mexico in 1846 opened up grand vistas of glowing opportunities. It also stirred the martial spirit of thousands of worthy citizens who only saw that their country's honor was at stake. Of that multitude Judge Ralston's patriotism was so aroused that he offered his services to the Polk administration, which were accepted by his appointment, June 26, 1846, to the position of Assistant Quartermaster General for the Illinois Volunteers, with the rank of Captain, and he was ordered to San Antonio, Texas. Closing up his business at Quincy, he left Illinois and arrived at his destination on the 13th of October. After resting a few days he started for the seat of war in Mexico, but his train was overtaken before it had gone far by an order from headquarters, at Washington, assigning him to duty at San Antonio. Returning there he relieved Captain Wall, the officer in charge, and remained there until the war closed. Though never within three hundred miles of the fighting line, the work Captain Ralston did was of more value to the army, and the cause it was engaged in, than the services of many officers in the field of higher rank. Vast quantities of supplies obtained upon his requisitions from New Orleans and elsewhere, droves of beef cattle, hundreds of horses, mules and oxen, wagons, harness, and other property of our army in Mexico, purchased by his disbursement of many thousands of dollars, were forwarded from his post and distributed to the soldiers beyond the Rio Grande.

He employed for his chief clerk Mr. Edward Everett, a young man of education and very superior business qualifications, a nephew of the distinguished Massachusetts statesman of the same name, and at the time a sergeant in Captain Morgan's Quincy riflemen in Colonel Hardin's regiment, who was then incapacitated from active military service by a severe wound in the knee inflicted by a drunken Texan ruffian. Quartermaster Ralston took possession of the historic Alamo buildings, then in a ruinous condition, and converted them into a depot for supplies, storehouses, quarters for his men, and offices for himself and clerks. Assuming that he would probably be stationed at that post for some time, he sent for his wife who joined him there early in March 1847. Not of robust constitution, her health failed as the heat of summer advanced, and she soon fell a victim of that enervating climate. She died on the 3rd of July, 1847, at the age of 35 years, eight months and twenty-seven days., and was buried there. She had lost four children in their infancy, there remaining but one left to her, a daughter named Elizabeth, who subsequently married Marcellus Tilden, a lawyer of Sacramento, California.

Captain Ralston's clerk, Mr. Everett, was, in politics, as his illustrious uncle, a staunch Whig, passing in later years by easy transition into the ranks of Illinois Republicans. In his highly interesting "Military Experience"-donated by him to the Quincy (Illinois) Historical Society, he says of his superior, "Captain James H. Ralston was a Kentuckian who had settled in Illinois, tall in person, and sallow complexion, with that formality of address, and assumed dignity so often seen in the western lawyer. In politics he was a Democrat, and as he termed it, a strict constructionist, though moderate and non-partisan in his views. He was mild and pleasant in his intercourse, and was quite popular with the citizens of the place, and no unkind word ever passed between us-though on occasion, as a delinquent once observed after a reprimand, "he could use a fellow up in very few words." From this last sentence it must be inferred that the Captain when provoked employed harsh expletives to emphasize his utterances; yet, he was not usually profane in conversation. He was addicted to the use of tobacco, as all Kentuckians are; but, though a native of Bourbon county, very seldom tasted liquor of any description. Mr. Everett adds, "He was occasionally called on to make speeches on public occasions, as his delivery was good and his manner impressive, but as his early education had been very deficient he would make out a rough draft of what he had to say, and then hand it to me to improve the language and write it out clearly. His letters and reports to the heads of the departments at Washington were gotten up in the same manner. In November, 1848, Captain Ralston was relieved of his duties as Assistant Quartermaster at San Antonio by Captain M. Morris, A. Q. M., U. S. A. Then followed for several weeks the work incident to turning over to the new officer the military stores, and settling up the business of the post. That transfer and settlements completed, Captain Ralston, with Mr. Everett, departed for Port Lavacca; thence took steamer to New Orleans, from there up the Mississippi and Ohio rivers to Wheeling, Virginia, and on to Washington. "Here," says Mr. Everett, "we made our final accounts and explained such points as were objected to by the auditors. The sum of public money expended by Captain Ralston while in Texas was a very large one, besides which the property, mostly means of transportation, passing through our hands, not included in the above, was very considerable. The accounts passed a very rigid examination and everything was finally allowed and Captain Ralston and myself honorably discharged." In the meantime, the gold discovered by Jim Marshall in the tail-race of Capt. Sutter's mill at Coloma, California, Jan. 4, 1848 had frenzied the nation with the lust for riches. Captain Ralston received his discharge from military service on the 3d of March, 1849 and hastened back to Quincy. He was much disheartened by the changes time had wrought there in his former domestic and social surroundings during his absence of almost three years. His wife dead, his home desolate, his law business gone, many old and cherished friends passed away and replaced by strangers, saddened and discouraged, he concluded to join the mad rush of Argonauts for the New Eldorado, and there commence life anew. Quickly disposing of his property, and making provision for his daughter, he set out on the long and unknown journey. Arriving there at the age of forty-two, in the prime and vigor of manhood, he found himself in a strange world of infinite possibilities, teeming with people of all races and stations, wildly scrambling for sudden wealth. Shunning the gold mines, so attractive to the multitude of immigrants, the Judge located at Sacramento City, where, in partnership with Thomas Sunderland, he engaged in the practice of such law as was then recognized to be in force. Making a specialty of protecting and defending the rights of miners and squatters against those who claimed titles to their properties by virtue of Spanish grants, he gained wide popularity and prospered.

The civil government of California was at that period in chaotic condition, with no one in authority, and without so much as territorial organization. Its American population was daily increasing by thousands, and already a horde of hungry politicians were clamoring for its admission as a state into the union. In pursuance of a call issued, they selected delegates who met in convention in Colton's hall at Monterey, on Sept. 1, 1849, and framed a State constitution which expressly excluded the institution of slavery. By its provision a legislature was elected which convened at San Jose on December 15th and petitioned Congress for a State government. In response to their appeal Mr. Clay, early in that winter, introduced in the U. S. Senate his celebrated omnibus bill, or "Compromise" by the terms of which California was admitted as a state and New Mexico and Utah were organized as territories. That measure passed the lower house of Congress on the 7th and was approved by President Fillmore on the 9th of September, 1850.

The political turmoil preceding and attending the birth of the new state (Sept. 9, 1850), awakened in Judge Ralston the old office-seeking instinct that for a few years past had been semi-quiescent. He was again an active politician, keenly interested in watching the machinery of the young state set in motion, and also watching incidentally for his opportunity. It came in 1852, when he was nominated and elected by the Democrats to represent Sacramento county in the State Senate, that county constituting a senatorial district. The legislature of California then met annually. Representatives were elected for one year, and senators for two. The state's capitol had not yet been located, the several towns were making strenuous efforts to secure it, occasioning much jealous and ill-feeling, with some scandal. The third General Assembly to which Judge Ralston was elected, convened at Vallejo on the 5th of January, 1852, and on the 12th of that month moved to Sacramento, remaining there until it adjourned on the 4th of May. Senator Ralston was made chairman of the Standing Committee on Corporations, and a member of the Committees on State Library and Enrolled Bills.

In its then formative stage the infant state required much careful legislation to regulate its many diversified interests, define its land tenures, and establish constitutional government in place of the capricious exercise of authority by Alcaldes and priests to which as a province of Mexico it had long been subjected. Judge Ralston was one of the most attentive members of the Senate, taking an active and conspicuous part in all the important work of the session. The estimate in which he was held by that body may be inferred by the fact that in the election of joint ballot of a U. S. Senator, though not a candidate for the position, he received eight votes on the first and second ballots, and nine votes on the third, when he withdrew his name. The contest then narrowed down to David C. Broderick and John B. Weller, with selection of the latter on the eighth ballot.

The extraordinary amount of rain that fell in upper California during the winter of 1851-52, by raising the Sacramento river over its banks, inundated a large area of its valley. No levee having then been thrown up to protect Sacramento City from the annual overflows of the river, it was for several weeks another Venice, its traffic and business carried on by boats over the streets covered with water from two to six feet deep. The writer of this sketch went down to Sacramento from the mines in March, 1852, and while there visited the legislature on several occasions in a canoe or skiff, the means of transportation employed by the legislators, state officials, and others, from their hotels or residences to the building use temporarily for a state house.

The fourth general assembly of California was convoked at Vallejo on the 3d of January, 1853, and moved from that place to Benecia on the 4th of February, continuing there its deliberations until it adjourned on the 19th of May. Those towns, built on low sand flats on Napa Bay, are six miles apart, and twenty-three miles northeast of San Francisco. Each town was in succession made the State capital, General Vallejo's offering to the state a large quantity of land and $350,000.00 in money as an inducement to locate it in his town, Vallejo; but, it was totally unsuitable and without houses or other requisites in either town for a state capitol, the seat of government was, in 1854 permanently fixed at Sacramento, a more central point, seventy-five miles in direct line east of San Francisco. Upon organization of the legislature, in recognition of Senator Ralston's ability and party leadership, he was given the post of highest honor and responsibility, that of Chairman of the Judiciary Committee. He was also placed on the important committees on Finance and Corporations. For fidelity to his duties, for industry, capability, and influence, during that session he was not surpassed by any member of either branch of that assembly.

He was not an applicant for office that year having in consideration a matter of much weightier concern to engage his personal attention. For seven years he was a widower, solaced in a measure for his great loss by the care and affection of his only child, his daughter Elizabeth. But the inevitable occurred. A rising young lawyer of Sacramento found favor in her eyes, married her, and took her to a new home. Realizing then the dreary loneliness of his situation, he decided that the wisest course to pursue would be to look around for another life companion to replace the one taken from him by death in Texas. With that view he went to New York City, having doubtless arranged all necessary preliminaries by correspondence, and there, on the 20th of October, 1853 was united in marriage with Miss Harriet N. Jackson, daughter of Rev. Aaron Jackson, a Baptist minister of that city, who several years before had been stationed in charge of a church at Quincy, Illinois.

Returning with his bride to Sacramento, he applied himself with renewed diligence to his profession, having apparently exorcised for all the ignis fatuus of political ambition he had so long been chasing. Its fascination was, however, too strongly entrenched in his nature to be permanently shaken off by such a trivial affair as marriage. Yielding to the persuasion of friends, he again entered the arena in 1856 as a candidate for chief justice of the Supreme Court on the Democratic ticket. Up to that time the old-line Democrats had dominated California politically; but the disaffection, and disintegration, of the party in the eastern states, owing to repeal of the Missouri Compromise and its consequences, in 1854, had spread to the Pacific slope with the result of arraying against it the united elements of all opposition, including the Whigs, Free-Soilers and Know-Nothings. Still, the Democrats carried the state for Buchanan in 1856 though routed in many of the counties and for most of the state offices. Judge Ralston was one of the victims of the Douglas heresies, and went down in defeat before the forces of the political revolution that, rapidly gaining strength, in a few years swept the country. In 1860 and 1864 California gave its electoral vote to Lincoln, and assumed its place in the column of Republican states.

That disaster to his party was intolerable to Judge Ralston. On receiving the official returns of the 1860 election he immediately settled up his business and left the state, going over the mountains to Virginia City in Nevada, where he once more established himself in the practice of law. Nevada then had a population of about 15,000, which, upon development of the amazing deposits of silver and gold in the Comstock and other mines, quickly grew to nearly 50,000. Politicians were there early and in force, having some time before begun, and continued, agitation for territorial organization, which Congress granted in March, 1861. That act, instead of allaying political ebullition, stimulated it to increased activity in the direction of a demand for admission of the territory into the union as a state. In furtherance of that object a call was issued in 1863 for a convention to frame a state constitution. In that call was presented to Judge Ralston a tempting opportunity he could not resist. Offering his services to the people he was elected a delegate to represent Storey County, of which Virginia City is the county seat, in that conventions. In a private letter received from Mr. Wm. Epler, at present a citizen of Jacksonville, Illinois, he says, "During the fall of 1863 it was my good fortune to become intimately acquainted with Judge James H. Ralston. We first met as members of the first constitutional convention of Nevada, he a delegate from Storey county, and I a delegate from Humboldt county. For the forty days of the convention we occupied seats and desks with arms length of each other.

"The fact that he formerly resided in Quincy, Illinois, and I in Jacksonville, brought us in close touch at once. In that convention Judge Ralston won the respect and esteem of the entire body by his dignified, modest and gentlemanly manners, his evident ability, and close attention to business. He came over to Nevada territory from California, as did nearly all the other members, my own case being an exception, as I never lived in California before becoming a citizen of Nevada. Not long after adjournment of the convention, early in 1864, he moved from Virginia City to Austin, in Lander county, near the center of the territory, and there resumed his practice of law; but, which was destined not to continue long."

At that period Judge Ralston was physically and mentally vigorous and active, with every prospect of many years of exertion and usefulness in store for him. Of optimistic temperament he looked forward with cheerful expectancy to the admission of Nevada into the Union in the near future, and perhaps was planning to play an important part in the political affairs of the new state. The human family surely has few greater blessings than that impenetrable veil excluding the future from its vision. Nevada was made a state by Act of Congress in October of that year (1864); but five months before that event the public was shocked and saddened by the melancholy death of Judge Ralston. The mournful story of its occurrence, learned from various sources, was published in full in the Quincy Whig (Illinois) of June 26, 1864, and is in substance as follows:

About the 1st of May (1864) the Judge, with another man, left Austin on horseback to visit his ranch in Smoky Valley, thirty miles distant. They soon separated, his companion going to some other point, and he went on alone. Mrs. Ralston says "he was caught in a blinding snow storm on the desert," and no doubt lost his way. When he did not return after the lapse of two or three days, his family and friends, apprehensive that he may have met with some accident, organized a party to go in search of him, but without success, having ascertained at his ranch that he was not there. A number of experienced plainsmen then, with a skillful Indian guide, starting from Austin, upon going some distance struck his trail, and followed it in the direction of San Antonia for a distance of ninety miles, then crossing Smoky Valley at the Indian Wells opposite Coyote Springs, keeping a southern course, passing Link Barnes' ranch, a few miles farther fell in with some Indians who told them that Judge Ralston was dead, and directed them to his body which they found but eight miles northeast of San Antonio, and five miles from the Barnes' ranch." Lost and bewildered he traveled for days without food or water until finally he fell from his horse exhausted and there expired. From all the 'signs' and circumstances observed it was concluded that his tragic death occurred on the 8th of May (1864) when 56 years, 6 months and 26 days of age.

Some Shoshone Indians (Root Diggers) were the first to discover the dead body, which was considerably mutilated by the coyotes. To prevent its further mutilation by those little wolves, the Indians in accordance with their tribal custom of cremating their dead, piled dry sage brush over the remains and burned them. The searching party gathered up all that remained of the dead statesman and jurist, placing them in a sack for transportation on horseback, and conveyed them to his home in Austin. With his remains were found some gold coins he had in his pockets, together with his spectacles and watch, the latter ruined, of course, by the fire, 'but valuable as melancholy relics of his sad fate.'

His body upon its arrival in town was taken in charge by his brother Masons, of which order he had attained the rank of Knight Templar. At an early hour yesterday, the members of the legal fraternity met at the court house and resolved to attend in a body the funeral of the honored deceased. The procession formed in front of the court house at one o'clock and headed by the Austin brass band, followed by the Masons in regalia, members of the bar, firemen, hearse, the family of the deceased, citizens on horseback and in carriages, the cortege marched to the cemetery. This was the most imposing funeral that has yet occurred in Austin. The worth, position and high esteem, the melancholy circumstances attending the death of Judge Ralston, gave a solemn and universal interest to the occasion. After the interment the procession returned, marching to a lively tune, to the court house and dispersed.

In publishing the foregoing account, the Quincy Herald of June 29, 1864, said: "The old settlers of this part of the State, and indeed of the whole State, will regret to learn of the death of Judge Ralston. The particulars concerning his death we give in this article below, copied from the Whig. He was one of the early settlers of this part of the State, where he earned a high reputation as a lawyer, and achieved distinction as a leading politician. He was universally respected for his integrity and candor, both as a public man and a private citizen, and was sincerely beloved as a citizen and neighbor" The dreary, sandy waste in which Judge Ralston so wretchedly died was then named "Ralston's Desert" a name it still bears, and is so designated on the government maps.

From the marriage of Judge Ralston and Miss Jackson two children were born, a daughter, Mary Aurora Ralston, who died in early life, and a son, Jackson H. Ralston, now and for several years past, an eminent attorney of Washington, D. C., "who was counsel representing the United States in the Pious Fund case, the first tried before the Hague tribunal. He was also the umpire between Italy and Venezuela in the court of Arbitration at Caracas a few years ago." Mrs. Harriet N. Ralston, the Judge's widow, is also at present (1909) a resident of Washington.

It is not certain that any relationship existed between Judge Ralston and William Chapman Ralston of San Francisco, though Mrs. Harriet N. Ralston asserts they were second cousins. Wm. C. Ralston, a native of Plymouth, Ohio, and a "Napoleon of Finance," it may be remembered, was for three years president of the great Bank of California at San Francisco, until deposed from that position by the directors, and the bank closed its doors about noon on the 26th of August, 1878. That afternoon the dethroned president took his customary bath in the Bay at North Beach. Swimming far out from shore he "seemed to be taken with a fit" and drowned before a boat could reach him. The cause of the bank's suspension, it was soon known, was the abstraction of four and a half millions of its funds by Resident Ralston, which he converted to his own use and lost it all in wild speculation.

[To Mrs. Harriet N. Ralston of Washington, Hon. Wm. A. Richardson of Quincy, Illinois, and Hon. James A. Johnson of Oakland, California, I am greatly indebted for special information, without which the foregoing biographical sketch of Judge Ralston could not have been written--J. F. S.]

Notes for Thomas Neely Ralston:

Rev. Thomas Neely Ralston was born March 21, 1806 in Bourbon County, Kentucky, the fifth of fourteen children born to John Rolston/Ralston and Elizabeth Neely. The family moved to Bath County about 1810. In 1827 Thomas was licensed to preach.

On April 21, 1830 in Fleming County, Kentucky, Thomas married Josephine Thompson. No children were born to the Rev. and Mrs. Ralston, but in 1850 they were enumerated with a five year old girl, "Elizabeth Ralton." The young girl was the Rev. Ralston's niece, the daughter of his brother James Hervy Ralston whose wife had died in 1847. In 1856 Josephine, the Reverend's wife of twenty-six years, died at the age of 48.

On September 12, 1857 in Maysville, Mason County, Kentucky, the Rev. Ralston married Mary Woelpeper Phister. No children were born to the couple. In 1870 the couple was enumerated with Mary's family in Marysville.

The Rev. Ralston, 85, died November 25, 1891 in Highland Township of Campbell County, Kentucky, and was buried in the Lexington Cemetery in Lexington, Fayette County, Kentucky.

Minutes of the Annual Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, 1892

Thomas Neely Ralston was born in Bourbon county, Ky., March 21, 1806; and died at his home in the Highlands, near Newport, Ky., November 25, 1891. He made profession of religion in 1826, and was licensed to preach in 1827. From that time until he was compelled by waning health, a few years ago, to retire to private life, the history and progress of Methodism in his native state were adorned and advanced by his eminent labors in the pulpit, as an educator, and an author. His pulpit efforts were characterized by impressive eloquence, clear logical deductions, and pathetic appeal. His style was eminently pure, and spiced with an originality as attractive and impressive as the tints of tastefully clustered flowers pouring forth their wealth of odorous exhalations. The aged hearer bent forward with eager appreciation to catch every word he uttered, and the young drank with admiration and conviction the irrefutable arguments and sweet persuasions to duty and love toward the world's Redeemer. He was eminently a revivalist, and he added to the Church hundreds of members, some of whom triumphantly preceded him to their heavenly inheritance, while others remain pillars in the house of God, and toilers in the Master's vineyard.

The most remarkable revivals under his ministry were on the Mt. Sterling Circuit, when six hundred persons came into the Church; and after that, in Danville, Harrodsburg, and other places. In 1859-60 he conducted, in Millersburg, one of the most remarkable series of meetings in the history of the Church in that locality, embracing the ingathering and clear conversion of nearly one hundred souls. As an educator he was very successful, as is evidenced by the after career of cultured women who adorn Christian homes and are blessings in the communities in which they reside.

As an author his first and greatest work, "The Elements of Divinity," met an appreciation rarely accorded a modern author. This work has been a standard in this country, and has been translated into foreign languages, and, in the words of an eminent divine, "has as yet been followed by no equal in its department." It is a matter of regret that this work has been thrown out of the course of study for the ministers of the Church, and many of them earnestly desire its restoration. Other works of note were written by him, and he edited "with great care and laborious discrimination the works of Bishop J. H. B. Bascom." Dr. Ralston's superior ability was recognized by his Church, which bestowed upon him positions of honor, the best stations, the presiding eldership, Conference Secretaryship, etc., and once or twice he was sent a delegate to the General Conference, of which he was as often Secretary.

Modesty and humility were marked characteristics of this great and good man. Unselfish and tenderly sympathetic, he was a friend upon whom to lean and find support. Many younger preachers in the Conference could bear testimony to this. A personal allusion may be pardoned. The writer's first year's work was as a junior preacher on the same charge with him. Forced into the ministry at an early age, diffident, inexperienced, and opposed by some of my family, I do not know what I should have done without the counsel, encouragement, and help of my dear brother Ralston. The ties then formed grew stronger and more precious as the years rolled on, and some of the most restful and inspiring moments, snatched from consuming toil, were spent in occasional visits to him and his congenial wife and cousin in their paradisaical home. I often thought the graces of his beautiful character shone brightest amidst the domestic relations.

He was twice happily married - first to Miss Josephine Thompson, of Garard County, and last to Miss Mary Phister, of Maysville, who survives him in a loneliness and grief commensurate with the loss of such companionship after over thirty years of wedded life. He died of carbuncle on the back of his neck, from which he must have suffered greatly though uncomplainingly. After its final "free suppuration, he seemed entirely free from pain, though extremely feeble. Precious words of endearment were spoken, never to be forgotten, after which he sunk into quiet slumber. Then the end came.

His death was characteristic. His last utterance was " Hallelujah ! " as with eyes upturned, he seemed to have glimpses of the heavenly glory; and after speech failed he raised his hands, as if in triumph, then calmly folding them, he closed his eyes, as sinking into sleep, and without a struggle or a groan his pure spirit floated out into the presence of the King in his beauty, to share the unutterable joys of eternal blessedness.

His Conference and friends mourn his loss as one who loved them much ; a love whose precious ties will endure forever, gathering sweetness and brightness where partings are unknown. He is gone; his works do follow him.

11. JAMES<sup>3</sup> ROLSTONE (David<sup>2</sup> Sr., William<sup>1</sup>) was born before 1756 in Augusta Co., Va.. He died after 1799. He married Unknown in Virginia.

Notes for James Rolstone:

James Rolstone was born during or before 1756 in Augusta County, Virginia, one of four children known to have been born to David Rolstone Sr. and Ann Copeland. Some place his birth as June 16, 1772; however Ann would have been in her early 50's, and a birth at that age seems unlikely. The area of Augusta County where James resided became Rockingham County in 1778. James's relationship to David Rolstone is proven by the 1788 Rockingham Militia Vouchers where "... David Rolston and son James..." are listed as members of Captain John Herdmans' Company #3. {source: Virginia Valley Record, page 99}

Unlike his father and brothers, James was not a member of the Cooks Creek Presbyterian Church. Although nothing is known of James having married, in the Vouchers of Captain Benjamin Smith's Company, Number 1, for 1788 in Rockingham County, James is shown as having two sons: Robert and John. The two sons were listed because they were age 16 or older. The voucher was for seven horses. James was listed as owning 250 acres in 1789. {Virginia Valley Record, page 44} The names Robert and John happen to be the names of two of James's paternal uncles. Both of these facts would indicate that James was born before 1768 or that these facts belong to a different James Rolston.

During the estate sale for Arcibald Hopkins in 1799: "James Rolstone to one Red Cow & young calf" and "one dark Brindle heifer." No further records of James or his sons have been found.

James may have preceded his father in death.

James Rolstone and Unknown had the following children:

- i. ROBERT<sup>4</sup> ROLSTON was born before 1772 in Virginia.

Notes for Robert Rolston:

Robert Rolston was born sometime before 1772 in Virginia, one of two known sons born to James Rolstone. Robert was noted as a son of James Rolstone in the Vouchers of Captain Benjamin Smith's Company, Number 1, for 1788 in Rockingham County.

- ii. JOHN ROLSTON was born before 1772 in Virginia.

Notes for John Rolston:

John Rolston was born sometime before 1772 in Virginia, one of two known sons of James Rolstone. John was noted as a son of James Rolstone in the 1788 Vouchers of Captain Benjamin Smith's Company, Number 1 in Rockingham County, Virginia.

12. ELEANOR<sup>3</sup> ROLSTON (David<sup>2</sup> Rolstone Sr., William<sup>1</sup> Rolstone) was born in 1756 in Augusta (now Rockingham ) Co., Va.. She died between 1812-1820 in Fayette Co., Ky. (age 50+). She married Nicholas Curry, son of John Curry, about 1776 in Augusta Co., Va.. He was born in 1756 in Virginia. He died between 1801-1803 in Fayette Co., Ky., age ~45.

Notes for Eleanor Rolston:

Eleanor Rolston was born about 1756 in Augusta (now Rockingham) County, Virginia, the second of four children and only daughter known to have been born to David Rolstone Sr. and Ann Copeland.

About 1776 in Augusta County, Virginia, Eleanor married Nicholas Curry. The couple borrowed $100 from Eleanor's father and removed to Fayette County, Kentucky sometime before 1788 when Nicholas first appears in the Tax Lists in that county. Eleanor and Nicholas had children, of which only four are known. The couple was married for some 24 years before Nicholas' death between 1800 and 1803. Nicholas likely died after his father-in-law, David Rolstone Sr.. The $100 loan to Nicholas and Eleanor would most likely have been forgiven by Eleanor's father had he survived his son-in-law.

It seems that Eleanor did not feel that her interest in her father's estate were being properly represented by her two brothers, David Jr. and William, who were the executors. To ensure that all was done properly, she set up a power of attorney:

Rolston for this manuscript.}

Eleanor appears in the 1810 census of Fayette County living with her son David and his family. The last record of Eleanor appears in court records in October of 1812 in regard to the estate of Nicholas Curry. She was no longer with David and his family in 1820 and is assumed to have been deceased.

Note: There is another Nicholas Curry and wife Eleanor living in Kentucky. They are noted in the Abstracts from Pendleton County, Kentucky, Order Book B (years 1805-1814), page 202-203. This Eleanor, however, is the "Said Eleanor Curry being one of the legitimate heirs and daughter of the said Mary Robertson, deceased."

Notes for Nicholas Curry:

Nicholas Curry was born in 1756 in Virginia, the son of John Curry.

About 1776 in Augusta County, Virginia, Nicholas married Eleanor Rolston, daughter of David Rolstone, Sr.. Sometime before 1788 he moved his family to Fayette County, Kentucky where he appeared in the 1788 and 1800 Tax Lists for Fayette County. He and Eleanor had four known children: Robert, William, Ellinder and David. There were likely other children born to the couple.

Nicholas died sometime before 1803. He was survived by his wife Eleanor who was referred to as his widow in a documented dated the 10th day of October 1803. He is presumed to have died in the county of his residence at the age of about 54.

Note: There was another Nicholas Curry and wife Eleanor. They are noted in the Abstracts from Pendleton County, Kentucky, Order Book B in the year 1809, after the subject of this biography was deceased. The Eleanor, in this instance, was the daughter of Mary Robertson.

Nicholas Curry and Eleanor Rolston had the following children:

62. i. WILLIAM<sup>4</sup> CURRY was born between 1776-1780. He married (Unknown) in Kentucky. She was born between 1776-1784.
- ii. ROBERT CURRY was born after 1776. He married Rosalender on 09 Dec 1811 in Fayette Co., Ky..

Notes for Robert Curry:

Robert Curry was born sometime after 1776, one of four children known to have been born to Nicholas Curry and Eleanor Rolston. He was the grandson of David Rolstone, Sr. and Ann Copeland. His place of birth is not known; he was born either in Kentucky or in Virginia. Robert may have been named after his maternal uncle, Eleanor's brother.

On December 9, 1811 in Fayette County, Kentucky Robert married Rosalender. Nothing else is known of Robert or his wife after this date.

Note: There was a Robert Curry, born in Botetourt County, Virginia, who died in 1857 in Mercer County, Kentucky. He also married there, but it is not the same Robert Curry, son of Nicholas Curry and Eleanor Rolstone.

63. iii. DAVID RALSTON CURRY was born about 1790 in Fayette Co., Ky.. He died in 1856 in Johnson Co., Ind. (age ~66). He married Margaret Bradburn, daughter of Joseph Bradburn and Grace, in 1808 in Kentucky. She was born about 1794. She died in Indiana.
- iv. ELLINDER CURRY was born about 1791 in Fayette Co., Ky.. She died after 1812. She married William Ghoulston on 15 Mar 1812 in Fayette Co., Ky.. He was born before 1791.

Notes for Ellinder Curry:

Ellinder Curry was born about 1791 in Fayette County, Kentucky, one of four known children and only known daughter born to Nicholas Curry and Eleanor Rolston. She was the granddaughter of David Rolstone, Sr. and Ann Copeland. Ellinder may or may not be her proper given name. Her father died when she was around 10 years old. In 1810 she was residing with her brother William and his family.

On March 15, 1812 in Fayette County, Kentucky, Ellinder married William Ghoulston (or Gholson). Nothing is known of the couple after 1812.

Notes for William Ghoulston:

William Ghoulston was born sometime on or before 1791. His place of birth and parentage are unknown. In the 1790 Tax List for Fayette County, Kentucky there is a Francis Gholson found on May 23, 1789. This could be his family even with the variation in the surname.

On March 15, 1812 in Fayette County William married Ellinder Curry. Nothing is known of the couple after their marriage.

13. WILLIAM<sup>3</sup> ROLSTON (David<sup>2</sup> Rolstone Sr., William<sup>1</sup> Rolstone) was born in 1757 in Augusta (now Rockingham) Co., Va.. He died on 02 Aug 1807 in Bull Creek, Wood Co., Va. (now W.V. (age 50). He married Mary Hopkins, daughter of Archibald Hopkins and Jennet Love, on 16 Apr 1782 in Rockingham Co., Va.. She was born on 23 Aug 1755 in Augusta (now Rockingham) Co., Va.. She died on 23 Aug 1823 in Waverly, Wood Co., Va. (now W.V.) (age 68).

Notes for William Rolston:

William Rolston was born in 1757 in Augusta (now Rockingham) County, Virginia, the second child and first son born to David Rolstone Sr., and the widow Anna Copeland. His mother's maiden name is not known. Some early records show William's surname as "Rolstone." The area of Augusta County where William resided became Rockingham County in 1778. William, raised in the Presbyterian faith, was a member of the Cook's Creek Church.

Many of the church records are contained within "The Session Book of Cook's Creek and Pyked Mountain Congregation" which covered the years of 1759 to 1835. The church records record the presence of John Hopkins Sr., Benjamin Hinton and Archibald Hopkins; names that would become joined by marriage with the Rolston [Ralston] family. William's father, David Rolston[e] Sr., and William's brother, David Rolston[e] Jr., were also members of the Cook's Creek Church.

1793 tax records of Rockingham County show William with 2 slaves and 7 horses but, strangely, William never appears to have owned any land while his father was alive. It would seem likely that William and his family probably worked and lived on his father's farm.

In 1794, William was sent to Pennsylvania with the Virginia Militia to restore law and order during the Whiskey Rebellion. William was part of the 13,700 man army lead by President George Washington that formed up in Carlisle before marching onto Bedford, Pennsylvania.

William was one of the executors for his father-in-law's, Archibald Hopkins, estate in 1801-02. His signature on documents associated with the disposal of the estate has been interpreted as Rolstone and in some cases as Bolstone. It was during the later period of settling Archibald's estate in 1802 that William's own father would die. In the following year, 1803, William's wife's mother, Jennet Hopkins, also died. William and his brother, David Jr. were bonded on October 19, 1802 as executors for their father's estate. Evan Thomas and John Ewin were the bondsmen. It is difficult to determine by which spelling of the surname, Rolston or Rolstone, William may have used in Rockingham.

In 1804 and probably not long after settling the estates of his father, father-in-law and mother-in-law, William and his family left Rockingham County and removed north to Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia). His eldest son, Archibald was preoccupied with courting what was to be his first wife and did not accompanied the family to Wood County. William offered son Archibald 100 acres if he would join them, but he remained in Rockingham County.

On April 6, 1805 in the Union District of Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia), for the consideration of $5,000, William purchased two adjoining parcels of land containing over 800 acres that were located below the confluence of Bull Creek and along the Ohio River. The property was located well east of the town of Newport that would become Parkersburg in 1810 and bordered the present day Pleasants County. According to this deed, William was already a resident of Wood County. {source: Deed book 3, page 42, Wood Co., WV.} It appears that William and his children used the Rolston spelling while residing at Bull Creek in the early 1800's.

William died in testate on August 2, 1807 at the age of 50 after contracting some disease. He was laid to rest in the Bethel Church cemetery located near the bank of the Ohio River below Bull Creek in what is now the city of Waverly, Wood County, West Virginia.

Due to the lack of a will, a dispute ensued between William's son Archibald and the other siblings over the division of the lands. Archibald filed suit against the heirs, which consisted of his mother and the other sibling heirs, for a 100 acre portion of land said to have been promised him by his father William, if Archibald moved to Wood County. In 1817 the first of several land deeds between the heirs of William Rolston and son Archibald is noted. {Wood Co. Deed Book 6, Page 64} Another series of land deeds between various heirs is found in 1825. This later series appears to have settled the land dispute.

The dispute over the land may have resulted in a lifelong rift between various family members other than just Archibald as might have been expected. Son Nathan's Family Bible does not record the date of death for brothers Benjamin and John Hopkins who both preceded Nathan in death. Benjamin lived in Nebraska and John in Ohio, both some distance; however, brother Alpheus also lived in Ohio and his date of death was recorded in Nathan's Bible.

William and wife Mary were original interred in the [old] Bethel Church cemetery along the Ohio River at Waverly. The cemetery was located next to the Ohio River from the present day intersection of Railroad Street and 1st Street in Waverly. Over the years, the church and cemetery endured periodic flooding from the Ohio River. After the flood of 1884 the church was moved. In 1888 the cemetery was abandoned and son Nathan removed the remains of William, Mary, and other family members to the new Bethel Presbyterian Church Cemetery located on the old St. Mary's Pike near the junction of state route 31. A substantial monument was erected by son Nathan at this location and is inscribed with the names of family members who's remains were relocated to this site. In July of 2002 William's original tombstone was recovered from the bank of the Ohio River in Waverly and moved to the present day Bethel Cemetery where it was placed next to newer monument.

Notes for Mary Hopkins:

Mary Hopkins was born August 23, 1755 in Augusta County, Virginia, one of five children born to Archibald Hopkins and Jennet Love. The area of Augusta County where Mary was born became Rockingham County. Mary was baptized on January 9, 1761.

On April 16, 1782 in Rockingham County, Virginia, Mary married William Rolstone. She bore him eleven children. Mary's father died in 1799, and Mary's husband was the executor for her father's estate.

October 20th 1800: "Received of the other Executors of Archibald Hopkins Deceast the sum of 76 pounds 7 shillings and 2 pence it Being a part of my wifes Dowry left her father Received by William Rolstone."

"August 2nd, 1801 Received of the other executors of Arch estate the sum of one hundred & fifty four Dollars and ninety Cents as Part of my wifes Dowry willed to her by her father Received Per me. Wm Rolstone."

Mary's mother died in 1803, and Mary received an unknown sum of money from the estate.

In 1804, with monies from her parents' estates, William's father's estate, and the sale of their own property, William purchased land in Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia). The entire family moved, except for their eldest son who remained in Rockingham. Mary's husband died in 1807. The estate of her husband was not settled for many years, in part because of the minor children.

Mary, 68, died August 23, 1823 and was buried in the Bethel Church Cemetery in Waverly, Virginia (now West Virginia). The church and cemetery were perched along the bank of the Ohio River and periodically flood by the river. In 1888 the church was abandoned and the congregation moved to a location on higher ground. The cemetery was also abandoned. Rolston family members buried there were removed and placed in the new cemetery next to the new church.

William Rolston and Mary Hopkins had the following children:

- i. ARCHIBALD<sup>4</sup> ROLSTON was born on 31 Mar 1783 in Rockingham Co., Va.. He died on 03 May 1857 in Rockingham Co., Va. (age 74). He married (1) ELIZABETH HENTON, daughter of Ebenezer Henton and Emelie Matthews, on 16 Aug 1804 in Rockingham Co., Va.. She was born on 17 Sep 1785 in Rockingham Co., Va.. She died on 04 Aug 1844 in Rockingham Co., Va. (age 58). He married (2) MARIA WRIGHT, daughter of Nathaniel Wright, on 06 Apr 1848 in Rockingham Co., Va.. She was born on 15 Sep 1808 in Virginia. She died on 05 Mar 1887 in Rockingham Co., Va. (age 78).

Notes for Archibald Rolston:

Archibald Rolston was born March 31, 1783 in Rockingham County, Virginia, the eldest of eleven children born to William Rolston and Mary Hopkins. Archibald, as an adult, was described as being six feet tall with red hair, blue eyes, and a fair complexion.

When the Rolston family moved to Wood County in 1804, Archibald is thought to have stayed behind to continue his courtship of Elizabeth Henton, who became his first wife on August 16th of that year. In 1805 after his father had purchased the 900 some acres near Bull Creek, his father offered Archibald 100 of these acres if he would move to Bull Creek and join the rest of the family. Archibald would accept this offer but never formally received the promised acres.

In August of 1807 his father, William, died unexpectedly of some disease. Being that there was no will or documentation of the agreement between Archibald and his father concerning the 100 acres, there was much disagreement on the settlement of the estate. Archibald disputed the division of the property between the heirs of his father's estate, and in 1811 Archibald was a plaintive in a suit filed against the heirs of William Rolston's estate, namely his own brothers and sisters. Archibald left Wood County and returned to Rockingham where he joined the Cooks Creek Presbyterian Church in May of 1812.

The legal dispute over his father's estate was apparently interrupted by the War of 1812. Archibald, 31 years of age, was drafted at Harrisonburg, Rockingham County, Virginia, on September 1, 1814 into Captain Thomas Hopkin's Company of the 116th Regiment of the Virginia Militia. Archibald served only three weeks before the war ended and was honorably discharged in mid-September of 1814 at Camp Cross Roads in Maryland. He then returned to Rockingham and his farm.

Between 1817 and 1825 various land deeds were processed between the William Rolston children that were in reference to Archibald's suit. During the 1825 land transfers between the Rolston heirs, Archibald was shown as residing in Rockingham County with his first wife Elizabeth.

On August 4, 1844 Elizabeth, his wife of forty years, died at the age of 58, and he buried her as "Rolston" in the Cooks Creek Presbyterian Church Cemetery in Harrisonburg, Virginia, where he had been a church elder since 1828.

Four years later on April 6, 1848 in Rockingham County, Virginia, Archibald took his second wife, a divorcee named Mrs. Maria Howell, the former Miss Maria Wright. She would be his companion for the remainder of his life.

In 1850 Congress passed an act that provided bounty land to those who served during the War of 1812. Archibald made his application on October 21, 1850, and received 40 acres of Bounty Land. The location of the Bounty Land is not known, and Archibald likely sold it as he remained in Rockingham. In 1855 Congress passed a second act for veterans of the War of 1812, and Archibald received 120 acres on this occasion. The bounty lands were in the States of Arkansas, Illinois and Missouri. As Archibald nor any of his siblings moved to these areas of the country, Archibald either never followed through to obtain ownership or he sold off the lands to persons outside the family.

Archibald was a slave owner. Death records for Rockingham County record the death from consumption of a 23 year old colored woman named Isabella Rolston in December of 1854. Archibald was noted as her "owner."

Archibald was still a church elder when he died May 3, 1857 at the age of 74. He was residing in the vicinity of the Green Mountain Post Office in Rockingham County, Virginia, at that time. He was buried in the Cooks Creek Presbyterian Church Cemetery next to his first wife. His tombstone was inscribed with the surname Ralston and not Rolston. Perhaps his wife of nine years, Maria did not know the proper spelling as she herself was buried 30 years later next to Archibald also as Ralston.

Archibald had no children by either of his two wives. His estate was divided among his brothers and their heirs, major portions of which were purchased from these heirs by Archibald's first cousin, David H. Rolston, the son of their uncle, David Rolstone Jr..

Notes for Elizabeth Henton:

Elizabeth "Betty" Henton was born September 17, 1785, the daughter of Ebenezer Henton and Emelie Matthews.

On August 16, 1804 in Rockingham County, Virginia, Elizabeth married Archibald Rolston. The couple had no children.

Elizabeth, 58, died August 4, 1844 in Rockingham County, Virginia, was buried in the Cooks Creek Presbyterian Church Cemetery in Harrisonburg, Rockingham County, Virginia. Her tombstone has her name as Elizabeth Rolston, but when her husband died 13 years later, his second wife buried him under the surname of RALSTON.

Notes for Maria Wright:

Maria Wright was born on September 15, 1808 in Virginia, the daughter of Nathaniel Wright. Her mother's name is unknown, but Maria would note on one occasion that her mother was of foreign birth.

On March 13, 1834 in Rockingham County, Virginia, Maria married John Howell. Fourteen years later on March 27, 1848 in Richmond, Virginia, she divorced her husband. The following month, on April 6, 1848 in Rockingham County, Virginia, Maria married the widower Archibald Rolston, who at the age of 65, was 25 years her senior. The marriage was performed by Reverend Thomas D. Bell.

In the 1850 census of Rockingham County there was a Mary Wright, age 76, residing with the Rolston family. This was likely Maria's mother or perhaps an older spinster sister.

On May 3, 1857 Archibald, Maria's husband of nine years, died at the age of 74. Maria was 48 at that time and did not remarry after Archibald's death. In 1870 she resided in the Central Township of Rockingham County, Virginia along with Caroline Wright, age 31. Caroline, who was still living with Maria in 1880, was probably a niece. Living next door to Maria in 1870 was Lawson Wright, who like Maria, was 62 years of age.

In April of 1878 Maria applied for a widow's pension from Archibald's service during the War of 1812. Her application was approved on March 25, 1878, granting her a sum of $8 per month.

Maria lived in the area serviced by Cristmans' Post Office in Rockingham County, Virginia when she died on March 5, 1887 at the age of 78. She was buried in the Cooks Creek Presbyterian Church Cemetery next to her husband Archibald opposite from Archibald's first wife. Maria's headstone says "Our Aunt Maria wife of Archibald Ralston born Sept. 15, 1808 Died Marc. 5, 1887 He giveth His beloved sleep." It is not known which of Maria's families the 'Aunt' is referenced from. Perhaps it comes from Caroline Wright who lived with her in 1870.

64. ii. NANCY ANN ROLSTON was born on 18 Dec 1784 in Rockingham Co., Va.. She died on 19 Oct 1857 in La Porte Co., Ind. (age 72). She married John Griffith, son of Griffith, on 30 Apr 1808 in Wood Co., Va. (now W.V.). He was born between 1775-1780. He died between 1837-1840 in La Porte Co., Ind..

- iii. DAVID ROLSTON was born on 26 Nov 1786 in Rockingham Co., Va.. He died on 03 Sep 1826 in Wood Co., Va. (now W.V.) (age 39).

Notes for David Rolston:

David Rolston was born November 26, 1786 in Rockingham County, Virginia, the third of eleven children to be born to William Rolston and Mary Hopkins. In 1804, at the age of 18, he moved along with his parents to Bull Creek area of Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia). After the death of his father in 1807, and the eldest brother Archibald having returned to Rockingham County, Virginia, David became the head of the Rolston family caring for his mother, brothers and sisters.

David was a member of Mount Olivet Lodge Number 113 located in present day city of Parkersburg. This was a Masons organization. The Mount Olivet Lodge was chartered in the winter of 1817 by the Right Worshipful Grand Lodge of the State of Virginia.

On January 9th, 1818, David Rolston and his brother Nathan's father-in-law, Solomon Harness, jointly purchased 300 acres of land located between Bull Creek and Bull Run in Wood County. The deed is recorded in the Virginia Land Office Grant Book 66, page 180. During this same time frame, David owned and operated at tavern near the mouth of Bull Creek.

David was never known to have married. The 1820 Wood County Census lists David as the head of the household living with two females and two males. From the age ranges provided in the census it is readily assumed that David occupied the house with his mother, Sara (age ~75), his sister Jane (17), and younger brothers John Hopkins (21) and Alpheus (19).

David. 39, died September 3, 1826 in Wood County, Virginia, and was buried in the Bethel Church cemetery in Waverly, Wood County, Virginia. This area would not become the state of West Virginia until the Civil War. David's estate appears in the 1826 Wood County Will Book, 1B, pages 15, and 18 through 21 for the inventory. Settlements appear in the 1830 Will Book, 1B, pages 36 & 37, and in the 1833 Will Book, 1C, page 8.

David was original interred in the Bethel Church cemetery along the Ohio River at Waverly. In 1888 the cemetery was abandoned due to periodic flooding from the Ohio River, and brother Nathan removed David's remains, and that of their parents and other family members, to the new Bethel Presbyterian Church Cemetery located on the old St. Mary's Pike near the junction of state route 31. A substantial monument was erected at this location and was inscribed with the names of various family members who's remains were relocated to this site.

Notes for David Rolstone Jr.:

David Rolstone Jr. was born October 20, 1760 in Augusta County, Virginia, the third of four children known to have been born to David Rolstone Sr. and Ann Copeland. The area of Augusta County where David lived became Rockingham County in 1778.

David served as a Private during the American Revolutionary War. His service consisted of three separate periods beginning in June of 1776 when he spent 15 days in the service of Captain Hopkins and Captain John Rice. The company was dispatched to a fort in Greenbrier to defend it against the Indians. Around September of 1780 David was drafted as a militiaman in Captain Robert Cravens Company. His company was marched to Hillsborough, North Carolina where they joined forces with Col. Stubblefield. From there he was marched to Cheran Hills, South Carolina, where a small party was sent down the Pee Dee River to take some small boats before they fell into the hands of the enemy. David was discharged from this second period of service in February of 1781. His last period of service during the American Revolutionary War started in July of 1781 in the service of Captain Richard Regan's Company. This company was under the command of Major Long and was at the siege of Yorktown. David was then discharged on October 20, 1781, at Yorktown, Virginia.

On January 18, 1783 in Rockingham County, Virginia, David married Sarah Hinton. Through the years that followed, 12 children were born to the couple.

In 1788 David was listed in the Vouchers in Captain John Herdman's Company Number 2 for 6 horses.

David was shown as owning 48 acres in Rockingham County in 1789 according to John Wayland's Virginia Valley Records (p. 44). In the later part of 1802, David and his brother, William, were executors of their father's estate. After the death of his father, David Junior's land holdings grew at a rapid rate: 559 acres by 1806, 863 acres by 1807 and 1,460 acres in 1816.

In 1822 Sarah, David's wife of 39 years, died at the age of 58. David was in his early 60's at the time of her death, and he never remarried.

In 1832, under the Revolutionary Claim Act, David applied for and received a pension for his service during the Revolutionary War. He received an annual pension of $22.65.

"State of Virginia and County of Rockingham, to wit:

On the 17th day of September, 1832, personally appeared before the Justices of the County Court of Rockingham now sitting, David Rolstone, a resident in the County of Rockingham and State of Virginia aged 71 years who being first duly sworn according to law, doth on his oath make the following declaration in order to obtain the benefit of the provision made by the act of Congress passed June 7th, 1832.

That he entered the service of the United States under the following named offices and served as herein stated.

That he was born in the County of Rockingham in Virginia, on the 20th of October in the year 1760 and has resided in the same place ever since, but has no record of his age, he believes the record kept by his father has been lost. In June, 1776 he was drafted into the militia service, as one of Capt. Hopkins Company and marched under Capt. John Rice to Greenbrier - when he reached the fort he had been called out to defend, the Indians had dispersed, and he was only retained a short time, he thinks he was out about fifteen days. This service was performed before he was sixteen years of age, he had been enrolled under that age, and agreed to serve against the Ind. [Indians] believing it would be received in lieu of another tour.

In September 1780, he thinks about the 20th of the month he was drafted as a militiaman under Capt. Robert Craven and Lieut. Wm. Smith, and was marched to Hillsborough, N. Carolina and joined the Head-Quarters of Col. Stubblefield of the militia at that place. From Hillsborough he marched to Cheraw Hills S. Carolina. From this place he was detached with a small part of about 18 or 20 men down the Pee Dee River to take possession of some boats and bring them up the river to prevent their falling into the hands of the enemy. After serving three months from the time of joining Head-Quarters he was discharged and returned home in February. He was not in any engagement during this term and was under the command of Genl. Green but was not immediately with his army.

Early in July 1781 he was drafted under Capt. Richard Ragan and marched through Virginia and joined headquarters below Richmond, on York or Pamunky River. After remaining at that place two or three days he was detached on a scouting party of about 200 men under the command of Major Long of the militia, and continued between Yorktown (which was then occupied by the British army), and the American army, until the latter marched to the siege of York. He served at York during the siege as was discharged on the 20th of October, the day after the capitulation of the British army, having served three months and ten or eleven days. He never received a written discharge and has no documentary evidence whatever of his service. For the proof of his services he relies on the testimony of George Argenbright who served in the same company during the siege of York - and of Andrew Huling who served in the same company in the Carolinas, who will be produced in court for this purpose.

For his character for veracity in and the belief in his revolutionary services in his neighborhood, he refers to Henry J. Gambill Esq. Clerk of this Court, Robert Gray Esq. Commonwealth Attorney, Col. David Henton one of the Justices of the Peace, Joseph Banter Esq. High Sheriff and Major Daniel Ragan son of the Capt. under whom he served, Dr. Craving and the older neighbors generally.

He hereby relinquishes every claim whatever to a pension or annuity except the present, and declares that his name is not on the pension role of the agency of any State.

Sworn to and subscribed the day and year aforesaid.

Cooks Creek Church Sessions records for December 26, 1841, show that two colored women, Edy Ralston and Mary Rolston, were admitted as members of the church. Slavery was still legal at this time, and the church records do not indicate whether these two colored women were slaves or free Negroes nor does it state from which Ralston or Rolston family they may have resided. David is known to have had at least nine slaves.

On April 21, 1849, at the age of 88 David named himself in his will as David Rolstone, Sr.. David's father had long since died and David [Junior] now assumed the title of "Senior." The will appointed son Jesse and grandson John H. Hopkins as executors. David signed by "his mark" which indicates that he may have been either blinded by cataracts or too feeble to sign his name. 17 years earlier David had signed his name to a legal document. The will also mentions son Fielding, stating that Fielding may remain on my home farm on the same terms. The will specifies that his personal slave Lydia was 'to be set free' upon his death. A codicil to this will dated April 21, 1849, mentions sons David and Benj F. Rolston. Sons Benj F. and Fielding are thought to be the same son as no evidence has been found to support that they were indeed two separate sons.

David, 88, died June 5, 1849 in Rockingham County, Virginia. He was survived by only six of his twelve children. David was buried at the New Erection Church Cemetery even though his wife is believed to have been buried at the old Cooks Creek Church Cemetery.

A flier, dated October 6, 1849, advertised the "EXECUTOR'S SALE of Negroes and other Property. Will be offered for sale at the late residence of David Ralston, dec'd., on the head of Linville Creek, On Wednesday the 17th of October, ... John H. Hopkins, Ex'or of David Ralston, dec'd." John H. Hopkins was David's grandson, son of his daughter Anna Rolston and William H. Hopkins, Sr..

Notes for Sarah Hinton:

According to research submitted to the Mormon Church, Sarah Henton was born in 1764 in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania the eighth of nine children born to John Hinton and Esther Evans. Sarah's maiden name is found as Hinton and Henton. The family moved from Pennsylvania to Rockingham County, Virginia in 1766 when Sarah was about age two.

On January 18, 1783 in Rockingham County, Virginia, Sarah married David Rolstone, Jr.. Twelve children were born to the couple.

Sarah, about 58, died in 1822 in Rockingham County, Virginia. She was survived by her husband and eleven of her twelve children. Her place of burial is uncertain, but as members of the Presbyterian church, she was probably buried in the old Cooks Creek cemetery north of Dayton. The old church and cemetery were abandoned in January of 1867 and are now covered by Silver Lake.

The March 19, 1810 will of William Rolstone names James as one of his children and co-executor. {source: August County Will Book XI, page 32}

James married Lydia Crooks on May 28, 1794 in Bourbon County, Kentucky. Twelve children are attributed to their union. By 1810 James had removed to Harrison County. Then between 1816 and 1819, John moved to Henry County, Indiana, where he was enumerated in the 1820 census. During the 1830 census of Henry County, Indiana, James and his wife were enumerated as between the ages of 60 but less than 70 years old. One child, daughter Rebecca, was living at home.

Living nearby in the 1830 census was Ebenezer Ralston, born between 1730 and 1740, with a female companion (daughter?) in the household born between 1760 and 1770. Ebenezer's relationship to James, if any, is unknown.

James Ralston filed a lawsuit (James Ralston vs. Massey Webb) in Harrison County, Kentucky. Depositions were taken from William Ralston, Sr., William Ralston, Jr., Elizabeth Ralston, Sr., Elizabeth Ralston Jr., James Rutledge (sic), and John Fisher of Augusta County, Virginia. {source: Harrison Co, KY, Order Book A, Abstracts, August 1794-1800, September 1800, Book A, page 432.}

The March 19, 1810 will of William Rolstone names James as one of his children. {source: August County Will Book XI, page 32} The will does not identify the residence of any of his children.

James, about age 65, died July 2, 1833 in Henry County, Indiana, probably from cholera during the epidemic of 1833. James's place of burial is unknown.

Probate Court records for Henry County, Indiana, record: Ralston, James; 20 July 1833; Richard Ralston, executor. His death is recorded in Probate Court Book A, pages 125, 193, 206, 208, 220, 224 and his heirs are recorded on pages 153 and 220.

Eleanor and James had four children while residing in Augusta County. [Note: Information on the descendants of Eleanor and James Rutledge from Shantrell Ritter.] In addition to these four children, two sons, William Richard and his younger brother John, are said to have been born to the couple.

Matthew Rolston appears in the 1800 Tax List for Augusta County, Virginia. He was taxed only for himself and his horses. His tax was assessed on April 17th, the same day as his father, William Rolston. This suggests that Matthew was either living with his father or was living close by.

The March 19, 1810 will of William Rolstone names Matthew as one of his children. {source: August County Will Book XI, page 32} The will does not note where any of the children resided.

On April 8, 1801 in Madison County, Kentucky, Matthew married Mary Zarilda Galloway. Ten children are attributed to their union; one son had died prior to the 1820 census. The family removed to Barren County, Kentucky. Matthew, his wife, and two of their younger children were enumerated there in the 1850 census:

Matthew Ralston	Head	M	79	Virginia (Farmer)
Mary Ralston	Wife	F	72	Virginia

John Ralston	Son	M	28	Kentucky (Farmer)

Matthew is believed to have died in 1854 in Barren County, Kentucky, during the cholera epidemic. His place of burial is unknown.

[According to the research of Louise Ralston Brown, who had different parentage for Matthew, he resided in Barren County, Kentucky, next to his brother Joseph. She says that they both appear on a tax list in the late 1780's in Warren County, Kentucky. The area in which they lived in eastern Warren County became part of the newly formed Barren County in 1798.]

Notes for Mary Zerilda Galloway:

Mary was born in Virginia {source: 1850 census of Barren Co., Ky.} Known as Polly.

Notes for Samuel Ralston:

Samuel Ralston was born between 1766 and 1771 in Augusta County, Virginia, one of ten children born to Samuel Rolston and Agnes Hall. His date of birth is based on being at least 16 years of age when the 1787 Tax List was taken.

Samuel married Anna Curry on September 10, 1811 in Augusta County, Virginia. Samuel and his wife removed to Bullpasture Valley in Pendleton County, Virginia. He first appears in records there in 1815 but is believed to have moved to the region prior to 1813. The Augusta County list of land owners for 1815 lists Samuel Rolston as an heir to land on Mossey Creek, 14 miles north of the Staunton Court House. This is the land of his father. Samuel was listed as an heir to his father's estate, receiving 1/10 share. His residence was listed as Pendleton County, Virginia. {source: Augusta County, Virginia, Deed Book 48, Page 553, January 21, 1826} This region of Pendleton County would become Highland County in 1847. Samuel remained in Highland County until his death.

As Samuel did not appear along with his wife in the 1850 census of Highland County, he is presumed to have been deceased at that time. Some place his death in 1840 in Pendleton County. His place of burial is unknown.

Notes for Anna Curry:

Anna Curry was born about 1790 in Pendleton (now Highland) County, Virginia. Her parentage is not known. She may be the Anna Curry, born September 25, 1789 in Highland County, Virginia, to James Curry and Margaret Francis.

By 1815 they had removed to Bullpasture Valley located northwest of McDowell in then Pendleton county. They remained in the area of Pendleton that would become Highland County in 1847. Anna's husband died there sometime before 1850. In the 1850 and 1860 census Anna was living with Josiah, her sixth child. Because of her husband's service during the War of 1812, Anna received a widow's pension. In 1870 Anna was residing in Stonewall Township in Highland County. She was 81 years of age.

Ann died sometime after the 1870 census and prior to the 1880 census, probably in Highland County where she had been residing for many years. Her place of burial is unknown.

On February 11, 1830 in Washington County, Tennessee, Margaret, about age 17, married James L. Patrick. The couple was enumerated later that same year in neighboring Greene County, Tennessee.

Notes for James L. Patrick:

James L. Patrick was born between 1800 and 1810, perhaps in Tennessee.

On February 11, 1830 in Washington County, Tennessee, James married Margaret Rolston. The couple was enumerated in the 1830 census of Greene County, Tennessee; Greene and Washington were neighboring counties. James was age 20<30, and his wife was age 15<20 years old. His wife Margaret was about 18 years old.

Buried in the Longview Cemetery in Knoxville, Knox County, Tennessee, is the grave of James Patrick, born 1808 and died January 18, 1891. The 1870 census of District 6 of Washington County, Tennessee enumerated Martha Salts, age 56 and William Salts, age 13 (born about 1857). As William was not enumerated with the couple in 1860, he was probably a grandson of her late husband's.

Moses Rolston was born sometime after 1766 in Augusta County, Virginia, one of ten children born to Samuel Rolston and Agnes Hall.

On February 21, 1805 in Rockingham County, Virginia, Moses Rolston married Margaret Bell. The couple removed to Tennessee, where eight children are attributed to their union.

Moses is thought to have resided in numerous counties over the years and making his living as a subscription school teacher. There is, however, a Moses Matthew Roulston residing in the same region and some of the facts on these two Moses's may have become co-mingled by researchers.

Moses was listed as an heir to his father's estate, receiving 1/10 share. His residence was listed as Washington, Tennessee. {source: Augusta County, Virginia, Deed Book 48, Page 553, January 21, 1826}

On November 20, 1792 in Rockingham County, David married Susanah Matthews. Eight children were born to their union. Sometime after their marriage the couple removed to Kentucky. David was one of five brothers who moved west into Kentucky and Tennessee. David and his brother Mathew resided in Christian County, Kentucky. They both, along with their families, were enumerated during the 1810 census of Christian County:

	Male					Female

In November of 1816 Susanah, David's wife of 24 years, died at the age of 41. Six years later, on August 3, 1822, in Christian County, Kentucky, David, age 45, married Marcy Griffin, age 21. Four children are known to have been born to the couple, but three of the children died early in life.

Of the four children from his second wife, only daughter, Mrs. Susannah Shanklin, survived.

Notes for Susanah Matthews:

Susanah "Susan" Matthews was born in March of 1775 in North Carolina, the daughter of Robert Matthews. Her place of birth is based on Susanah's youngest daughter, Lucinda, who during the 1880 census, stated that her mother was born in North Carolina. However Lucinda may have been referring to her stepmother and not her biological mother.

On November 20, 1792 in Rockingham County, Virginia, Susanah married David Rolston. Consent for the marriage was given by Henry Black, grandfather of Susan, and the marriage was witnessed by John and Alice Black. John Black provided the bond for the marriage. He is likely a brother or uncle. The census showed them with seven living children, one son and six daughters. Other children may have been born after that date.

On August 3, 1822 in Christian County, Kentucky, Marcy, age 21, married the widower David Rolston, age 45. David had seven children from his first wife, and some would have still been living at home at the time of their marriage. Marcy and David are known to have had three children together. Their first known child was born in 1828, eight years into their marriage. Their second known child was born about 1837, nearly ten years later. With such lengthy gaps between these dates, other children may have been born but did not survive to be recorded. Of the three known children, their first known child died in 1839 and the third child died in 1840. In the 1850 census of Christian County, Kentucky, Marcy's mother Martha, age 80, was living with her and her husband. Of their children, only Virginia, age 13, was found living at home. In the 1880 census Marcy was residing with the widow, Mrs. G. L. Craig, age 26. Marcy was listed as mother-in-law but was more likely the grandmother.

Marcy remained in Christian County where she died on Christmas Eve, December 24, 1891, at the age of 90. She was buried in the Shanklins Cemetery in Fairview, Christian County, Kentucky where she had buried her husband 35 years earlier. Her tombstone lists her as Margy W. wife of David Rolston.

According to the "Ralston - Ludwig Family Tree" published by Beverly K. Ralston in 2004, there are nine children associated with Mathew, but which child was born from which wife has not been determined. It should be noted that the Ralston - Ludwig Family Tree has Matthew as the son of William Rolstone and Elizabeth, and not as the son of Samuel Rolston and Agnes Hall. A number of the children, if not all, removed to Illinois.

Proposed children of Matthew Rolston (unknown birth order):

- Matthew Rolston, Jr., b. date unknown, d. date unknown.
- Rebecca Rolston ( b. about 1818 Ill., d. date unknown) married Archibal H. Allen on August 10, 1839 in Madison Co, IL.

- Edward S. Rolston ( b., bet. 1808-1810 in Todd County, Ky., d. date unknown) married Sally Murphy on January 12, 1824 in Christian County, Ky.. [may have been Todd County and not Christian County]. He and his wife were enumerated in the 1830 census of Todd County, Kentucky with one daughter under the age of 5.
- James Rolston (b. abt 1808?, d. date unknown) married Raney McNail on May 11, 1831 in Greene Co., Ill.

Notes for Jenny Shanklin:

Jenny Shanklin was born about 1782, probably in Virginia. Her parentage is unknown.

On March 21, 1799 in Rockingham County, Virginia, Jenny married Matthew Rolston (Sr.). The couple removed to Kentucky where three or more children were born to their union.

Jenny, about age 26, died about 1808 in Kentucky. Her place of burial is unknown.

Matthew Rolston Sr. and Jenny Shanklin had the following children:

- i. (SON)<sup>f</sup> ROLSTON was born about 1799.

Notes for (son) Rolston:

This Rolston son was born about 1799 either in Virginia or Kentucky, the eldest known child born to Mathew Rolston and Jenny Shanklin. He likely had one or more younger siblings. His mother died sometime prior to or in 1808, and his father remarried. The family was enumerated during the 1810 census of Christian County, Kentucky:

Mathew, age 26-45, is shown with his wife, age 45+, and five children: 1 son, age 0<10, one son, age 10<16, and 3 daughters, ages 0<10.

This Rolston son was enumerated in the 10<16 age group.

Census before 1850 listed only the head of the family by name. In 1819 this area of Christian County became part of the newly formed Todd County.

This son, or perhaps a brother, may be the Edward Rolston who married Sally Murphy on January 15, 1824 in Todd County, Kentucky. Edward S. Rolston was enumerated in the 1930 census of Todd County, Kentucky in the age group 20<30 with his wife, also in the same age group. They had one child, a daughter under the age of five.

Another proposal is Edward S. "Ned" Rolston (1800-1886), who married Rebeca Ann Helms (1832-1916), on July 9, 1865 in Cooper County, Missouri.

- ii. (DAUGHTER) ROLSTON was born before 1808.

Notes for (daughter) Rolston:

It has been proposed that this child was Nancy Rolston (1806-1849) who married Joseph Hawkins (1796-1851) in July of 1824 in Todd County, Kentucky.

- iii. UNKNOWN ROLSTON was born before 1808.

Notes for Nancy Ellen Jones:

Nancy Ellen Jones was born about 1780 in Virginia. Her parentage is unknown. She is presumed to have move to Kentucky with her parents.

On October 27, 1808 in Christian County, Kentucky, Nancy married the widower Matthew Rolston (Sr.). Five children are attributed to their union. The family removed to Madison County, Illinois, enumerated there in 1840. Her husband died there in 1840.

Oral family history suggests that she remarried after her husband's death.

Nancy is said to have died in 1855. Her place of death and burial are unknown. [There was a Nancy Rolston who died in 1854 in Illinois, but she was the widow of an Isaac Rolston.]

Matthew Rolston Sr. and Nancy Ellen Jones had the following children:

This area of Augusta County became Botetourt County in 1770. Moses spent his childhood in Virginia, where he grew to adulthood. Some claim his given name was George.

There are a few county records that show his presence. On the 1787 Tax List for Botetourt County, Virginia, Moses was listed as being between the ages of 16 and 21. His taxes were paid by his father, Matthew. On November 11, 1789, records from Botetourt County show Moses placed under bond to keep the peace. Moses left Virginia sometime after 1789 and moved west to Tennessee with his father.

On April 13, 1791 in Greene County, Tennessee, Moses, about age 25, married Susannah White. Susannah died about 1800, leaving Moses with four young daughters. His father also died about 1800. The biography of her father, Moses Matthew Roulston, said she married James Cook. There is a marriage record in Blount County, Tennessee, dated August 19, 1846 between Mary Rolston and James Cook. Nothing is known of the couple or children that may have been born from their union. They were not enumerated in the 1850 census.

Eight years later Elizabeth was living in Indian Creek in Putnam County.

Anne, 65, died June 18, 1835 at her home in Indian Creek, Putnam County, Tennessee, and was buried in a now unmarked grave in the William Jared Cemetery in Buffalo Valley, Putnam County, Tennessee. On December 6, 1792 in Jefferson County, Tennessee, Capt. Jared married Anne Elizabeth Roulston. Nine children were born to the couple. William preceded his wife in death on September 22, 1827 in the area that would become Cookeville, Putnam County, Tennessee, in 1854. William Jared, the older brother of Joseph Jackson Jared, came to Tennessee in 1796 and settled on Indian Creek near Buffalo Valley on land given him for his service during the Revolution. Four years earlier he had married Elizabeth Ralson in Bedford County, Virginia. He may have influenced his brother to follow him into the area.

William, 69, died September 27, 1827 in what is now Cookeville, Putnam County, Tennessee and was buried in the Jared Family Cemetery, now called Capt. William Jared Cemetery, located near the old homestead on Indian Creek Road. {source: "Siftings from Putnam County, Tennessee", by Mary Hopson.} The cemetery is/was located on Robert Shanks farm.

Patty was named as an heir in 1800 will of her maternal grandfather, Matthew Rolstone. Whether Patty is this Martha "Patsy" Jared is uncertain.

She was born on 27 Mar 1782 in Charleston, Charleston Co., S.C.. She died on 12 May 1870 in Marion Co., Tenn. (age 88).

Notes for James J. Roulston:

Col. James J. Rolstone/Roulston was born June 16, 1778 in the section of Augusta County, Virginia, that would later become Botetourt County. James was the fifth of six children born to Matthew Rolstone and Martha "Polly" Moore. About 1792 when James was fourteen, his father moved the family to Jefferson County, Tennessee.

In Tennessee the surname became corrupted to Roulston. Most of James' children used the Roulston surname, but a few used the Raulston spelling of the surname.

James was active in politics. In 1801 at the young age of 23, James became a delegate to Knoxville, then the capital of Tennessee.

On January 1, 1802 in Jefferson County, Tennessee, James married Jane Simmons. Fourteen children, three daughters and eleven sons, were born to their union. Soon after their marriage, the couple moved to Chestnut Mount in then Jackson County of Tennessee, where he and Mark Young opened and ran an inn called Raulston's Stand. They operated several other enterprises as well. Among these were a powder mill, distillery, and a large farm. His partner Mark Young married James' younger sister, Ruth.

In 1808, James moved his family to Sequachee Valley in Jackson County, Tennessee, where the family purchased some 1,000 acres of land. In 1809, James was commissioned as a Lieutenant Colonel and made commandant of the 18th Regiment of Jackson County. The regiment fought against the Creek Indians in the Great Bend of Tennessee. In 1812, James was again called into military service and placed in command of the 3rd Regiment of Tennessee. Now Colonel Raulston, James served under General William Carroll in the Battle of New Orleans.

In 1813 James had his brother William act as his attorney in the sale of land in Jefferson County, Tennessee, that he had inherited from his father.

In 1816 James became the Sheriff of Jackson County and served a term of at least one year. In 1817 when the boundaries for the State of Alabama were surveyed, it was discovered that James' house set on the boundary for Alabama and Tennessee. James moved his bedroom to the Alabama side of his house and became a legal resident of the State of Alabama. After doing so, he ran for the Alabama State Legislature and served from 1826-1828.

According to J. Leonard Raulston in his book, The Raulstons and The Part They Played in American History, James was a close personal friend to President Andrew Jackson. "Many times [James] Roulston and his wife were invited to the Hermitage as President Jackson's guests." {p. 15} The Roulston family was also close to the Beene family. This is evident by the numerous marriages between the children of these two families.

James, 66, died August 7, 1844 in Marion County, Tennessee, and was buried as Col. James Roulston in the Dorans Cove Cemetery in Jackson County, Alabama.

Several of the male children born to James and Jane died in their early 50's, and it is speculated that there was hereditary heart disease within the family. James was survived by his wife and all but one of his fourteen children. Son Moses had died in 1827 at the age of 14.

Notes for Jane Simmons:

Jane Simmons was born March 27, 1782 in Charleston, Charleston County, South Carolina, the daughter of Robert Simmons and Anne Miller. She was known as Jennie. Her father had been a lieutenant during the Revolution. It is not known when she or her family moved to Tennessee.

On January 18, 1802 in Knoxville, Knox County, Tennessee, Jane married James J. Roulston. The couple would live in Jackson and Marion Counties of Tennessee. Fourteen children were born to the couple. Her husband James preceded her in death on August 7, 1844 at the age of 66. Her sons took over running the family farm. At the time of the 1850 census son Sampson was running the family farm. Other than Sampson, her son Napoleon was the only other child still living at home. Living with the family was a young mulatto women named Lucinda and her child. There is no notation that she was a slave and is assumed to be a free woman.

Jane, 88, died May 12, 1870 in Marion County, Tennessee and joined her husband in the Bean-Roulston Cemetery in Sweten's Cove, Marion County, Tennessee. Besides her husband, four of her children had preceded her in death and two others died that same year.

About 1804 in Tennessee, Ruth married Mark Young. Ruth and her husband lived in Buffalo Valley of then Jackson County where nine children were born. In the 1840 census of the 13th District of Jackson Count, Ruth and her husband appear with some of their children, perhaps one or more of their children's spouses and grandchildren. The family also owned 5 slaves. Besides Ruth and Mark, listed were: 2 males 5-10 (these are believed to be grandsons Samuel and Clinton Cameron), 1 male 10-15 (son Marley), 2 males 20-30, 1 female 15-20 (daughter Ruth), 1 female 20-30. The three individuals in the 20-30 age brackets can not be positively identified. The two males 20-30 may have been sons James and John as they are both found living at home during the 1850 census.

In 1842 Buffalo Valley became a part of the newly formed Putnam County, but the county was declared illegal and dissolved in 1845 where upon it returned to being Jackson County. Ruth and her husband were enumerated during the 1850 census of Jackson County, both being 70 years of age. Sons James and John were living with them. Also among the family members were Samuel and Clinton Camron, grandsons from their deceased daughter Patsey.

The area where the family lived once again became Putnam County in 1854 but, it is not known if Ruth was still living at that time. Ruth died sometime after the 1850 census. Her place of death and burial are unknown.

Notes for Mark Young:

Mark Young was born January 8, 1780 in Essex County, Virginia, the fifth child born to William Young and Elizabeth Huff. This area became Smith County in 1799. In 1801 this same area became Jackson County.

About 1804 in Tennessee, Mark married Ruth Roulston and, the couple had eight children. In 1840 Mr. Young was enumerated with 5 slaves. The family lived and farmed in Buffalo Valley that was still Jackson County at that time. In 1842 the area became the newly formed county of Putnam, but it was declared illegal and reverted back to Jackson County in 1845. Mark was a farmer but, at one time, Mark and his brother-in-law, James Roulston, ran an Inn at Chestnut Mount, Tennessee. Mark, his wife, several children, and grandchildren were residing in the 13th District of Jackson County during the 1850 census. The area where they resided became Putnam County once again in 1854. Mark's wife Ruth died sometime after the 1850 census.

Mark, 77, died February 8, 1857 in Putnam County, Tennessee. His place of burial is unknown.

On April 15, 1867 Mark's property was distributed to "... S. Anderson, State of Tenn, Putnam Co. To Moses Jared Esq. In 1843 in Tennessee, Peter married Mary "Polly" Price. They do not appear to have had children. In the 1860 census of Putnam County they are enumerated with one male child: W. W. age 11. However the next census indicates that W. W. was not their son. In the 1870 census, residing with Peter and his wife, was Wm. W. This homestead she and her husband, Nathan Ralston settled upon and improved shortly after they came to this county, which dates back to July 12, 1837.

TANDY ALLEN PASSES AWAY

With heartfelt sorrow we note the passing away of one of Lucas county's oldest and best known residents, Mr. Tandy Allen, of Russell, which occurred last Friday at his home in that city after an extended illness with the infirmities of old age. About seventy years of his life had been spent in this county, and he had a wide acquaintance and was esteemed by all for his many sterling attributes.

The last sad rites were held at the Presbyterian church in Russell on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and were conducted by Rev. Peter Bok, assisted by a former pastor, Rev. W. L. Cain of Creston. A large concourse of relatives and friends assembled at that time to pay their last tribute of respect to this good man, and the many floral tributes were mute testimony to the regard in which he was held, as well as sympathy for the bereaved ones. At the conclusion of the services the remains were laid to rest in the Russell cemetery.

Tandy Allen, son of Robert and Mary Alison Allen, was born near Mt. Sterling, Montgomery county, Ky., on June 3, 1832, and departed this life at the family home in Russell, June 24, 1922, having attained the ripe age of ninety years and twenty-one days. He was the seventh of eleven children, only one of whom, Mrs. Margaret McKee, of Russell, survives him.

At the age of six years he was taken to Putnam county, Ind., where they made their home on a farm near Greencastle during his boyhood. In 1852 he came on horseback with two cousins to Lucas county, Iowa and "entered" the land that formed the nucleus of the farm on which he spent most of his life.

Four years later he returned to Indiana and at New Winchester was married to Joanna S. Van Nice on January 29, 1856, and for more than 66 years he shared the joys and sorrows of wedded life with this faithful companion, who is still living in the home at Russell, to which they removed from the farm in 1900.

Twelve children were born to this union, eleven of whom are living and were privileged to visit him in the last days of his illness and to be present at the funeral, the twelfth, Eliza M. Cassity, having preceded him in death on January 1, 1897. Thirty grandchildren and five great-grandchildren were a source of pride and comfort to him in the declining days.

He was one of the first trustees and a generous contributor to the Presbyterian church at LaGrange, one of the first churches organized in Lucas county, of which he was a member.

Mrs. Van Nice was beloved by all who knew her and during her long residence in this county won the admiration of all with whom she came in contact. A grand, noble woman has gone to her reward. ### SAMUEL NOAH VAN NICE

Samuel Noah Van Nice was born March 10th, 1833, at Winchester, Hendricks county, Indiana, and died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. Littleton, December 14th, 1916, at the age of 83 years, 8 months and 4 days.

He was married September 5th, 1855, to Miss Mary Allen, who preceded him to the Heavenly Home only four months and three days ago. Nine children were born to them, two daughters dying in infancy. Those surviving are Frank, Thomas, Lester and Mrs. Emma Littleton, all of Russell; Mrs. Hattie Sells, of Sidney; Henry Albert, of Largo, Florida, and Mrs. Florence Pedigo, of Norwood. They were all with him during his sickness and death except for the son in Florida, distance preventing him from being present.

His patience, cheerfulness and kindly thoughtfulness for others was remarked upon by all who aided in caring for him during his illness. Even until the last few hours before his passing he had a pleasant word for all. He is mourned by children, grandchildren, other relatives and a host of friends.

When a youth, he united with the Cumberland Presbyterian church of New Winchester, Indiana, of which church his father and mother were charter members, as they had also been of the historic "Mud Cumberland Presbyterian church" in Mercer county, Kentucky. This was a country church, organized in pioneer days in 1826, as the outcome of one of the famous "Kentucky Revivals." The building acquired the name because it was built of logs and plastered outside and in with mud. He came from a pious ancestry.

When Samuel came to make his home in Iowa with some friends and neighbors from the Indiana settlement, he found Lucas county a wilderness, to be redeemed for civilization. He felt the same ardent love for the church and its influence and sought to plant them here. Himself and wife, Elijah Allen and wife, Jonathan Payne, and some others to the number of about twenty, became charter members of the LaGrange Cumberland Presbyterian church, a church for which, until his dying hour, he cherished with a tender regard.

He was superintendent of the Sunday school and elder until he removed to Russell. Here, he was also chosen elder and held that honorable and responsible office in one or the other of the churches for almost sixty years.

Kindly, sympathetic, and just in all his dealings with men, and devoted to the cause of his Master, it is no wonder that his loss is deplored and his memory cherished by all who have known him. His last hours were full of peace and instead of fearing death, he was anxious to be gone to meet his Saviour and the dear wife so recently departed, who had been his loving companion for more than sixty years. Though dead, his influence has not ceased.

The funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church at Russell at 1:30 p.m., on Saturday, December 16th, Rev. J. B. Chase, of LaGrange, officiating, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Russell cemetery.

He served for a while as justice of the peace for Adams County. In 1832 Ralston was a private in Capt. William G. Flood's Company of Mounted Riflemen during the Black Hawk (Sauk-Fox) War. He was mustered out of service on Aug. 14, 1832 and later that year married Jane Alexander. In August 1836, he was elected to represent Adams County in the lower house of the Tenth General Illinois Assembly, a body whose members included Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas. On January 14, 1837, he was elected judge of the Fifth Judicial Circuit. In 1839, he presided as judge in the Carthage, IL murder trial of Ephraim Fraim defended by Abraham Lincoln; the only murder trial Lincoln lost. He held this post until he resigned in August 1839 to pursue his private practice.

He became the attorney for Mormon leader, Joseph Smith, Jr. In 1840 Ralston, a Democrat was elected state senator for the Twelfth Illinois General Assembly. In 1841, he made an unsuccessful bid for U. S. Congress. In 1845, he unsuccessfully prosecuted the murderers of Joseph Smith. In the Mexican War, he was appointed assistant quartermaster general of Illinois Volunteers, with the rank of captain. He was ordered to join Gen. John E. Wool's column in Texas and arrived in San Antonio on October 13, 1846. After accompanying a wagon train to the Rio Grande, Ralston returned to San Antonio, where he relieved Captain Wall as quartermaster. Under Ralston's supervision, the United States Army moved into the ruins of the Alamo and began repairs so that the old mission might serve as offices and a depot for the quartermaster's department. The rebuilt Long Barracks was used as offices for Ralston and his clerk, Sgt. Edward Everett. The chapel was cleared and plans were drawn for the mission chapel restoration to its current appearance. Ralston was instrumental in organizing the Alamo Masonic Lodge on December 1, 1847.

In November 1848, he was relieved of his duties at San Antonio. He traveled to Washington with Everett to close his office account books. After discharge on March 3, 1849, he returned briefly to Quincy and in 1850 traveled overland to Sacramento, California. In 1852, he was elected the Democratic representative of Sacramento County to the California Senate. In 1853, he was appointed a CA delegate to the New York exposition where he married his second wife, Harriet Newell Jackson. Ralston did not run for reelection in 1854, but in 1856, he was a candidate on the Democratic ticket for chief justice of the state supreme court. By that time, however, the Democrats no longer dominated California politics, and Ralston lost, along with most other Democratic candidates for statewide office. He subsequently moved to Virginia City, Nevada, where he continued his political and legal career. It was here he first met Samuel Clemens, Mark Twain. In 1863, he was a representative to the first Nevada constitutional convention. Clemens wrote a parody about the convention, remarking about Judge Ralston's demeanor. The next year the Judge moved to Austin, Lander County, Nevada, where he continued his legal practice.

Ralston disappeared while traveling from Austin to his ranch in Smoky Valley during the first week in May 1864. Somehow, he became disoriented in the desert. His body was found by Shoshone Indians, who cremated it. A search party retrieved the remains, including a burnt pocket watch and eyeglasses and conveyed them back to Austin, where he was laid to rest. The watch and eyeglasses were given to the Nevada State Historical Society by his second wife. The area in Nevada where Ralston died was subsequently named Ralston's Desert.

The following was written by a journalist for the Nevada State Journal in 1952:

"It was a beautiful sunny May Day of 1864, when Judge James Harvey [sic] Ralston rode out from his home in Austin, and headed for his ranch 'about 40 miles away.' He was a prominent man in pioneer Nevada, as he had been back in Illinois, where he had been a District Judge, succeeding Stephen A. Douglas. He had also been a state senator, a quartermaster in the army, and in 1850 served in the California State Senate. In 1863 he had moved to Austin, Nevada after serving in the Nevada Territorial Legislature. He also helped draft the Nevada State Constitution, and served as a probate judge.

The first night out, the judge camped under the stars, and in the morning his horse suddenly ran away. He continued his short journey on foot, but soon, for some unexplained reason, he became confused, and then panicky. He was in the midst of a dry desert some nine miles wide and 40 to 50 miles long (which now bears his name, the Ralston Desert). For eight days he staggered over rocks, sagebrush, and alkali, often doubling back on his tracks. He covered 250 desperate miles and crossed several mountain ranges, getting weaker and weaker. Back in Austin, his family and friends became alarmed at his absence. On May 20, a search party was organized and set forth with an Indian tracker. They soon located a band of Paiutes who reported they had seen the judge's tracks, and the search party was soon on the trail. They hurriedly covered 100 miles, finding where the judge had camped at night, where he had dug for roots, eaten cactus, and wandered in a daze. In one place where he had found pine nuts, his tracks clearly indicated his regained strength for a while. By this time the search party was low on water and was compelled to return for supplies and reinforcements. Returning in a few days, the new party now found the tracks wandered in circles. Then they located an Indian and squaw in the desert who reported they had seen the judge, and he appeared to have been demented. He had refused their attempts to help him, and the next morning had been found dead. Afraid to tell the white people for fear they would be accused of causing his death, the Indians had burned the body, preserving his money. The search party dim quickly found the body as described by the Indian couple, and returned it to Austin for a Masonic burial."

The Austin Star reported the following on May 6, 1864:

"His body upon its arrival in town was taken in charge by his brother Masons, of which order he had attained the rank of Knight Templar. At an early hour yesterday, the members of the legal fraternity met at the court house and resolved to attend in a body the funeral of the honored deceased. The procession formed in front of the court house at one o'clock and, headed by the Austin brass band, followed by the Masons in regalia, members of the bar, firemen, hearse, the family of the deceased, citizens on horseback and in carriages, the cortege marched to the cemetery. This was the most imposing funeral that has yet occurred in Austin. The worth, position and high esteem, the melancholy circumstances attending the death of Judge Ralston, gave a solemn and universal interest to the occasion. After the interment the procession returned, marching to a lively tune, to the court house, and dispersed."

father was assigned to the Baptist Church. It was in Quincy where her mother died in 1849 and she first met attorney, judge, and IL legislator James H. Ralston [1807-1864], 21 years her senior. Judge Ralston had just returned to his hometown after being discharged from the Army as a Captain and Quartermaster serving in the Mexican American War at the Alamo Mission in San Antonio. In 1850, Ralston traveled to California, settling in Sacramento, and in 1852 the three members of the Jackson family moved from Quincy to Richmond, Staten Island, NY where Rev. Jackson was assigned to the North Baptist Church.

Harriet and James stayed in touch and in the summer of 1853 Judge Ralston traveled by ship, via the Nicaraguan Isthmus, to New York as one of two appointed delegates from California to the Exhibition of the Industry of All Nations, a World's Fair, held at the Crystal Palace. On October 20, 1853, Rev. Jackson presided at the wedding of James and Harriet at the North Baptist Church. The Ralstons returned to Sacramento the day after their marriage and where, in 1857, their son Jackson Harvey Ralston [1857-1945] was born. A year later the Ralstons had a daughter, Mary Aurora "Rory", who died from scarlet fever, January 31, 1869 in Ithaca, NY.

In late 1860, the Ralstons moved from Sacramento to Virginia City, Storey County, NV where Judge Ralston was again active for a time in politics and the law. In 1863 the family moved to Austin, Lander County, NV. In On April 30, 1864, Judge Ralston became disoriented and lost on a trip from the family home to their small ranch 16 miles south southeast of Austin on Birch Creek and died 10 days later in the desert.

Harriet and the children returned for a time to Virginia City where they lived with her sister, Mary Amelia, who married attorney Thomas Sunderland in 1855, the first law partner of Judge Ralston in Sacramento. In 1868 Harriet and Aurora lived with Harriet's father in Oyster Bay, Long Island, NY, while Jackson was in school in San Francisco. After Aurora's death, Jackson joined his mother in Waverly, NY then they both moved to Rochester, NY in 1871 where Jackson was a printer's apprentice. They then moved to Washington D. C. in 1873 where Jackson was employed as a clerk in the government printing office, and a year later, Harriet as a copyist in the U. S. Attorney General's office, a job she held for nearly 20 years. Harriet would remain close to her son in the Hyattsville, MD and D. C. until her death in 1920. After graduating from Georgetown University Law School in 1876, Jackson went on to become a noted international and tax lawyer. For most of her married life, Harriet enjoyed the fine arts to the extent her location allowed and later in life she became a noted published poet. Her works included "Centennial Ode", "Fatherless Joe: A Christmas Story", "Decoration Day", "The Spectral Feast", "Columbus and Isabella...", and "The White Cross of Savoy" for which she received a note of appreciation from King Humbert of Italy.

Notes for Opal Viola Ralston:

Viola Opal Ralston, later known as Opal Viola Ralston, was born October 20, 1885 in Farmland, Randolph County, Indiana, to the Quaker family of John Wesley Ralston and Mary Delpina Branson. She was the couple's only child. Viola's father was previously married and widowed, and from that union, Viola had three half-brothers and one half-sister. One of the half-brother's had died before she was born.

After her mother's death in 1890, Viola was sent to live in Troy, Miami County, Ohio, with her childless uncle and aunt, John Finley (1854-1926) and Viola D. Branson Helvie (1864-1938). As early as 1894 she was called Opal, likely to avoid coming when her Aunt Viola was summoned. In Troy she completed a course of study at the local high school, then she attended Western College for Women in Oxford, Ohio, where she was a member of the college glee club and graduating with a degree in music in early June of 1909.

Opal spent a few years teaching, then she arrived in New York City where, by 1918, she was a field representative for the Playground and Recreation Association of America headquartered in that city and resided at a boarding house in White Plains, New York. Her position required her to travel to many smaller towns where she assisted various local committees in their planning for recreational attractions and parks. In 1928 she returned for a brief time to Dayton, then Opal went west to San Francisco. She lived at a boarding house near the corner of Webster and Pacific streets and spent three years working as a salesperson with the investment brokerage firm, Schwambacher and Co. She was elected president of the newly formed San Francisco chapter of the Western College Alumni Association in 1929 and in 1930, Opal was asked by Palo Alto Attorney, Jackson H. Ralston, her future husband, to assist in editing his book, "What's wrong with taxation?". When the Schwambacher brothers moved their headquarters to Seattle, she went to Washington state.

In 1933, Opal responded to an advertisement, placed by the American Red Cross, promising college educated women the opportunity to supervise members of their staff in helping the less fortunate of the area. She was immediately hired, though the area she was assigned was 150 miles east of Seattle in the small scenic mountain town of Wenatchee, Washington. In 1934, she returned to the Bay Area and was a student at the University of California, at Berkeley, where she lived on Haste Street adjacent to the campus. In 1935, after completing her studies in social work, she accepted a position as a supervisor with the city of Vallejo's County Emergency Relief Administration, the social welfare branch of the city government. She was active in the community and was a member of the city's recreation commission where her previous experiences gained her respect and admiration. In May of 1938 she was saddened by the news of her aunt's death. Aunt Viola had served as a surrogate mother and confidant during her formative years and Opal deeply felt the loss of her passing and she immediately arranged to attend the funeral. She was named the sole beneficiary of her aunt's small estate.

On Jackson Harvey Ralston's 80th birthday, February 6, 1937, Sara Burns Rankin "Birdie"

At Deaths Door

Mr. W. H. Ralston Struck Down at the Supper Table
Three Bad Shocks of Paralysis

One of the oldest and wealthiest residents of Leavenworth hopelessly ill on South Broadway -- A brief sketch of the life of the unfortunate gentleman

On Friday afternoon about 6 o'clock Mr. W. H. Ralston was stricken with paralysis at the table at his home on South Broadway. In a few minutes he had another stroke and in a short time a third. He was placed in bed and was helpless and nearly unconscious all day yesterday. At a late hour it was decided that there was no hope for recovery. He was an early settler in Leavenworth and is one among those who are considered wealthy. He was born in Kentucky, October 12, 1819. When a young man, he removed to Quincy, Ill., where he practiced law with his brother, Judge [James Hervey] Ralston.

After a few years he removed to Warsaw, Ill., and in 1856 he came to Leavenworth county where he spent a large portion of his time on a farm and the balance of the time at Quincy where he had some property. His wife Mrs. M. E. [Martha Elizabeth Dodd] Ralston is known by almost everybody in this city. His son J. H. [James Hervey], or as he was known, Harvey Ralston, lives in Rialto, Cal. His daughters are Mrs. H. L. Clark and Mrs. Wm. Dill of Leavenworth and Mrs. Geo. T. Nelles of Denver, Col. The absent son and daughter have been telegraphed for.

Mr. W. H. Ralston built the house now occupied by Judge Crozier; also what is known as the Havens block; and the most of two blocks west of Second street on Delaware; he also owns the property where the Leavenworth Coal company's store is on Cherokee street, a fine residence on Broadway and 600 acres of fine land. As a politician he was a Republican until the Horace Greeley movement began. Since then he has not been decided in politics.

William Henry Ralston and Mary Esther Wood had the following children:

Notes for William Curry:

William Curry was born sometime before 1780, one of four children known to have been born to Nicholas Curry and Eleanor Rolston. He was the grandson of David Rolstone, Sr. and Ann Copeland. He was born either in Kentucky or Virginia. William may have been named after his maternal uncle, Eleanor's brother.

His father appeared in the 1800 Tax List for Fayette County, Kentucky. A William Curry also appeared on this same Tax List, but it is not known if this was William, the son of Nicholas, or another Curry family. There are other records for a William Curry. During the 1810 census, page 772, was William Curry, age 26-44 (born between 1776 and 1784), with two females born within the same time span, and two daughters age 0-9 years old (born between 1800-1810). Of the two older females, one would have been his wife, and the other older female may be his sister Ellinder. There was no listing for a William Curry in the 1820 census, but in the 1838 list of land owners for Fayette County, there appears a William Curry with 58 acres located between Athens and Richmond roads, 10 miles from the Court House at Lexington.

between 1800 and 1803 when David was still a young boy.

About 1808 in Kentucky, David married Margaret Bradburn, probably in Fayette County, Kentucky. The couple is said to have had nine children. David was enumerated in the 1810 census of Fayette County, Kentucky with his wife, their daughter, David's mother, and David's brother and sister. A David Curry was enumerated in the 1820 census of Fayette County, but it is not known if this is the same David as the ages of older males are inconsistent with the children found during the 1810 census. However, these males could be other relatives and not children of David's. 1820 census of Fayette County of a David Curry and family:

Male					Female
Under Ten	10-15	16-17	18-25	26-44	Under Ten	10-15	16-25	26-44
2	-	1	1	1	2	1	-	1

About 1836 David moved his family to Johnson County, Indiana. He was enumerated there during the 1850 census and gives his age as 60, making his year of birth about 1790. He was living with his daughter Mrs. Eleanor Parr and her husband Andrew Jackson Parr.

David is said to have died in Johnson County, Indiana in 1856.

Notes for Margaret Bradburn:

Margaret Bradburn was born about 1794, or later, the daughter of Joseph Bradburn. Her date of birth is based on the age of her husband David Ralston Curry.

1850 census of Clark Township of Johnson County, Indiana:

Margaret Curry	Female 60	Kentucky

Notes for Nancy Ann Rolston:

Nancy Ann "Mary" Rolston was born December 18, 1784 in Rockingham County, Virginia, the second of eleven children born to William Rolston and Mary Hopkins. She was about twenty years old in 1804 when her father moved the family from Rockingham County to Wood County, Virginia (now Wood County, West Virginia).

In Nancy's marriage to John Griffith on April 30, 1808 in Wood County, Virginia, her name is show as Mary Rolston and not as Nancy Ann. Census data, which does not list dates of birth nor children's names, indicates that John and Nancy had nine children. All the children were born in Wood County.

Nancy's signature appears on the 1817 deed between David Rolston & others to Archibald Rolston. (Wood Co. Deed Book 6, Page 64)

Nancy and husband John resided in Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia), until some time after the 1830 census. The family then removed to La Porte County, Indiana where Nancy's husband died sometime between 1835 and 1840. Nancy Griffith, age 50 but less than 60, was enumerated in the 1840 census of that county. Living with her were four children. Two sons, one age 10<15, and one age 15<20. There were two daughters, one age 10<15, and one 20<30. The sex and age of these children is consistant with those found in earlier censuses.

Nancy's younger brother, Nathan, recorded her death in his family Bible as October of 1857. She was 72 years old at that time. Nancy Griffith was buried in the Miriam Benedict Cemetery in Westville, La Porte County, Indiana. The tombstone (see photo) lists her as the wife of "J. Griffith", born December 23, 1784 and died October 19, 1852. Some interpret her year of death as 1857. The Bible of Nathan Rolston lists her death as October of 1857, but there may have been a transcription error.

Also found in the Miriam Benedict Cemetery in Westville, La Porte County, Indiana, along with Nancy Griffith, are: Daniel A. Griffith, died July 19, 1845, age 22 yrs, 5 mo. (born Jan. 1823), and William R. Griffith, born August 31, 1818 and died July 31, 1846, aged 27 years and 11 months. As Mrs. Griffith's father was William Rolston, it is quiet likely that she could have had a son named William Rolston Griffith; however, the birth year of William R. Griffith does not match that of any of Nancy's sons.

La Porte County's Marriage Index 1832-1850 lists the following Griffith marriages. Perhaps these are some of John & Nancy Griffith's children:

Margaret Griffith & William Campbell	June 3, 1835
Isaac Griffith & Susan Sweet	May 9, 1836
John Griffith & Sarah Herbert	Sept. 22, 1839
Warren Griffith & Catherine Prentice	Apr. 11, 1844
Jane Elizabeth Griffith & Daniel Garner	June 24 1846... Nancy's daughter
Sarah A. Griffith & Jackson Hosmer	Sept. 6, 1847... Nancy's daughter

Notes for John Griffith:

John Griffith was born between 1775 and 1780 based on the data collected during the censuses of Wood County. His place of birth and parentage are unknown; he may have been born in Kentucky. He may have been the son of Ebenezer Griffith who also resided in Wood County and appears in the county tax lists in 1807 and 1809, but there is also a David Griffith that appears even earlier.

On April 30, 1808 in Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia) John married Nancy Ann Rolston. Nine children are attributed to their union. John was a farmer, and according to the 1810 census he owned a number of slaves. He was a member of the board of managers for "The Agricultural and Manufacturing Society of Washington and Wood Counties" that was formed in 1819. John and the family appeared in the Wood County censuses from 1810 through 1830.

1810	male: <10	26<45	female: 16<26	slaves
Griffith John -	1	1	1	55

1820	male: <10	10<16	16<26	26<45	female: <10	10<16	26<45
Griffith, John	2	2	1	1	3	1	1

John appears on the 1822 tax list for Wood County. There is another John Griffith and a David Griffith on the same list. David may have been John's father. The second John appears to be a son of John and Nancy's as this John does not appear until the tax lists of 1822.

Griffith, John	1	2	1	1	1	1	-	2	1	1

The family then removed to La Porte County, Indiana.

All Township Histories in La Porte County Indiana, Chapter IX, Springfield Township:

"In 1833, the town of Springville was surveyed by Daniel M. Leaming upon the lands of Judah Leaming. During this year Gilbert Rose, Hiram Griffith, John Griffith and Erastus Quivey became settlers."

In the 1835 election in Springfield Township John Griffith ran for the office of Overseer of the Poor; he came in second. In 1837 there were several land purchases by Griffith's. John Griffith was one, but it is not known if this was John senior or his son.

John died in La Porte County, Indiana sometime before 1840.

John Griffith and Nancy Ann Rolston had the following children:

- i. (MALE)<sup>5</sup> GRIFFITH was born between 1805-1810 in Wood Co., Va. (now W.V.).

Notes for (Male) Griffith:

This male child was born between between 1805 and 1810 in Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia), the eldest of nine children known to have been born to John Griffith (Sr.) and Nancy Ann Rolston. He first appears in the 1810 census of Wood County, Virginia as a son, less than 10 years of age. He was still residing with his parents then and until the 1830 census.

The 1822 tax list of Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia) lists John Griffith.

The family removed to La Porte County, Indiana sometime between 1830 and 1833.

The La Porte County's Marriage Index 1832-1850 lists the marriage of John Griffith and Sarah Hebert on September 22, 1839. The couple does not appear in the 1840 census of La Porte County. It is uncertain if this is the same John Griffith, son of John and Nancy Griffith.

"Hello, Gordon. I noticed you are managing the information on Find-a-Grave for Sarah Griffith, originally from Wood County, Virginia. She is my great-great grandmother. I'm descended from her son Charles W. Hosmer (missing on your page). His granddaughter Ruth Decker Staring was my mother. She recently died at 101 years of age, and my sisters and I are filling in the puzzle pieces of our genealogy with Grandma Hosmer's pictures. I have one of John Griffith, who must have been Sarah's brother. OUR "Grandma Hosmer" attached a note which read "John Griffith, brother of Grandma Hosmer - died in Calif. about 1900".

If you have any information about John or others in her tree, we could use some help!
Glad for the work that you do .....

William R. Griffith is buried in the Miriam Benedict Cemetery in Westville, La Porte County, Indiana. Nancy's father was William Rolston, and this individual could have been named William Rolston Griffith after his maternal grandfather. William died July 31, 1846 at the age of 27 years and 11 months. - viii. (MALE) GRIFFITH was born between 1825-1830 in Wood Co., Va. (now W.V.).

Notes for (Male) Griffith:

This male child was born between 1825 and 1830 in Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia), the eighth of nine children born to John Griffith and Nancy Ann Rolston. The family lived in Wood County until sometime after 1830 and removed to La Porte County, Indiana by 1833. His father died sometime between 1835 and 1840. His mother, Nancy Griffith, was enumerated in the 1840 census of La Porte County with four child, two sons and two daughters. The youngest son, age ten but less than 15, was this child of John and Nancy Griffith.

The La Porte County's Marriage Index 1832-1850 lists the marriage of John Griffith and Sarah Hebert on September 22, 1839. The couple does not appear in the 1840 census of La Porte County. It is uncertain if this is the same John Griffith, son of John and Nancy Griffith.

This male child may be the John Griffith who was assumed to have been the eldest child. John, according to the oral family history, died about 1900 in California. This John may be John Ephraim Griffith, born September 1826 in West Virginia; died at the age of 77 on September 7, 1903 in Santa Clara County, California and buried in an unmarked grave in the Mission City Memorial Park in Santa Clara, Santa Clara County, California. He would have been too young to have married in 1839 as noted in the above paragraph.

On October 31, 1809 in Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia), Benjamin married Anna Dea. They began their family in Wood County. In December of 1812 Benjamin had acquired land in Walnut township, Pickaway County, Ohio. He was residing there when the War of 1812 began. Benjamin served as a private in Captain Hugh Craighton's (Creighton?) Company of the Ohio Militia. The company served from July 28-Sep 6, 1813 until 1816. [Pickaway County Ohio tax lists for 1816 records (pp. 1 & 2) Benjamin Rolston on NE 1/4 of Sec 22, Twp. 9 (Walnut Twp.) Range 21 on Turkey Run.] Benjamin and his family remained here until about 1829 when Benjamin moved the family further north. His daughter Julia, who was now married, remained in Pickaway County.

On the 23 of May, 1829, Benjamin acquired 50 acres of land on Buck Creek in Champaign County, Ohio, for $75. They lived in Champaign County for the next six years, selling the property in October of 1835. In 1836 Benjamin purchased land in Orange Township in Hancock County, Ohio. The following year he received a land grant in Orange Township for his service during the War of 1812. Benjamin remained in Hancock County until the early 1850's. On November 2, 1850 Benjamin applied for bounty land in McLean County, Illinois. Having been approved on November the 11, 1851, Benjamin sold the 44 acres of land in Orange Township to his son Benjamin for the consideration of $200 and moved to Illinois.

By 1852 Benjamin had moved west to McLean County, Illinois. His son Charles and his family were also there. In June of 1855 Benjamin applied for bounty land in Lexington, McLean County, stating he had served in the Hugh Creighton Company during the War of 1812. When they left Illinois is not known, but in 1856, Benjamin appeared in Brownville [Nemaha County] during the Nebraska Territory Census along with son Benjamin; however, his son Benjamin would continue to move westward. In 1861 Benjamin received Bounty land in Nemaha County, Nebraska, for his service during the War of 1812. [Patent dated 15 Nov. 1861, Warrant number 75-611 for 120 Acres; Recorded Volume 488, page 154.] The land was located 2 miles west of the present day downtown Peru. He also purchased 80 acres located on the north half of section eighteen, and another 40 acres adjoining this plot on the north-west of section eighteen.

Benjamin, in his early 70's, resided in Nemaha County for the remainder of his life. In 1862 for the consideration of one dollar, Benjamin sold a portion of one acre for a schoolhouse. On September 21, 1867 Benjamin sold the 40 acre plot purchased in 1861 to his daughter Mary, and on the following day, he sold the 80 acre plot, less the portion of an acre donated for the school, to his son-in-law William Edwards.

Benjamin, 84, died on February 10, 1873 in Nemaha County, Nebraska. He was survived by Anna, his wife of 63 years, who died two days later at the age of 79. They were buried together at the Karn Cemetery outside of Peru, Nemaha County, Nebraska. The cemetery was named after the Karn family who resided next door to the Rolston's.

Nine children are known to have been born to the couple. A tenth child named Samuel is said to have been born in 1818 in Pickaway County, Ohio. This child has not been found in any records. It should be noted, however, that there is an eight year span (1815 to 1822) between the birth of sons Charles and Benjamin where another child could have been born.

Notes for Anna Duryea:

Anna Duryea was born May 2, 1793 in Maryland, the daughter of Charles Duryea. The family of Charles Duryea, from Maryland, appears in Walnut Township, Pickaway County, Ohio in 1812, living near Anna and husband Benjamin. The surname, Duryea, is of Dutch origins.

On October 31, 1809 in Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia), Anna married Benjamin Rolston. After the birth of their first child, the couple moved to Ohio. Over the course of their marriage, nine children were born to the couple. With the exception of their first born, they were all born in Ohio.

Soon after 1850, the majority of the family moved to Illinois and then onto Nebraska. Their oldest daughter had married and remained in Hancock County, Ohio. What became of son Russell is unknown. Russell may have died during the Civil War. Two other children preceded them in death after their move to Nebraska. Benjamin, Anna's husband of 64 years, preceded her in death on February 10, 1873 at the age of 84.

Anna, 79, died two days later on February 12, 1873 in Nemaha County, Nebraska. They were buried together in the Karn Cemetery in Nemaha County, Nebraska. Anna was survived by four of her nine children. Three sons: Charles, Thomas and Russell, and two daughters: Elizabeth and Harriett, had preceded her in death.

Benjamin Rolston and Anna Duryea had the following children:

271. i. JULIA ANN<sup>5</sup> ROLSTON was born on 10 Jul 1810 in Wood Co., Va. (now W.V.). She died on 02 Mar 1896 in Jackson Twp., Hancock Co., Ohio (age 85). She married Newton R. Elzay, son of William Elsea and Mary E. Vorhure, on 23 Mar 1828 in Pickaway Co., Ohio. He was born on 01 Aug 1802 in Virginia. He died on 23 Apr 1852 in Hancock Co., Ohio (age 49).
- ii. MARY ROLSTON was born on 12 Nov 1812 in Pickaway Co., Ohio. She died on 20 Oct 1887 in Glen Rock, Nemaha Co., Neb. (age 74).

Notes for Mary Rolston:

Mary Rolston was born November 12, 1812 in Pickaway County, Ohio, the second of nine children born to Benjamin Rolston and Anna Duryea. Over the course of the next forty years, Her father moved the family from Pickaway to Champaign County, and then from Champaign to Hancock County. In the mid-1850's the family, including the majority of Mary's siblings, packed up and moved to McLean County, Illinois, where the family lived for about two years before moving onto the Nebraska Territory, settling in Nemaha County. Ten years later, on March 1, 1867, Nebraska obtained statehood.

Mary was a spinster, living her entire life with her parents until their deaths in 1873. As her father became advanced in years, he sold portions of his property to his children. On September 21, 1867, he sold a 40-acre plot to Mary. Even though she had land of her own, Mary continued to live with her parents. Mary's father died on February 10, 1873 at the age of 84, and her mother died two days later at the age of 79. After 60 years of living with her parents, Mary now lived alone.

Mary's death at the age of 74 was discovered on the 20th of October, 1878, but she may have died some number of days prior to this date. She was buried as Mary Ralston in the Karn Cemetery in Nemaha County, Nebraska, survived by three sisters, a brother and numerous nieces and nephews.

Mary did not have a will on record; however, on July the 19th, 1880, sisters Nancy and Harriet petitioned the County Judge, John S. Stull, to handle her estate. (see attached) The petition lists the following as known heirs: "... Harriet Horn, Nancy J. Edwards, Julia A. Elza, her sisters, and Benjamin Ralston, her brother, and John, Catherine, Ann and Benjamin Ralston, minor children of Thomas Ralston, deceased, nephews and nieces of said deceased, and Elizabeth, Rachel, Sarah, Lois, Laura, Emma and Alzera Ralston, minor heirs of Charles Ralston, deceased, and nieces of Mary Ralston, deceased, and Blanche Ralston, minor heir of Jefferson Ralston, deceased, who was a niece of Mary Ralston, deceased."

There were Typhoid Fever and Cholera epidemics during the time the family was in Illinois. He died on 27 Jun 1919 in Wymore, Gage Co., Neb. (age 85).
276. ix. HARRIETT ROLSTON was born on 10 Mar 1835 in Champaign Co., Ohio. She died on 08 May 1903 in Brock, Nemaha Co., Neb. (age 68). She married John Wesley Horn, son of Joel Horn and Emily N. Paschall, on 16 Nov 1856 in Nemaha Co., Neb.. He was born on 04 Jul 1835 in Jacksonville, Morgan Co., Ill.. He died on 19 Jul 1924 in Nemaha Co., Neb. (age 89).
66. WILLIAM L.<sup>4</sup> ROLSTON JR. (William<sup>3</sup>, David<sup>2</sup> Rolstone Sr., William<sup>1</sup> Rolstone) was born on 06 Oct 1790 in Rockingham Co., Va.. He died on 06 Oct 1823 in Harrison Co., Va. (now W.V.) (age 33). He married Druzilla Anna Coplin, daughter of Benjamin Copeland and Deborah Shinn, on 24 Oct 1816 in Harrison Co., Va. (now W.V.). She was born about 1790 in Virginia. She died between 1850-1853 in Bridgeport, Harrison Co., Va. (now W.V.) (age ~60).

Notes for William L. Rolston Jr.:

William L. Rolston Jr. was born October 6, 1790 in Rockingham County, Virginia, the sixth of eleven children born to William Rolston and Mary Hopkins. In 1804 his father moved the family to Bull Creek in Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia). His father died three years later. The family remained and William grew up in the Wood County area.

[note: William's middle initial 'L' was probably Latimer as his son was named William Latimer Rolston. As William died, perhaps even before his son's birth, his son was not known as a 'junior' nor as the third (III). Being that William L. Rolston Jr. was a 'junior', his father, who had no known middle name, may have been William Latimer Rolston (Sr.), or perhaps the junior William was so named only because he shared the same given name as his father. The name 'Latimer' is a surname found in early Virginia records. It was a common practice to honor friends or neighbors by using their given or surname when naming one's child. It is not known if the Rolston and Latimer families were friends or neighbors.]

As a young man, William appears to have moved to neighboring Harrison County where on October 23, 1816, he married Druzilla Anna Coplin. Two children were born to their union.

William, 23, died October 6, 1823 in Harrison County, Virginia (now West Virginia). As noted by Dr. Lawrence H. Rolston, "William, Jr., had the misfortune of dying young and on his birthday." William left behind a wife and two children. His body was returned to Wood County for burial.

William was originally interred in the Bethel Church cemetery along the Ohio River in Waverly, Wood County of then state of Virginia. In 1888 the cemetery was abandoned due to flooding and his brother Nathan removed the remains of William and other family members to the new Bethel Presbyterian Church Cemetery located on the old St. Mary's Pike near the junction of state route 31. A substantial monument is erected at this location and is inscribed with the names of various family members who's remains were relocated to this site.

In July of 2002 William's original tombstone along with his father's were recovered from the bank of the Ohio River in Waverly and moved to the present day Bethel Cemetery where they were placed next to the newer monument.

Notes for Druzilla Anna Coplin:

Druzilla Anna Coplin was born about 1790 in Virginia, the daughter of Benjamin Coplin [Copeland] and Deborah Shinn. Her mother died and her father married Josinah Mount. From her father's two marriages, Druzilla had 23 siblings and half siblings. It has been suggested that her father was the son of Benjamin and Ann Copeland. The widow Mrs. Ann Copeland married David Rolstone about 1755.

"Druzilla Coplin," as listed in the Harrison County marriage records, married William L. Rolston, Jr. on October 23, 1816. If Druzilla's father was the son of Benjamin and Ann Copeland, then Druzilla and William were half-first cousins. The couple had two children before William's death on October 6, 1823.

On February 16, 1832 in Harrison County, Virginia (now West Virginia), Druzilla married John Mason. Nothing is known of her second husband or children from that union, if any.

Druzilla is said to have died sometime before 1853 in Bridgeport, Harrison County, Virginia (becoming West Virginia in 1863). Her place of burial is unknown.

William L. Rolston Jr. and Druzilla Anna Coplin had the following children:

277. i. MARY ANN<sup>5</sup> ROLSTON was born about 1818 in Harrison Co., Va. (now Taylor Co., W.V.). She died after 1880. She married Solomon Ryan, son of Thomas Ryan and Hannah Harris, on 03 Oct 1839 in Harrison Co., Va. (now W.V.). He was born on 24 Jun 1815 in Harrison Co., Va. (now Taylor Co., W.V.). He died on 01 Dec 1856 in Taylor Co., Va. (now W.V.) (age 41).
  278. ii. WILLIAM LATIMER ROLSTON was born about 1824 in Harrison Co., Va. (now W.V.). He died on 27 Dec 1876 in Harrisburg, Saline Co., Ill. (age ~54). He married Maria Ellen Goslee, daughter of Job Goslee and Elizabeth Messick, on 27 Aug 1846 in Champaign Co., Ohio. She was born on 11 Sep 1823 in Champaign Co., Ohio. She died about 1874 in Harrisburg, Saline Co., Ill. (age ~51).

Notes for Nathan Rolston:

Nathan Rolston was born March 10, 1794 in Rockingham County, Virginia, the seventh of eleven children born to William Rolston and Mary Hopkins. In 1804 at the age of 10, Nathan moved with his family to northwestern Virginia where in 1905, his father purchased 800 acres in Wood County of the then state of Virginia. In 1807 his father died after a short illness. Nathan was raised by his mother and older brother David.

Nathan, age 20, was drafted on or about August 30, 1814 in Parkersburg, Wood County, Virginia, to serve during the War of 1812. Nathan's period of service was brief; spending most of his time under Colonel Booth at Fort Nelson, Norfolk, Virginia, before his discharge on the 23rd of January, 1815. The Service was sufficient to make him eligible for land grants. He received 80 acres in June of 1851 and another 80 acres in February of 1857. The location of these lands are unknown, and Nathan likely sold them. In 1871 Nathan was granted a pension of $8 a month for his service during the War of 1812.

Nathan farmed and raised cattle. He drove some of his cattle to eastern markets over a trail passing through Clarksburg (Hardy County, West Virginia) and the Potomac water gap. His cattle were branded with a four inch square design NR wrought from 5/16 inch bar. The initials were joined so that the right vertical line of the N served as the vertical line of the R. (This branding iron was in the possession of Julian Kenneth Rolston in 1968.)

It would appear that Nathan met Mary Harness while passing through Hardy County where she resided. Hardy County was then part of the State of Virginia. The couple married August 29, 1817 in Pennsylvania. After their marriage, Mary's family moved to land on the north side of Bull Creek near the Nathan land holdings. Eight children were born to their marriage.

Sarah, Nathan's wife of 47 years, preceded him in death in November of 1864 at the age of 68.

In 1872, Nathan built a two-story brick house on the side of a hill overlooking the Ohio River bottom where the present town of Waverly is located on Route 2. The brick was made from the clay dug from the hillside. Nathan resided in this house for the remainder of his years. The house was still standing and occupied in 1968 but in a bad state of disrepair due to years of neglect. In 1999 the house was purchase by Jeri Galloway and restored.

According to Hardesty's account (1882), "Nathan held the office of sheriff for one year, served nine years as constable, and was elected Justice of the Peace several times but would not sever."

In the 1880 census of the Union District of Wood County, Nathan was enumerated at the age 86. Where most people of his age might be considered as retired, Nathan still listed himself as a farmer.

On February 5, 1883, Nathan wrote his last will and testament. Within the will Nathan identified the following individuals:

"...grandson John Henry Rolston (son of Archibald Rufus Rolston)... my son Archibald Rufus... my grand daughter Viola the wife of Sardis Kinnard and daughter of my son David Compton... my housekeeper Sarah A. Baumgardner... son John Tyler if he should ever return or prove to be living..." [unknown to Nathan, his son John was alive and living in Arizona] "... to the following named children ... Archibald Rufus, David Compton," [unknown to Nathan, his son David had died in 1872, ten years ago] "Solomon William, Granville Harness, Mary Catherine, George Wilson...." Daughter, Eliza Alcinda, who is still living at that time, is not mentioned in the will nor in either of the codicils dated June 28, 1884, and June of 1889. The last codicil gives Archibald Rufus's (now deceased) two sons full shares of Nathan's estate.

Nathan, 96, died December 9, 1890 at his home in Waverly, Wood County, West Virginia, and was buried at the Bethel Presbyterian Cemetery in Waverly, Wood County, West Virginia. The large monument is shared with his parents and other Rolston family members. Nathan was survived by six of his eight children. All of his siblings had preceded him in death.

Notes for Sarah Harness:

Sarah "Sally" Harness was born March 10, 1796 in Hardy County, Virginia (now West Virginia), the daughter of Solomon Harness and Catherine Stump. Sarah grew up in Hardy County; remaining there until her marriage to Nathan Rolston in 1817. Nathan took his new bride back to Wood County where he lived.

On January 9, 1818, five months after Sarah's marriage to Nathan, her father, Solomon Harness and David Rolston, husband Nathan's brother, jointly purchased 300 acres of land located between Bull Creek and Bull Run in Wood County. The deed is recorded in the Virginia Land Office Grant Book 66, page 180.

Sarah (or Sara) was also known as Sally, and her signature appears as such on a deed dated 17 February, 1825, that transferred land from brother-in-law, "John Griffith, and others," including herself, to her brother-in-law, John H. Rolston.

Sarah, 68, died November 9, 1864 at Bull Creek, Wood County, West Virginia. She was survived by her husband and their eight children. Sarah is presently buried at the Bethel Presbyterian Cemetery, but she may have been original interred in the Bethel Church cemetery along the Ohio River at Waverly. This cemetery periodically flooded along with the church.

In 1888, 24 years after Sarah's death, her husband, Nathan, had the graves of his parents and other family members removed to the new Bethel Presbyterian Cemetery, located on higher ground, in Wood County, West Virginia.

Nathan Rolston and Sarah Harness had the following children:

279. i. ARCHIBALD RUFUS<sup>5</sup> ROLSTON SR. was born on 26 Aug 1818 in Wood Co., Va. (now W.V.). He died on 24 Apr 1883 in Union District, Wood Co., W.V. (age 64). - viii. JOHN TYLER ROLSTON was born on 04 Apr 1836 in Wood Co., Va. (now W.V.). He died on 01 Oct 1891 in Tombstone, Cochise Co., Arizona Territory (age 55).

Notes for John Tyler Rolston:

John "Jack" Tyler Rolston was born April 4, 1836 in Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia), the youngest of eight children born to Nathan Rolston and Sarah Harness. John's childhood was spent growing up on his father's farm. His father had moved to

---

Wood County with his parents in 1804. John Never married.

Around 1855, having yet to reach manhood, John, in the company of his older brothers David and Solomon, ventured West to California in the later years of the California Gold Rush. If it were gold that lured them to California, none found their fortunes in gold. Not long after their arrival to California, the trio of brothers went their separate ways. While their brother David pushed onto the coast north of San Francisco, brothers John and Solomon separated but remained in the area surrounding Sacramento. Solomon lived in Sacramento County, and John lived in Yolo County where he worked as a laborer. Sometime between 1870 and 1880 John removed to the Arizona Territory. Perhaps drawn there by the discovery of silver; John did not find his fortune and fame in silver. In 1880 he was working as a farm helper of the farm of Moore K. Lurdy, a widower who lived in the Babocomari Valley of Pima County:

Moore K. Lurdy	Self	W	Male	W	59	KY	Farmer

John T. Rolston	Other	S	Male	W	44	VA	Farm Helper
Conrad Rahling	Other	S	Male	W	16	PRUSSIA	Farm Helper
PRUS PRUS

It was perhaps in Arizona that John picked up the nickname of "Jack."

Founded in 1879, the town of Tombstone was once bigger than San Francisco. Its mines produced $37 million in silver. In 1881, this same area of Pima County was partitioned to create Cochise County.

It is unlikely that John was in town at the time of the shoot-out at the OK Corral on October 26, 1881, involving Wyatt Earp and Doc Holiday, but even so, John likely knew of and perhaps even met these two famous lawmen.

By the late 1800's, the silver mines started closing and John was living in Ramsey Canyon of the Huachuca Mountains southwest of Tombstone in Cochise County, Arizona. In the 1890 census he was enumerated as John T. Roleston, age 64. He was actually 54 at the time.

John's whereabouts were not known to his family back home in West Virginia until sometime after his death. His father Nathan's will, dated 5 February 1883, notes "... son John Tyler, if he should ever return or prove to be living ...." Codicils to his father Nathan's will written as late as 1889 had no further mention of his son, John Tyler.

Tombstone Prospector, Friday, October 2, 1891.

"Dead and Buried. Jack Rolston died at the hospital yesterday morning and was buried at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. He was known all over this section of Arizona as one of its pioneers and whose life had been a volume of good deeds. He was a typical frontiersman. Since '81 he had been a resident of the Huachuca mountains and at the time of his death he had a ranch in Ramsey canyon and a band of cattle and horses valued at about $3,000. The cause of his death was the result of being thrown from a colt on Tuesday last at Charleston which injured him internally. It was not thought that he was severely injured at first, and he did not suffer much till his last hours. He has two brothers living in the east and one in California. The latter was telegraphed to last night by George Metcalf, who had been intimately acquainted with the deceased. He was a native of the United States, aged 66 years. His full name was John T. Rolston."

Ramsey Canyon is on the eastern half of the Huachuca Mountains and is currently part of the Ramsey Canyon Preserve, a nature preserve known for its abundance of birds and wild life. Ramsey Canyon is located just a few miles south of Fort Huachuca and the present day city of Sierra Vista. Charleston where John was thrown from a colt was midway between Fort Huachuca and Tombstone. It is now a ghost town, but in John's day it was an important railway station.

John was laid to rest at the Christian Cemetery in Tombstone the day after his death. In a taped interview with Julian "Jake" Rolston, John's grand nephew, Julian, mentioned that John's tombstone was purchased by John's brother Granville. At the time of the interview, Julian had in his possession the original invoice for the tombstone.

A will prepared by John Tyler Rolston in the City of Tombstone, Cochise County, Territory of Arizona, on September 13, 1891, just weeks before his death, left all his belongings to be divided equally "...among his brothers (six) and sisters (2)..." John's will named brother Granville Harness of Sacramento, California, as the executor. His brother Granville did not live in California. It should be noted that John had only five brothers and not six, and John apparently was unaware that his brother David Compton had died of Typhoid Fever in 1872. On February 27, 1892, the probate court, County of Cochise, certified John's will and appointed attorney Charles Granville Johnston as executor at the request of John's brother, Solomon. Invocation of the will took place on 23 August, 1892, in Wood County, West Virginia, nearly twelve months after John's death.

Notes for Ephraim Love Rolston:

Ephraim Love Rolston was born June 26, 1796 in Rockingham County, Virginia, the eighth of eleven children born to William Rolston and Mary Hopkins. He was named after a family friend, Ephraim Love. Ephraim's early childhood was spent in Rockingham. Then in 1804, at the age of about 8, his father moved the family from Rockingham County, Virginia to Bull Creek along the Ohio River where his father would purchase a large area of land in 1805. This area would become Wood County, West Virginia four decades after his death. Two years after their move to Bull Creek, Ephraim's father William became ill and died in 1807; Ephraim was age 11.

On January 4, 1820 in Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia), Ephraim, age 23, married Rachel Vandiver. They had one child, a son named William, before Ephraim's premature death.

Ephraim, 27, died August 28, 1823 in Wood County, Virginia. The cause of his death is not known. Ephraim was originally buried in the Old Bethel Presbyterian Church Cemetery in Waverly along the Ohio River. In 1888, due to reoccurring floods of the church and cemetery, the church moved and the cemetery was abandoned. Ephraim's son William and Ephraim's brother Nathan relocated the remains of Ephraim, his wife Rachel, and other Rolston family members to the new Bethel Presbyterian Church Cemetery. There, the tombstone inscription reads: "Ephraim Love Rolston, Son of Wm & Mary Rolston, Father of Wm L. of Marietta, Ohio."

Ephraim appears in the 1824 Will Book 2, pages 229 & 230 for the appraisal & inventory, the 1828 Will Book 3, pages 84 & 85 sale bill, and the 1833 Will Book 3, page 225, settlement.

Notes for Rachel Vandiver:

Rachel Vandiver was born May 11, 1801 at Patterson's Creek, three miles south of Burlington, Hampshire County, Virginia (now Mineral County, West Virginia), the ninth of eleven children born to Lewis Vandiver and Martha James. Rachel's mother died June 7, 1807, shortly after Rachel's sixth birthday. In her father's will of February 1, 1814, Rachel and her four sisters are given "... my five negroes...." Her father died two months later on February 3, 1814; Rachel was twelve years old.

On January 4, 1820 in Wood County, Virginia, Rachel, age 18, married Ephraim Love Rolston. Their only child was born there in December of that same year. On August 28, 1823, after only three years of marriage, her husband Ephraim died at the age of 27.

On October 11, 1826 in Wood County, Virginia, three years after the death of her first husband, Rachel married James Dunn, a successful businessman in Marietta, Washington County, Ohio. Rachel and her son moved to Marietta. Her husband was active in business and politics. Being a part of Mr. Dunn's social society, Rachel and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. L. (Sarah) Rolston, participated in the establishment of the Union Soldier's Relief Association in 1861.

Rachel, 63, died June 12, 1864 in Marietta, Washington County, Ohio. She was survived by her son, William Lewis Rolston, and second husband, James Dunn. Her son buried her in the Old Bethel Presbyterian Church Cemetery in Waverly, Wood County, West Virginia. Due to periodic flooding from the Ohio River, her remains were removed to the New Bethel Presbyterian Church Cemetery in 1888 by her son William and his Uncle Nathan Rolston.

Ephraim Love Rolston and Rachel Vandiver had the following child:

286. i. WILLIAM LEWIS<sup>5</sup> ROLSTON was born on 10 Dec 1820 in Wood Co., Va. (now W.V.). He died on 22 Jun 1895 in Marietta, Washington Co., Ohio (age 74). He married Sarah Catherine Ward, daughter of Nahun Ward and Sarah Catherine Skinner, on 31 Aug 1847 in Marietta, Washington Co., Ohio. She was born on 18 Mar 1819 in Marietta, Washington Co., Ohio. She died on 22 Feb 1903 in Marietta, Washington Co., Ohio (age 83).
69. JOHN HOPKINS<sup>4</sup> ROLSTON (William<sup>3</sup>, David<sup>2</sup> Rolstone Sr., William<sup>1</sup> Rolstone) was born on 06 May 1799 in Rockingham Co., Va.. He died on 26 Aug 1859 in Findlay, Hancock Co., Ohio (age 60). He married Nancy A. Woodyard, daughter of Presley Woodyard, on 09 Apr 1829 in Wood Co., Va. (now W.V.). She was born on 09 Dec 1809 in Virginia. She died in 1877 in Allen Co., Ind. (age 67).

Notes for John Hopkins Rolston:

John Hopkins Rolston was born May 6, 1799 in Rockingham County, Virginia, the ninth of eleven children born to William Rolston and Mary Hopkins. His early childhood was spent in Rockingham County until 1804 when his father moved the family to Wood County in northern Virginia next to the Ohio River. In 1807, three years after their arrival, his father died. John was about eight years old at the time. The family, except for the eldest son Archibald, remained in Wood County.

On April 9, 1829 in Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia), John married Nancy A. Woodyard. John and Nancy farmed and raised a small family of four children, all born in Wood County of what was then the state of Virginia. Sometime between 1840 and 1850, John moved his family to Hancock County, Ohio. His brothers Benjamin and Alpheus had moved to Hancock County some time earlier.

In 1850 John lost his eldest son William who died at the age of 20. In 1852 his eldest daughter Ingabay married her first cousin William H. Rolston, the son of John's brother Alpheus. She died the following year after giving birth.

John, 60, died August 26, 1859 in Findlay, Hancock County, Ohio, and was buried in the Bishop Cemetery in Arlington, Hancock County, Ohio. He was survived by Nancy, his wife of almost 30 years, and the youngest two of his four children, son James and daughter Jane. Also surviving were brothers Nathan and Alpheus, and his sister, Mrs. Jane Prince.

Notes for Nancy A. Woodyard:

Nancy Woodyard was born December 9, 1809 in Virginia. Her parentage is not known, but census records for Virginia suggest that she was the daughter of Presley Woodyard who resided in Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia), during the 1820's and 1830's.

On April 9, 1829 in Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia), Nancy married John Hopkins Rolston. They resided in Wood County where their four children were born until sometime after 1840. By 1850 the family had moved to Hancock County, Ohio. There, their two eldest child died in the early 1850's. In August of 1859 Nancy's husband died at the age of 60. She and the younger two children remained there for a few years.

Nancy and daughter Jane were residing together in Jackson, Hancock County, Ohio during the early part of 1860 prior to daughter Jane's marriage. Living next door was Nancy's son James with his wife and child. Nancy was enumerated in the 1860 census as age 49, occupation: farm manager. In the fall of 1860, her daughter Jane married Dr. Jacob B. Engle. The doctor moved the family, including Nancy, to Monroeville, Allen County, Indiana, where they were enumerated in 1870.

Nancy, 67, died in Allen County, Indiana in 1877 and was buried in the Masonic A & FM Cemetery in

John Hopkins Rolston and Nancy A. Woodyard had the following children:

- i. WILLIAM L. W.<sup>5</sup> ROLSTON was born on 05 Jun 1830 in Wood Co., Va. (now W.V.). He died on 17 Jul 1850 in Jackson Twp., Hancock Co., Ohio (age 20).

Notes for William L. W. Rolston:

William L. W. Rolston was born June 5, 1830 in Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia), the eldest of four children born to John Hopkins Rolston and Nancy A. Woodyard. William lived in Wood County for at least the first ten years of his life before his father moved the family to Jackson Township in Hancock County, Ohio.

Notes for Alpheus Rolston:

Alpheus Rolston was born June 29, 1801 in Rockingham County, Virginia, the tenth of eleven children born to William Rolston and Mary Hopkins. In 1804 at the age of three or four, Alpheus's father moved the family from Rockingham to the Bull Creek area of Wood County of then northwestern Virginia. In 1807 when Alpheus was six years of age, his father died. Alpheus was raised by his mother with the guidance of his older brother, David. In 1825 Alpheus followed in his brother Benjamin's footsteps and move north to Pickaway County, Ohio.

On January 15, 1825 in Pickaway County, Ohio, Alpheus married Elizabeth Williamson. The couple lived in Pickaway for some five years before moving northward to Hancock County, Ohio as did his older brothers. "Alpheus ... entered the southwest quarter of Section 7 in September of 1829, upon which he settled permanently in October, 1830, where he has resided ever since. He is a native of Rockingham County, Va., born in June, 1801.... In 1826 he came to Pickaway County, Ohio, where he soon afterward married Miss Elizabeth Williamson, sister of [Anne] Mrs. Thomas Thompson.... After a residence of some four years in Pickaway County, Mr. Rolston, with his wife and two children, removed .... His first wife dying he married her sister, Julia A. Williamson...." (source: History of Hancock County, Ohio, Warner, Beers & Co., Chicago, 1886, page 418)

Alpheus married Miss Julia Ann Williamson on April 9, 1846 in Hancock County, Ohio, and they had three children.

"In 1834-35 a school was taught by Nancy Burns at the house of Alpheus Ralston, which was the first of the township.... A log schoolhouse was built on Mr. Ralston's farm in the fall of 1835-36, and a school was afterward taught here by Miss Julia Parker." (ibid, page 421)

The obituary for son, LaFayette, says that "... Alpheus and Pulia (sic) Williamson Ralston ... were pioneers in the county, having taken the land in 1832 when Indians still inhabited the tracts of forest." (Morning Republican, March 31, 1924)

Alpheus "Alfred" and his second wife were enumerated in the 1850 census of Jackson Township of Hancock County, Ohio:

Alfred Ralston	M	49	Virginia
Julia A Ralston	F	36	Ohio
Abraham Ralston	M	22	Ohio	[son from first wife]
Alfred Ralston	M	16	Ohio	[son from first wife]
Lafayette Ralston	M	3	Ohio

June 18, 1873, Deed Bk 10, page 89: Alphues and Julia A. Ralston of Hancock Co., O., to David H. Ralston of Rockingham Co. Va. all interest in his brother Archibald Ralston's estate, $325.

During the 1880 census Alpheus's son LaFayette and his family were living with him. Libbie Brown, age 18 and Henry Scamahorne, age 33, were also residing with Alpheus and his wife. A History of Hancock County, Ohio, published in 1881 says that Alpheus Ralston was the father of eight children of which four were living. It appears that during Alpheus's life time, his surname of Rolston was changed to Ralston. Many of his children have been found as using the 'Ralston' spelling.

Alpheus, 86, died of pneumonia on February 27, 1888 in Jackson Township in Hancock County, Ohio, and was buried as Alpheus Ralston in the Bishop Cemetery in Hancock County. He was survived by his second wife and two of their three children. From his first marriage only two of his five children, sons William and Levi Ralston, survived him. Also surviving was Alpheus's older brother, Nathan Rolston.

Notes for Elizabeth Williamson:

Elizabeth Williamson was born September 19, 1804 in Hampshire County, Virginia (now West Virginia), the fifth of nine children born to John Williamson and Nancy Wells. She had six half-brothers and sisters from her father's first marriage. Her father and his brothers were pioneering settlers of Walnut Township of Pickaway County, Ohio.

On January 15, 1825 in Pickaway County, Ohio, Elizabeth married Alpheus Rolston. Elizabeth's participation during a transfer of land in 1825, was recorded in the Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia), Deed Book 6, page 616, shows "her mark" as an "X". Five children were born to Elizabeth and Alpheus.

Elizabeth, 33, died March 19, 1838 in Hancock County, Ohio six days after the birth of the youngest of her five children and was buried in the Bishop Cemetery in Hancock County, Ohio.

Five years after Elizabeth's death, her half-brother Abraham Williamson died. Amongst the heirs listed were the children of "Alpheus Rawlston." The will listed each of Elizabeth's five children, Nancy, Abraham, William, Alpheus and Levi. {source: Will Book 1, page 63, case #66, 1843, Hancock County, Ohio}

Alpheus Rolston and Elizabeth Williamson had the following children:

- i. NANCY<sup>5</sup> ROLSTON was born on 20 Feb 1826 in Walnut Twp., Pickaway Co., Ohio. She died on 02 Feb 1844 in Jacksonville Twp., Hancock Co., Ohio (age 17).

Notes for Nancy Rolston:

Nancy Rolston was born February 20, 1826 in Walnut Township, Pickaway County, Ohio, the eldest of five children born to Alpheus Rolston and Elizabeth Williamson. She lived in Pickaway County until 1829 when her father moved the family north to Hancock County, Ohio. In 1838 when Nancy was age 12, her mother died.

Nancy was named as an heir in the 1843 will of her maternal uncle, Abraham Williamson. She was to receive $20 when she reached the age of 21. {source: Will Book 1, page 63, case #66, 1843, Hancock County, Ohio} Nancy never reached the age of majority.

Nancy, 17, died February 2, 1844 in Jackson Township of Hancock County, Ohio and was buried at the Bishop Cemetery in Eagle Township of Hancock County, Ohio.

Two years after Nancy's death, her father remarried, and Nancy had one half-brother and two half-sisters that she never would know.

- ii. ABRAHAM WILLIAMSON ROLSTON was born about 1828 in Pickaway Co., Ohio. He died between 1868-1881.

Notes for Abraham Williamson Rolston:

Abraham Williamson Rolston was born about 1828 in Pickaway County, Ohio, the second of five children born to Alpheus Rolston and Elizabeth Williamson. He was named after his maternal uncle, Abraham Williamson. In 1829 the family removed to Hancock County, Ohio. Abraham was about age ten in 1838 when his mother passed away. After his mother death, his father sent most if not all of the five children off to live with relatives. It is not known where Abraham lived.

Abraham was named as an heir in the 1843 will of his maternal uncle, Abraham Williamson. He was to receive $20 when he reached the age of 21. {source: Will Book 1, page 63, case #66, 1843, Hancock Co., Ohio}

In 1846 Abraham's father married Julia Ann Williamson. Julia was Abraham's mother's sister. From his father's second marriage, Abraham had one half-brother and two half-sisters. In 1850 at the age of 22, Abraham was enumerated with his father in Jackson Township of Hancock County, Ohio. They were both farmers.

Abraham removed to California. Civil War records list "Pvt. Abraham W. Rolston" who served in the 8th California Infantry for the Union Army. On July 27, 1867 in Rock Creek, Butte County, California, Abraham Williamston Rolston, age 39 and born in Ohio, registered to vote. Rock Creek was located seven miles northwest of Chico.

It is not known if Abraham married.

Abraham died sometime before 1881. A History of Hancock County, Ohio, published in 1881, states that Alpheus Ralston, Abraham's father, was the father of eight children of which four were still living. Abraham was one of the four children who had died. Abraham may have died prior to the 1870 census as he was not enumerated in 1870 nor 1880. Although his place of death and burial are unknown, it seems likely that he died and was buried in California.

- 290. iii. WILLIAM H. ROLSTON was born in Jul 1832 in Hancock Co., Ohio. He died in 1909 in Gratiot Co., Mich. (age ~77). He married (1) INGABAY HASELTINE ROLSTON, daughter of John Hopkins Rolston and Nancy A. Woodyard, on 08 Aug 1852 in Hancock Co., Ohio. She was born in Aug 1832 in Wood Co., Va. (now W.V.). She died on 08 Jul 1853 in Hancock Co., Ohio (age 20). He married (2) CAROLINE HAY about 1869 in Ohio. She was born in Mar 1840 in Pennsylvania. She died on 27 Mar 1915 in New Haven, Gratiot Co., Mich. (age 75).
- iv. ALPHEUS ROLSTON JR. was born about 1834 in Hancock Co., Ohio. He died between 1850-1881.

Notes for Alpheus Rolston Jr.:

'Junior.' He was most commonly found as Alfredo or Alfredo. Alpheus' mother died in 1838 when he was about four years old. His father sent the children off to live with relatives, but it is not known if or where Alpheus Junior was sent.

Alpheus was named as an heir in the 1843 will of his maternal uncle, Abraham Williamson. He was to receive $20 when he reached the age of 21. {source: Will Book 1, page 63, case #66, 1843, Hancock Co., Ohio}

In 1846 Alpheus's father married Julia Ann Williamson. Julia was Alpheus's mother's sister. From his father's second marriage, Alpheus had one half-brother and two half-sisters.

Alpheus was last enumerated in the 1850 census. A History of Hancock County, Ohio, published in 1881 says that Alpheus Ralston (Sr.) was the father of eight children of which four were still living. Alpheus (Jr.) was one of the children who died before 1881.

Alpheus may have served during the Civil War. Records list a "Pvt. Alpheus B. Ralston" who served as a private in Company C, 1st Regiment of the Nebraska Cavalry for the Union Army. This individual was also found as A. B. Ralston and Alpheus B. Ralston.

291. v. LEVI W. RALSTON was born on 13 Mar 1838 in Findlay, Hancock Co., Ohio. He died on 28 Aug 1927 in Homer Twp., Midland Co., Mich. (age 89). He married Margarete Gerenda Decker on 01 Jan 1865 in Hancock Co., Ohio. She was born in 1835 in Ohio. She died on 11 Nov 1894 in Hoytville, Wood Co., Ohio (age ~59).

Notes for Julia Ann Williamson:

Julia Ann "Juliane" Williamson was born September 1, 1813 in Pickaway County, Ohio, the eighth of nine children born to John Williamson and Nancy Wells. She had six half-brothers and sisters from her father's first wife. Her father and his brothers were pioneering settlers of Walnut Township of Pickaway County, Ohio.

Julian was named as an heir in her brother Abraham William's will. {source: Will Book 1, page 63, case #66, 1843, Hancock Co., Ohio} Half the money and property was received on October 7, 1844. The final distribution of her brother Abraham Williamson's estate was made to "Julian Ralston" on February 16, 1847, after her marriage to Alpheus Ralsaton.

On April 9, 1846 in Hancock County, Ohio, Julia married the widower Alpheus Rolston. He had been married to Elizabeth Williamson, Julia's older sister who died in 1838. Her sister had five children with Alpheus. Julia added three more children to the family, but their youngest child died in 1867 at the age of 14. Alpheus, her husband of 43 years, died February 27, 1888 at the age of 86.

In March of 1895 as a resident of Jackson, Hancock County, Ohio, Julia wrote her last will and testament. She willed her estate to her daughter Anastatia, son Lafayette and grandchildren Coletta, Wyatt and Thornton, children of son Lafayette. Neither of the two surviving children, William and Levi Ralston, from Alpheus's marriage to Julia's sister, Elizabeth, were mentioned.

Julia, 82, died of pneumonia on January 6, 1896 in Jackson Township of Hancock County, Ohio and was buried in Bishop Cemetery in Hancock County, Ohio. Her husband and sister Elizabeth were both buried there. Julia's will named her two surviving children: LaFayette and beloved daughter Anastatia Bishop.

Nancy, 14, died June 8, 1867 in Hancock County, Ohio and was buried in the Bishop Cemetery in Hancock County. Her cause of death unknown.

Notes for Jane Rolston:

Jane Rolston was born August 3, 1803 in Rockingham County, Virginia, the youngest of eleven children born to William Rolston and Mary Hopkins. Jane may not have even reached her first birthday before her father moved the family to the wilderness of Bull Creek in Wood County of the then State of Virginia. Jane was about four years old when her father died. The family remained in Wood County, and it was there where Jane grew to adulthood.

On February 17, 1825, some six months after reaching her 21st birthday, portions of land from her father's estate were deeded over to Jane.

On October 27, 1825 in Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia), Jane married John Kincheloe Prince. The couple remained in the Wood County area until sometime after 1850. They appear to have lived in the eastern portion of the county as Jane's husband became Justice of the Peace for the newly formed Pleasants County in 1851, and they remained there through the census of 1860. By the 1870 census they had moved to Washington County, Ohio, across the Ohio River from Pleasants County and Wood County where Jane grew up. They had moved to Ohio sometime before 1868 as one of their sons was married in Washington County that year.

John and Jane had six known children. Agnes V. Prince, who lived with the family, was their niece, daughter of John's brother, Hubbard Prince, and not their daughter. Why Agnes lived with her Uncle John and not with her parents is not known. In 1880 Jane and her husband were living in Lebanon, Meigs County, Ohio, with their eldest daughter, Mary, and son-in-law, Benjamin Prince.

John, Jane's husband of 57 years, died March 5, 1882.

Jane, 84, died September 15, 1887 in Lebanon, Meigs County, Ohio, and joined her husband in the Browning Cemetery in Lebanon Township of Meigs County, Ohio.

Notes for John Kincheloe Prince:

John Kincheloe Prince was born February 4, 1802 in Fauquier County, Virginia, the eldest of three children known to have been born to Rev. Hubbard M. Prince and Margueta Legg. The family moved to the Wood County area of what was then the State of Virginia sometime before 1825.

On October 27, 1825 in Wood County, Virginia (now West Virginia), John married Jane Rolston. The couple resided in the Wood County area, probably in the eastern part of the county that would later become Pleasants County. The family, and others, were enumerated in the 1840 census of Wood County, Virginia under the name of John K. Prince. The names of family members, other than the head of household, were not recorded during censuses taken prior to 1850. The 1840 census data below has been modified to give the range of birth years and names of the members of the Prince family as they would have been enumerated during that census. Six others residing with the family remain unidentified. There is one unknown female born between 1830 and 1835 that could be an unknown child of John and

When Pleasants County was formed on 15 May of 1851, John was appointed as one of the Justices of the Peace and as Commissioner of Revenue. John and his family continued to live in Pleasants County until after 1860. Sometime before 1868, John moved the family across the Ohio River into Washington County, Ohio. His niece Agnis was enumerated with the family in 1870. By 1880 they had moved to Lebanon in Meigs County, Ohio to live with their daughter, Mary, and son-in-law, Benjamin G. Prince. John and his wife Jane remained there until their deaths.

John, 80, preceded his wife in death on March 5, 1882 in Lebanon, Meigs County, Ohio, and was buried in the Browning Cemetery in Lebanon Township in Meigs County, Ohio. His death was the result of a fall. John had celebrated his 80th birthday the previous month.

She died in 1827 in Christian Co., Ky. (age ~42). She married John M. Beard, son of Charles Beard and Esther Moffett, on 08 Oct 1811 in Rockingham Co., Va.. He was born after 1786 in Rockingham Co., Va.. He died in 1832 in Harrisonburg (city, Rockingham Co.), Va. (age ~46).

Notes for Hester Rolston:

Hester "Hettie" Rolston was born about 1792 in Rockingham County, Virginia, the eldest of twelve children born to David Rolstone, Jr. and Sarah Hinton. She was also known as Hetty or Hettie.

On October 8, 1811 in Rockingham County, Virginia, Hester married John M. Beard, also a native of Rockingham County. Hester's sister Ruth had married John's brother David in July of the same year. Hester and her husband resided in Rockingham County for several years, removing to Christian County, Kentucky in 1820.

Hester, about 35 years of age, died in 1827 in Christian County, Kentucky, and was buried in the Riverside Cemetery in Hopkinsville, Christian County, Kentucky. She was survived by her husband and their five children.

Notes for John M. Beard:

John M. Beard was born sometime after 1786 in Rockingham County, one of eight children born to Charles Beard and Esther Moffett. He is believed to have been named John Moffett Beard after his maternal grandfather John Moffett.

On October 8, 1811 in Rockingham County, Virginia, John married Hester "Hettie" Rolston. His brother David married Hester's sister Ruth. The couple farmed and started their family of five children in Rockingham, removing to Kentucky about 1820. The couple resided and farmed in Christian County, Kentucky. It was there in 1827 when John's wife died at the age of about 35.

In 1932, John returned to the Harrisonburg area for a visit and died there. His place of burial is not known.

John M. Beard and Hester Rolston had the following children:

Notes for Charles R. Beard:

Charles was about eight years old when his father moved the family to Christian County, Kentucky. In 1827 at the age of 15, Charles' mother died. Then in 1832, Charles' father died while visiting in Rockingham County, Virginia. Charles was about 20 years old at that time. Charles resided in Christian County until his death on August 12, 1863 at the age of 50. He was residing in Hopkinsville at that time. Charles was buried in the Riverside Cemetery in Hopkinsville, Christian County, Kentucky where his mother had been buried.

Notes for David Ralston Beard:

David Ralston Beard was born October 11, 1814 in Harrisonburg, Rockingham County, Virginia, the second of five children born to John M. Beard and Hester Rolston. He was named after his maternal grandfather, David Rolstone. About 1820 his father moved the family to Christian County, Kentucky. David's mother died in 1827 when David was about thirteen years old. Five years later David's father died in 1832. David was about eighteen years old at the time of his father's death.

In the 1850 census of Christian County, Kentucky, David, age 34, was residing with the family of Samuel A. and Sarah A. Means. Their son Henry, age 17, was engaged in the saddler trade.

On December 15, 1858 in Christian County, Kentucky, David married Mrs. Malinda Mary Hollard Beard, the widow of David's brother John. His brother had died in 1848. David's niece became his step-daughter. The family resided in Hopkinsville in Christian County, Kentucky, where they were enumerated in the 1860, 1870 and 1880 censuses. David and his wife did not have children. In the 1870 census the family included numerous unrelated individuals. Lucy and Mary Beard were negros who used the Beard surname:

Much information is gleaned from a biographical sketch of David and his family during the 1880's. The following was written of David and his family:

"DAVID R. BEARD ... was born October 11, 1814, in Harrisonburgh, Rockingham Co., Va.. John M. and Hettie (Rolston) Beard, the parents of David R., came to Christian County, Ky., about 1820, and settled in the northeast part of the county, where they engaged in agricultural pursuits, and where in 1827 Mrs. Hettie Beard died. In 1832 John M. Beard returned to Virginia to visit the scenes of his boyhood, and there died. He had served as a soldier in the war of 1812, and had a family of five children, as follows: Charles Beard, who died in Hopkinsville in 1863 ; David R. Beard; Sarah, deceased wife of Joseph M. Rockingham. They farmed and raised a family of three children, but their life together would be short as Anna died May 13, 1812 at the age of 25, the day before their seventh wedding anniversary. "To the Honorable John T. Harris, Judge of the Circuit Court of Rockingham County:

Humbly complaining your Orator, Jesse Rolston, a member of the Cooks Creek Presbyterian Church in Rockingham County, residing near the town of Harrisonburg, and being one of that part of the Cooks Creek Congregation worshipping regularly at the church in Harrisonburg, who sues for himself and the other members of Cooks Creek Congregation resident in Harrisonburg, and for all the other members of said congregation resident in the county, represents unto your Honor, that for nearly a century, the Cooks Creek Presbyterian congregation have worshipped at New Election in the county and in Harrisonburg, as one distinct and single congregation; that in the year, 1838, the church divided, nearly all the town members uniting with the "Old School" church, the county members and few in the town adhering to the "New School" branch; and upon that separation the property question was settled there-The Old School to retain all the town property, the New School, the county property. The New School branch determining to maintain its organization in the town for the reason that it seemed the more fruitful field of labor, with slight assistance from the town members but chiefly from contributions from the county members, in the year 1840, brought from William McMahon, a lot of land, one half acre upon which they erected a church-building known as the "Brick Church". Your Orator further shows unto your Honor that the deed for this half acre of land was a good, general-warranty title deed from William McMahon and Rebecca his wife, to Peter Heneberger, John Blain and James Baird Trustees, for the use and benefit of the Presbyterian Congregation of Cooks Creek worshipping in the New Election Church and in Harrisonburg, and connected with the Winchester Presbytery, and connected also ecclesiastically with the Constitutional General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States, the deed wherein requiring, as the grant was to the aforementioned trustees and their successors; that the successors shall be chosen by appointment or election by a majority of the members of the Presbyterian Congregation of Cooks Creek, & Co. For full particulars to said deed reference is hereby prayed to office copy of said deed, (it having been duly acknowledged and recorded in the Clerks Office for Rockingham County) herewith filed marked "A" and prayed to be read as part of this bill.

Your Orator further shows unto your Honor, that subsequently James Laird having died, E. Tiffin H. Warren was elected trustee and that said election was confirmed by the Circuit Court for this County, and that after the death of the said Col. E.T.H. Warren, Mr. Peter Heneberger and John Blain having resigned which left a vacancy, whereupon the Cooks Creek Congregation acting in accordance with the manner indicated in the deed of grant as also pursuant to the statute in said case made and provided, proceeded to elect and did elect as the successors as Trustees, those named, Messrs. David Bear; Archibald Hopkins, Jr. and John Lineweaver.

Your Orator further shows that this election by the congregation was confirmed by the honorable court at its last regular term and the order appointing the last named gentlemen trustees was entered, whereupon the legal title to and in the church property known as aforesaid as the "Brick Church" with the Parsonage or Manse upon the lot, .....is now vested in the last named trustees, to wit: David Bear; Archibald Hopkins, Jr. and John Lineweaver, for the uses and purposes set forth in the original deed of transfer, to wit: the use and benefit of the Presbyterian Congregation of Cooks Creek, & Co.

Your Orator further shows unto your Honor, that recently within several years past, a large proportion of the members of Cooks Creek Church resident in the town withdrew from that branch of the church and became members of the "Harrisonburg Presbyterian Church" leaving only four or five members now in and near the town proper, and therefore it is not now convenient for the Cooks Creek Church to continue its permanent services in the town. For this reason and for the further reason that the church building at New Election is very much out of repair. Your Orator asks the aid of the honorable Court to make a sale of the property, retaining to the Cooks Creek Congregation in the town of Harrisonburg to wit: The Brick Church, Parsonage of Manse and lot.

Your Orator further shows unto your Honor that with the proceeds arising from the sale of the aforesaid property, the congregation to which he belongs, propose to buy a lot of land-30 acres, the amount by law allowed to be held in the county, at or near "Muddy Creek: in the county of Rockingham on which to build a Parsonage or Manse for their Pastor and to aid several feeble parts in the outskirts of their congregational limits, in addition to repairing their church-building at New Election. Your Orator is advised that by virtue of the laws of this Commonwealth, see Code of 1860, page 412, Section 13, he can for himself and the other members of the congregation, ask the decree for sale, and for as much as he is remediless save in a court of Equity where such matters are properly cognizable and where only he can for himself and others have....remedy, he prays that there may be a decree for sale as afore asked for, that the said David Bear; Archibald Hopkins, Jr. and John Lineweaver, Trustees Cooks Creek Presbyterian Church be made parties dependent to this bill and that they be required to answer the same on oath-that .....may issue and that he may have such other and further and general relief as to equity may seem meet and as in duty bound he will ever pray you.

For Complainant"

In 1834 Jesse was School Commissioner for District #5. This district was located northwest of Harrisonburg.

In 1860 Jesse and his wife Jane still had a child at home. Their daughter Susan, who was as yet unmarried, was living with her parents. There was also a Sarah Rolston, age 16, living with the family. Sarah was likely a granddaughter, but her relationship is not known. The following year on October of 1861, Jane, Jesse's wife of 49 years, preceded him in death. In December of that year, Jesse's daughter Sarah married.

In his will dated May 27, 1869, Jesse makes special bequeaths to his son Jesse, his daughter Susan wife of James Steele, daughter Hannah J. wife or widow of Abraham Rolston, daughter Easter Ellen wife of Joseph Nisewander, son William, "...descendants of my deceased son Benjamin H. Rolston and the children of my deceased daughter Sarah Hopkins who married Gordon Hopkins." James appointed his son-in-law James Steele as executor. Jesse died March 15, 1870 the following year at the age of 82 and surprisingly does not appear to have been buried in the Cooks Creek Cemetery where he had been an active member for the past 58 years.

Soon after the 1860 census of the Kansas Territory, David moved with his brother to Lafayette County, Missouri. David served during the Civil War as a Corporal in the 1st Missouri Light Battery, C.S.A..

At the conclusion of the war, on August 24, 1865 in Lafayette County, Missouri, David married Ann Bear. Ann was a sister of his brother Jesse's wife. David and his wife lived in the area of Higginsville when Ann, his wife on only one year, died May 11, 1866 at the age of 35. They had no children. Ann, 35, died May 11, 1866, shortly after the couple's first wedding anniversary. Her cause of death is unknown but perhaps she died in childbirth. Ann was buried in the Sharp Cemetery next to her parents, John & Elizabeth Bear, and six other Bear family members.

Notes for Martha Caroline Young:

Martha C. Young was born March 29, 1854 in Lafayette County, Missouri, the third of six children born to Rufus Young and Permelia A. Lankford. Martha was also known as Mary. In Young's 1910 History of Lafayette County, Missouri, she was listed as being born on the 27th of March, but cemetery records list her as born on the 29th. Martha was enumerated with her parents and siblings in the 1880 census of Lexington Township of Lafayette County, Missouri:

death, Charles D. Hopkins, her husband's nephew, was living with her and working the farm. By 1910 Martha had returned to living with her parents; she did not remarry. In 1930 she was enumerated with her younger brother, George R. Young. Her brother died the following year.

Martha, 82, died December 8, 1936 in Lafayette County, Missouri and joined her husband in the Prairie Church Cemetery in Lafayette County, Missouri. She had been a lifelong resident of Lafayette County.

- vii. JAMES PARIS ROLSTON was born on 20 Mar 1833 in Rockingham Co., Va.. He died on 26 Sep 1885 in Rockingham Co., Va. (age 52).

Notes for James Paris Rolston:

James Paris Rolston was born March 20, 1833 in Rockingham County, Virginia, the seventh of eight children born to John Hinton Rolston and Mary F. Hopkins. James, who never married, was a lifelong resident of Rockingham County.

James served during the Civil War as a Lieutenant under Captain George Chrisman in Company H of the 10th Virginia Volunteer Infantry. His brother John H. Rolston was also a lieutenant in this same company. Other Rolston members of the company were Sergeant M. A. Rolston and Private William Rolston. M. A. Rolston remains unidentified, but William Rolston may have been James' first cousin, William "Soldier Bill" Rolston (~1830-1873).

James became a Deacon for the Cooks Creek Presbyterian Church on November 3, 1867. In the History of Rockingham County, page 441, Wayland shows J. P. Rolston as having been Sheriff from 1870-1873. He was succeeded in 1874 by his cousin, David Henton Rolston.

In the 1870 and 1880 censuses, James was living with his brother John in the Central Township of Rockingham County, Virginia. In 1870 he was enumerated as a farm hand on his brother's farm. In the 1880 census his occupation was not listed. James and his brother, John, co-signed a bond for a relative named David Rolston. Sometime before 1885, David Rolston defaulted, leaving James and his brother, John, deeply in debt.

On September 26, 1885, five days after the death of his brother John, James, 52, was hit by a train and killed. With the sizable debt and the recent death of his brother, James' death may have been more than just an unfortunate accident. James was buried in the Cooks Creek Presbyterian Church Cemetery in Harrisonburg, Rockingham County, Virginia.

- viii. ARCHIBALD LOVE ROLSTON was born on 19 Apr 1835 in Rockingham Co., Va.. He died in Sep 1836 in Rockingham Co., Va. (age 1).

Notes for Sarah Van Pelt:

Sarah Van Pelt (or Vanpelt) was born about 1839 in Rockingham County, Virginia; her parentage is unknown. Van Pelt may not have been her maiden name. There was a Sarah A. Vanpelt enumerated at the age of 25 in the 1860 census of Rockbridge County, Virginia. Rockbridge is located south of Augusta County, Virginia.

Sarah is said to have married the widower John Hinton Rolston sometime in 1860. No record of their marriage has been found. Two children were born from their union. The first child was born in February of 1861 and the second child was born in January of 1864. The couple, if married, divorced sometime after 1864 and before 1870.

Sarah and the two children were not found during the 1870 nor the 1880 census, but it seems that they resided in or around the area of Rockingham County as both of her children married there in the 1880's. On the marriage licenses for both children, she signs as Sarah Van Pelt, mother. The children's father is not listed on either marriage license. The absence of the father's name on the marriage licenses leads to some speculation that Sarah and John may have never legally married.

Sarah's son Benjamin married in 1887. That was the last record of Sarah. The date and place of her death and burial are unknown.

John Hinton Rolston and Sarah Van Pelt had the following children:

333. ix. AMANDA MARGARET ROLSTON was born on 10 Feb 1861 in Rockingham Co., Va.. She died on 16 Apr 1946 in Harrisonburg (city, Rockingham Co.), Va. (age 85). On December 7, 1811 in Rockingham County, Virginia, Jacob's father, David, signed a request for a marriage license for his son to marry Nancy Beard, daughter of Charles Beard & [illegible]. This legal request indicates that Jacob had not yet obtained the legal age of 21. Jacob is believed to have been only 16 at the time, and Nancy, who was with child, was likely of similar age. The couple married on December 10, 1811. Their first child was born the spring of the following year, on May 2, 1812. A second son was born in December of 1814. Jacob's wife, Nancy, died sometime between 1814 and 1816 while the two boys were still very young.

On April 23, 1816 in Linville Creek, Rockingham County, Virginia, Jacob married Elizabeth Katherine Keezle. Over the course of the next sixteen years, eight children were born to the couple.

A bond for guardianship was filed in January 6, 1823, and "David Ralston" was listed as guardian for Jacob and Nancy's two sons. The bond also mentions that the two children are the grandsons of "Chas. Beard." John and David, ages 11 & 9 respectively, were to inherit lands from their maternal grandfather, Charles Beard. The guardianship was not for the physical care of the two boys but for the security of their inheritance.

Jacob, about age 50, died in 1845 in Rockingham County, Virginia. His son George also died in 1845. Jacob's place of burial is unknown. He was survived by his second wife, Elizabeth, and nine or all of their ten children, plus his two sons from his first marriage.

Nancy, about age 20, died about 1815 or earlier. Nancy may have died from complications from the birth of her second child in December of 1814. Her place of burial is unknown.

In 1824 when her widowed stepmother, Mrs. Margret Berry Beard, filed suit for a share of her late husband's estate, Nancy's two sons, John and David, were mentioned as heirs.

Jacob M. Rolston and Nancy Beard had the following children:

335. i. JOHN MOFFETT<sup>5</sup> ROLSTON was born on 02 May 1812 in Rockingham Co., Va.. He died on 03 Nov 1869 in Paris, Barton Twp., Newaygo Co., Mich. (age 57). Aaron Bickle	M	8	Indiana	[stepson]

Jane appears to have died sometime between 1850 and 1852.

Notes for Rachel Malinda Stanley:

Margaret Jane Bailey Hall Ralston Kint's mother was Rachel Bailey Ralston. Rachel's first husband was Dempsey Bailey, her second Thomas Ralston. Rachel's maiden name was Stanley and she had a sister Rebecca. Rebecca Stanley married Richard Perry in Grant County, Ind. in 1839. Rebecca and Richard are my GGGGrandparents. To my knowledge they had only one child, a son, Charles. Richard seems to have died and around 1854 Rebecca and 12 year old Charles came to Missouri with Rachel and Tom Ralston. In 1860 Tom and Rachel were living near Middlebury, Missouri and Rebecca and Charles were living near Buttsville, Missouri. As the crow flies, this two towns are separated by about 5 or 6 miles. Both towns no longer exists. But both are near the little town of Spickard, Missouri, which by the way is where I grew up. In any case, in!

1860 Rebecca and Charles have two others in their household. They are Addison (13 YOA) and a John (11 YOA). The census taker gives the surname for all four as, "PEERY." This, of course is wrong, my family name is "PERRY," with two R's. In any case, my family has struggled for a long time trying to identify this, "Addison," and, "John." Recently, a fellow reseacher, with knowledge of the Bailey Family (cakemp), and I compared notes and concluded that the Addison was really "Joseph Addison Bailey" and that he was living with his Aunt Rebecca and Cousin Charles in 1860. Of course Joseph Addison Bailey would be your Margaret Jane's older brother.

So now we wondered who the "John Peery," was. Cakemp and I have speculated that he may be your John William Ralston. Now admittedly this is kind of a leap of faith, I realize, but the age is approximately right (11) and the state of birth is right (Indiana). Plus the Perry and the Ralston Families lived in the same general area (Middlebury and Buttsville) after apparently traveling together from Indiana to Missouri. And my GGGGrandmother Rebecca and Old Tom Ralston's Wife Rachel, were sisters. An argument against our speculations is that in the 1860 census lists your John William as living with his father (Old Tom) and his step-mother Rachel. Of course John William can not be in two places at the same time. But we wondered if perhaps he spent time in both households and thus was counted twice. Pretty big stretch, I know. That's why I asked if anyone knew anything about what John William was doing in 1860.

Thomas Ralston and Rachel Malinda Stanley had the following children:

371. viii. RICHARD MONROE RALSTON was born on 01 Aug 1853 in Howard Co., Ind.. He died on 25 Feb 1932 in Dewey Co., Ok. (age 78). His mother would have been about 54 years old at the time of Jarred's birth, and it is questionable whether Jarred was born to the couple. Two of the Wilson's daughters, Mary Ann and Margaret Ellen, never married. At the time of Jarred's birth Mary was age 27 and Margaret was age 23. Jarred may have been a son born out-of-wedlock by one of the two unmarried daughters.

Sometime between 1870 and 1880, the Wilson family moved to Saline, Vernon County, Missouri, where Jarred was enumerated with the family during the 1880 census.

On Christmas Day, December 25, 1895, in Rinehart, Vernon County, Missouri, Jarred married Sarah "Sallie" Radford Howard. No children were born to their union.

Living next door to Jarred and his wife in 1900 was the widower, William Wilson, age 25, born December 1874 in Missouri, and William's son Emmitt, age 1, born July 1898. William Wilson is not known to be related to Jarred.

Jarred was a farmer and a teacher. Jarred and his wife both taught school. After 35 years of teaching, Jarred retired in June of 1929.

Jarred, 64, died from diabetes on June 8, 1931 in Vernon County, Missouri, {certificate # 24023} and was buried in the Milo Cemetery in Milo, Vernon County, Missouri. He was survived by his wife.

Notes for Sarah Radford Howard:

Sarah "Sallie" Radford Howard was born May 22, 1878 in Vernon County, Missouri, the youngest of three children born to Alpheus P. Howard and Nancy "Nannie" Jane Lovell. Radford was the middle name of her maternal grandfather.

On December 25, 1895 in Rinehart, Vernon County, Missouri, Sarah, age 17, married Jarred Albert Wilson. No children were born to Sarah their union. The couple was enumerated during the 1900 census of Vernon County, Missouri. Sallie, age 22, reported that she had had three children, three living. It is suspected that she misunderstood the question and reported the number of siblings, including herself, born and living. In 1920, James, her only brother, committed suicide.

For a number of years, Sarah and her husband both worked as teachers. Jarred, her husband, retired in 1929 and died in 1931. The couple had resided in Center Township of His ancestors were natives of Virginia, from which place they removed to Tennessee in a very early day. They were both of Scotch descent. Living with Malinda at the Goonow's residence was Malinda's youngest child, daughter Irena, age 19.

Notes for James Godfrey Swann:

James G. SWAN was born at Fort Chambers, in the present limits of St. Clair County, Ill., February 12, 1814. He is the third son of Francis and Elizabeth Swan, who were natives of North Carolina. They were married in Christian county, Kentucky, in 1809, and the same year emigrated to Illinois and settled in St. Clair county. He (F. Swan) was one of the home guards, called in those early times "Rangers," and resided in St. Clair county till the fall of 1823, when he settled in Greene county, near Carrolton, where he lived three years, when he removed to township 7, range 11, where he resided till his death, which occurred about the year 1850. His wife died in the fall of 1845. Mr. Swan had a family of nine children - five sons and four daughters - five of whom are still living. They were born in the following order: James G., residing on section 6, township 6, range 11; Mary, present wife of Jacob Butt, of township 7, range 11; John P., of the same township; Elizabeth, present wife of Wm. Rhodes, of township 6, range 11; and Sophronia, present wife of C. S. Whitcomb, residing near San Francisco, Ca. Mr. Swan and wife were active members of the M. E. church. They won the respect of a large circle of friends and acquaintances with whom they were associated in life. The subject of this sketch made the first settlement on the farm where he now resides in the fall of 1833. He now has about one hundred acres in fruits of various kinds, constituting the most extensive fruit farm in Jersey county, and perhaps second to none (according to its area) in the state. Mr. Swan has achieved a marked popularity as a fruit grower throughout the county and state. He was married October 30, 1839, to Miss Elizabeth, daughter of Matthew and Nancy Rolston, of Todd county, Kentucky. They have had five children, three of whom are still living, viz.: Alonzo F., residing near his father; John who is also residing near his father; and James B., residing with his father. His first wife died June 3, 1851. He was again married to Miss Elizabeth, daughter of Henry and Mary Rhodes, of Kentucky, formerly of Virginia. By this union they have had two children, Mary Elizabeth and Francis Henry, both residing with their parents. Mr. Swan is one of the early settlers of the county, and has an enviable record as a horticulturist throughout the state. Politically, he is an advocate of the principles of the republican party, and during the late rebellion was a staunch supporter of the Union cause. Two of his sons served in the Union army. Mr. S. gave his first vote for General Harrison. He voted twice for A. Lincoln, and once for U. S. Grant, and expects to support the illustrious General again in the pending election.

"WILLIAM H. ROADES, Township 6 Range 11. [see photo of farm] This property was first settled by the present owner in 1850. The house was erected by Mr. R. It is built of brick, is two stories high, good cellar, contains eight rooms, and is well furnished. Good cisterns furnish an abundance of water, both for the house and stock purposes. For shade we notice forest and evergreen trees. The barn was constructed in 1854. Prominent among the other out-buildings we notice a fine granary, erected in 1868. There is also a brick smoke-house, erected in 1861. There is a large orchard of fifteen hundred trees, of many varieties, in good bearing. Small fruits are in abundance. For fencing, there is one hundred rods of hedge, four miles of rail, and twenty rods of board. There are under cultivation one hundred acres, and thirty-five acres in grass and pasture. Mr. R. has for live stock, four horses, five cows, and thirty hogs. It is one-half mile to Elsa, and twelve miles to Jerseyville. A good public school is one and one-half miles from the farm. The soil is well drained and undulating. Large crops have been raised, and in regard to quality, they have been as good as any raised in this section of the county. In regard to the neighborhood we must say it ranks among the best in the county, and for generosity and hospitality, which is extended to all, the citizens are unsurpassed. They take an interest in all that tends to the promotion of the religious and educational views of the citizens of this portion of Jersey county."

Eliza was married twice if not three or more times. Her first known marriage was about 1867 or earlier in Illinois, when she married Samuel L. Ralston, becoming his third wife. One child is known to have been born to the couple. Her husband Samuel is said to have died in 1868.

On July 31, 1870 in Jersey County, Illinois, Eliza married John W. Lofton, a retired farmer. The couple, along with her son Charles, were enumerated in the 1870 census of Jersey County, Illinois:

What became of Eliza is uncertain. In the 1880 census, her son Charles, age 13, was enumerated with his older half-brother, Jehu Rolston, in Talkington Township of Sangamon County, Illinois. Perhaps not the same Eliza, "Eliza Lauftin, mother-in-law" was enumerated in the 1880 census of Jerseyville, Jersey County, Illinois, with the family of E. Bruer:

Notes for Lula Jane Roulston:

Lula Jane Roulston was born April 30, 1812 in Jefferson County, Tennessee. She is believed to have been the second of three children born to Moses Matthew Roulston and Polly Denny. She was later be known as Jane Lula Roulston, perhaps preferring to be known as Jane than Lula. Her father had been previously married, and from that marriage Lula had four half-sisters.

About 1828 Lula married Jarred B. Millsaps. Three children, a son and two daughters, are attributed to this marriage. Lula's husband was arrested and sent away to prison in 1835, and released three years later in 1838. According to the family's oral history, Jarred got up one morning, went on an errand, and never returned. Seven years later in 1844, Lula had husband Jarred declared legally dead.

On November 14, 1844, in Soddy, Hamilton County, Tennessee, Lulu entered into her second marriage, taking George Bowers as her husband. Some report this marriage as having taken place in Roane County, Tennessee. Six children are attributed to this union: John B., Fielding, Mary Arvilla, William Allen, Margaret E. and Sarah L.. The family was enumerated during the 1850 census of McMinn County, Tennessee. Living with the couple were children from their previous marriages and three children from their marriage.

In 1868 Lula's daughter, Mrs. Isabell McNelly, died after giving birth to her fourth child. The child, daughter Mary Jane McNelley, was taken in by Lula to raise.

The family left McMinn County and by 1870 lived in Hamilton County, Tennessee, close to Lula's brother William Roulstone. Her husband George died in 1873. Later she moved to the Daisy area of Hamilton County. She was enumerated in the 1880 census of District 8, Hamilton County, Tennessee, with three of her six children. Although listed as a daughter, the youngest, Mary Jane, was Lula's granddaughter:

Jane Bowers	Self	W	Female	W	67	TN	Keeping House	TN	TN
Fielding T. Bowers		Son	S	Male	W	30	TN	Farmer		TN	TN
Allen W. Bowers		Son	S	Male	W	26	TN	Farmer		TN	TN
Sarah L. Bowers		Dau	S	Female	W	22	TN	Dress Maker		TN	TN
Mary J. Bowers	Dau	S	Female	W	12	TN			TN	TN	[granddaughter Mary Jane McNelly]

Jane was enumerated in the 1900 census with her son William, his wife and their children. She stated that she had had 14 children, ten of which were still living. Not all 14 were her children as she had included the children from her second husband's first marriage.

Lula Jane, 89, died April 10, 1902 in Soddy, Hamilton County, Tennessee, and was buried in the Granny Walker Cemetery in Hamilton County. Lula was preceded in death by her daughter Mrs. Isabelle McNelly and three other children/step-children.

Notes for Jarred B. Millsaps:

Jarred B. Millsaps was born in 1809 or 1810 in Tennessee. Some pinpoint his birth as August 24, 1809 in Cocke County, Tennessee; however, his parentage is uncertain. There are claims that he is the son of Edward Millsaps and Lydia Brickery. There are also claims that he came from Haywood County, North Carolina.

About 1828, Jarred married Lula Jane Roulston. His wife and two children lived with Mrs. Winniford Smith in Blount County, Tennessee on Little River in 1835. Jarred was sent to prison for three years in 1835 for theft. He was released in 1838, and his whereabouts after that are unknown.

"Family legends say that either he went out one day to the store and never came back, or that he went to jail for robbery. We have found a Tennessee Prison record for a Jared Millsaps from Hamilton County whose birth date matches. ... The family was forbidden to mention his name. After 7 years, he was declared dead by Lula Jane .... She then married George Bowers." {Mrs. Robert W. Penry, May 2007}

Excerpts from the following letter provides some details and explanations concerning Jarred:

Mary A. Penry

Dear Cousins:

.... I have very little documents on the Millsaps line. I received a record of a Jared B. Millsaps from the Tennessee State Archives of Prison Records. It provided very little information other than that he was 25 years old when he went to prison on Feb 17, 1835, which would make him born in 1809 or 1810. He was released on Feb 22, 1838. His place of birth was listed as Tennessee and he was convicted of grand larceny in Blount County.

Jared B. Millsaps is listed in a land sale on the Little Tennessee River in Hiwassee District. This is found in the archives library of Maryville, Blount, Tennessee and is dated October 1832. He was a witness of the sale of land of James Smith (deceased) by his heirs to Thomas Jones. These are the only document we have found to prove his existence.

Family legend says [he] ... left home on an errand and never came back. His wife Jane Lula Raulston waited 7 years and declared him dead and married George Bowers. The marriage to George Bowers is documented fully. Another family legend says he was sent to prison for theft and she divorced him and remarried George Bowers.

Whichever story was true, in our family it was forbidden to mention his name. All of my aunts, parents, etc., knew the legend but had no idea what his name was. I can find no information about the fore-mentioned Jared B Millsaps in our family records. One web site says his parents were Edward (Ned) Millsaps and Lydia Brickey, but further research says their son's name was Jarrett, not Jared. We have Jarrett's marriage information and it is not to Jane Raulston. The Edward Millsaps family information does not match geographically since they lived in North Carolina during that time period. However, it must be noted that Blount County is adjacent to North Carolina. We feel that the Jarrett is an erroneous conclusion by others researching the line. One cousin said that Jarrett is the missing ancestor and he is the one that was in prison, but no prison records exist for a Jarrett Millsaps.

Jasper Newton Millsaps married Phoebe Caroline Maddux. They were members of the Friends Church. (This is the Society of Friends or Quakers). A picture we have of her shows her dressed in typical Quaker dress of that time period. Since the Millsaps and Raulstons were Quakers and if Jared is the lost ancestor, then he would have been a disgrace to the family, shunned by the society, and his name would have been removed from family records never to be mentioned again.

A newspaper article published in the Chattanooga Free Press in 1996 about Jasper Newton Millsaps mentioned that his father is unknown. The second paragraph of the article states that the Millsaps were previously in the vicinity of Monroe, Roane, and Blount Counties, Tennessee. The article goes on to state that Jesse Millsaps arrived in Tennessee in 1799 when he married Mary (Polly) Hyder in Carter County. This article would lead you to believe that Jesse is the father of our missing ancestor. However, I can find no record showing Jesse having a son named Jared or Jarrett. However, his listed children do fit the time frame. Once again, if Jared was shunned, this could account for his missing from historical records. ....

Sincerely,

Mary Ann Smith Penry

Jarred is said to have had kinfolk in Missouri, and there is some speculation that he may have gone there after leaving his family in Tennessee.

Jarred B. Millsaps and Lula Jane Roulston had the following children:

Five of their children died in infancy and only six of the remaining children lived into adulthood. Lydia Millsaps, daughter of Isabelle's sister Lula Jane, was enumerated with the family in the 1850 census of Roane County, Tennessee. By 1860 the family and the majority of the surviving children had removed to Johnson County, Illinois. There, John, Isabell's husband of nearly thirty-four years, preceded her in death on February 12, 1865 at the age of 55. After her husband's death, her son Lewis and his family moved from Tennessee to take over the family farm in Illinois. Isabell was enumerated in the 1870 census of Johnson County, Illinois with her widowed son Lewis and his children: Samuel, Belle and William, and her youngest known surviving son, James. The 1880 census enumerated one of her grandchildren, Carolin Whitlock, living with her, and Carolin had already counted in the census with her parents, living next door. The Book of Jared

By Eleanor M. Hall

"Naomi Jared (William2, John1) born 27 September 1797 in Jackson County, Tennessee, daughter of William & Elizabeth (Raulston) Jared - married John Simmons 5 October 1815. As a boy John Simmons accompanied his parents to what is now Franklinton, Louisiana. His sister Jane Simmons married Colonel James Raulston and remained in TN. When British invasion of Louisiana appeared imminent young Simmons joined the 13th Louisiana Militia. In the engagements near the city the British were defeated with great losses.

When the emergency was over, John Simmons contacted Colonel Raulston and accompanied him back to Nashville, Tennessee. There he met and married Colonel Raulston's niece, Naomi Jared. They later moved to Missouri when the Civil War Began. He was a Southern sympathizer and it nearly cost him his life. Threatened with arrests for having served Confederate cavalry in his shop, he refused to be taken. His daughter Elizabeth seized a hoe and, holding its sharp point over the head of the Union soldier whose pistol was leveled at her father, shouted, "Shoot and I will sink this hoe in your brain!" This display of courage and devotion struck at the heart of the Union commander. He ordered his men out, congratulated Elizabeth, saluted and left.

John Simmons died 1 October 1868 and was first buried near Thomasville, Missouri. His wife Naomi Jared died in Mountain Grove, Missouri on December 24, 1876 and was buried in the Old Cemetery. John's remains were later moved and reburied beside her."

And his wives, pp 40 - 42, HANNAH WHITACRE and RACHEL PALMER Compiled by Eleanor M. Hall, 1986, Eleanor McAllister Hall, Salt Lake City, Utah}

Joseph and Emma (see Book Of Jared p 378 #333S) became parents of a son, whom they christened Thomas Kelly, while tarrying in White County. About that time Thomas D. Jared visited Tennessee. Concluding his visit he began his return journey back to the Texas Homestead. Before he had traveled a day's journey

He became ill and died. His remains were returned to Sparta and buried by those of his father in the City Cemetery.

Joseph Jared (*3338) was now the sole owner of the homestead. Since failure to live on, and work the land would cloud the title, he returned to the homestead with his wife and young son. Four more children, Martha Ruth, Joseph Summerfield, Mae Bell, and Charley Lee were born while the family lived in Texas. The children did not attend public school but were taught by their mother at home. On one occasion the four older children were induced by Mexican children to eat castor beans. They all became very ill except Tom, who claimed to have eaten as many castor beans as the rest. The incident cost Martha Ruth her life.

Soon after Charley Lee's birth, Emma, who had up to this time apparently adapted quite well to the rigors of pioneer life, began to develop symptoms of mental illness. This is said to have resulted from a blow on the head she received when she fell from her horse in early teens, having been sent across the mountain to fetch her grandmother to assist at a birth.

Joseph placed her in a sanitarium and hired help to care for the children. This proved to be unsatisfactory so he returned to Tennessee to leave the children with his brother, Obe (Overton Jett Jared *3335), and his wife Lou.

Mary (Crook) Broyles, the children's maternal grandmother, now a widow lived in the John Crook house some 3-5 miles from the Obe Jared family. She heard rumors that the children were not happy. She took them to live at her house. Her youngest daughter, Mrs. Mollie (Broyles) Hudson, taught in a school a few miles away so the children were treated to their first experience with a public school. Tom was even tempered and endured the jibes often given to "new" children, but Joe responded with his fists and got the reputation of being pugnacious.

Another rumor heard by Mary Broyles was that her son in law was a hard drinker. She jumped to the conclusion that he had gotten rid of Emma and the children to allow himself more liberty to drink and carouse. She and some of her daughters went to Texas to see for them selves. They found Emma in apparently good mental health, but they were advised by the Sanitarium authorities to leave her there for another year to assure that her cure was complete. Ignoring this advice they secured her release against medical advice and brought her with them to Tennessee. Shortly after she manifested further symptoms of mental disorder. Mary took Thomas Kelly aside and asked him to tell her the whole truth about the situation. He told her that his father did indeed drink, but he did not run around.

She immediately wrote to Joseph and apologized for what she had thought. His reply indicated he would sell the farm and return to Tennessee.

He reunited the family on a farm in Cashdollar Cove, adjacent to the one where Emma had spent her childhood and youth. A sixth child, Alice Victory, was born while they lived at that place. The children were able to attend school at Shady Grove in a more relaxed atmosphere since they were no longer "outlanders" and since they had no relatives teaching in that school. My mother said she regarded as "just some more of the mean boys" at school.

Thomas Kelly (Tom) was encouraged to drop out of school at completion of the eighth grade to help on the farm, but Joseph Summerfield "Joe", being short of stature and asthmatic, was sent to White County High School in Sparta, as it was thought he was too weak to make a living farming. Both Tom and Joe were drafted during the First World War and served with the AEF in France. Both tried their hand at teaching after the war, but Tom decided he was a farmer by profession, and Joe decided on a career as a mail clerk in Nashville. Charley planned to enter the Methodist Ministry, but was discovered to have tuberculosis and died before he could complete his education.

After the war Tom Jared began courting Bertha Knowles, who lived on an adjoining farm. She was one of the four daughters of William J. Knowles, a descendant of John Knowles, an early White County settler who had immigrated from Ireland and served with the Pennsylvania Regulars during the Revolution. He married Kitty Lou Bruster, daughter of John Foster and Amanda (Simril).

When Tom Jared came to court Bertha Knowles he found he usually had Lora, her sister, as a 'tag along' wherever they went. He began to bring his brother Joe along on his dates. Joe worked in Nashville for about a year before he and Lora were married. Tom and Bertha followed them in matrimony a year later. The Joe Jared's settled in Nashville near the Trevecca College Campus, about a block away from the home of Tom Cashdollar. Tom and Bertha Jared occupied the Knowles house jointly with Billy until his death in 1926, and continually until Tom's death in 1964. Aunt Bertha has resided in this house continually since she was two years old.

Mary Bell Jared married John K. Bain, a veteran of the First World War. Alice, the youngest child married Reubin Kirby, a White County Farmer and Merchant. The Bains raised a large family and during much of their married life lived in the Joseph Graham Jared house. The Kirby's had one son and lived in the Pealed Chestnut Community of White County.

The Joe Jared's had four children, of which I was oldest, two boys and twin girls. My mother died at age 39, when I was eleven, my brother eight and our sisters five. The Tom Cashdollars moved into the house with us to take care of the boys. The girls lived for a while in the Tom Jared family along with their two sons. There was lots of visiting during this period. This era ended when my father married Miss Emma Lee.

Notes for Samuel Raulston Jared:

On February 26, 1832 in Tennessee, Samuel married Mary Susan Scruggs. The family made its living farming. Eight children are known to have been born from their union. The first three children are said to have been born in White County, adjacent to Jackson County. Later children were born in the area of Jackson County that became Putnam County in 1854.

Tennessee was swept by epidemics of Malaria, cholera, and smallpox. The family lost two children in 1839, daughter Sophronia age 5 and son Mathew age 6 months. Son Archibald was killed in 1864 while serving in the Civil War.

Samuel's wife died in Decembr of 1877 at the age of 65. In 1880 the widowed Samuel was living with his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Huddleston, Ruth's husband, and their family.

Three years later, Samuel, 75, died May 12, 1883 in Putnam County, Tennessee, and was buried in the Jared-Huddleston Cemetery near Gentry, Putnam County, Tennessee.

Sophronia, 5, died August 1, 1839 in Jackson County, Tennessee, and was buried in the Jared-Huddleston Cemetery in Gentry, Putnam County, Tennessee. Tennessee was swept by epidemics of Malaria, cholera, and smallpox, and Sophronia may have died from one of these diseases.

625. iii. JOHN WESLEY JARED was born on 22 Feb 1836 in White Co., Tenn.. He died on 10 Apr 1886 in Gentry, Putnam Co., Tenn. (age 50). ### Generation 4 (cont.)

Like his brothers, John Wesley and William James Jared's, Archibald fought for the South in the Civil War. Archibald was a private, who served with the 28th Regiment of the Tennessee Infantry of the Confederate States Army.

Archibald, 27, was killed in Macon, Bibb County, Georgia on October 6, 1864. In 1990 his remains were removed and reburied with his family in the Jared-Huddleston Cemetery in Putnam County, Tennessee.

CONFEDERATE SOLDIER TO BE RETURNED FOR BURIAL -- Putnam Countian Died fighting Sherman

Archibald Scruggs Jared left Putnam County in the fall of 1862 to join his brothers in the Confederate Army. Later this month, he will rejoin his family here 126 years after dying far from home as he fought to halt Sherman's infamous "March to the Sea." Pvt. Jared, one of the soldiers who helped defend Georgia--and the remainder of the Confederate South--will be buried later this month in his family cemetery on a hill in the Gentry community. Maurine Patton, who is working here to find a place to bury Archibald Scruggs Jared, said the return home of the Confederate soldier answers several questions for the Jared family.

An uncle to her grandmother, Pvt. Jared died "from a stray bullet while he was near his camp according to family history", Mrs. Patton said. However, Bert Jared of Lavergne, the great-great nephew of Pvt. Jared, said that he was killed from a cannon ball to the ribs. "Whenever a soldier was killed, it was not uncommon to write something good about the soldier to his family", Bert said. Choosing the less gruesome means of death, the letter writer said Pvt. Jared was sitting under a tree reading a Bible when the stray hit him.

Bert's research into the history of the Jared family came as a result of his joining the Sons of Confederate Soldiers, an organization which requires a person to prove ancestry to a soldier, and his love of Southern history. "I remember in the early 1950's when my grandfather told me about three brothers who went to war", Bert said. "I was too young to remember much about some of the stories he told me. In 1980 my daughter and I drove down to Macon to do some further research about the three brothers", he added. "I had found out that my great-great grandfather and two great-great uncles served in the Civil war".

According to further research Bert conducted, only two of the brothers returned home alive after the war ended in April 1865. Not returning was Pvt. Jared, one of Bert's uncles. On October 20, after 126 years, Pvt Jared will be placed beside his mother and father, Samuel Raulston and Saphronia Scruggs Jared, in the Jared and Huddleston Cemetery on Stanton Ridge Road in Gentry.

Born May 8, 1837, in Gentry, Pvt. Jared was the fourth child in a family of eight. He was hit Aug. 8, 1864, and entered the Ocmulgee Hospital in Macon where he stayed for almost two months before he died on Oct. 6.

Since two of his brothers had already joined a unit formed in Put-County, young Pvt. Jared said goodbye to his family in the fall of 1862 and traveled to Nashville to join his brothers' company, Company K of the 28th Tennessee Infantry Regiment, a Confederate unit made of mostly Putnam volunteers. All three brothers fought side-by-side in the Battle of Murfreesboro, also called the Battle of Stones River, in the fall of 1863 and in several other battles prior to the Atlanta campaign of 1864.

When Bert went to Macon to find where Pvt. Jared was buried, he found the Private relatively soon after consulting the library and archives there in Macon. Bert found payroll records for Pvt. Jared which traced his military life from Murfreesboro to Macon.

"We located Pvt. Jared's marked grave at the Rose Hill City Cemetery", Bert said. "I felt most fortunate, as a lot of the 602 Confederate soldiers buried there were in graves marked 'unknown.'"

"As I understand, there were a lot of Southern ladies in Macon and they took care of their fighting men. They were very good about marking every grave they could." And 10 years after Bert made that trip to Macon, Pvt. Jared is coming home - home to the family cemetery in Gentry. "I didn't find much opposition. I went to the health department there and fill out all the paperwork and then went back to the cemetery and completed all of the forms there."

Bert was then able to begin digging for Pvt. Jared's remains. "The men there wanted to use a backhoe, but I've read enough to know that some soldiers weren't buried as deep as others. "I allowed them to use the machine down to two feet and then they started using shovels. When we finished, the bottom of the grave was right at 3' 10". What Bert found was mostly bones, a decomposing coffin and two buttons. "Those buttons told me that he was buried in his uniform which is odd. I figured that since he was in the hospital for so long, he wouldn't be buried in it.

"I've just wanted to bring him home to be with the rest of the family. He has a right to be with them. He should have the same treatment as his brothers who came back. He deserves to come back." Bert had a friend build a pine coffin similar to the dimensions used by the Confederacy. And Pvt. Jared's original tombstone will mark the gravesite. Both tombstone and coffin with remains inside -- are in Bert's garage until later this month.

Now back in Tennessee, Pvt. Jared's remains are waiting for the 2 p.m. Oct. 20, 1990, burial services in Gentry which will be "as authentic as possible," according to Bert. "We plan to have several Confederate re-enactors at the cemetery that day serving as pallbearers. And members of the Sons of Confederate Soldiers will be there as well as the Military Order of the Stars and Bars, of which Bert is a member. And when all the military fanfare has concluded, Pvt. Jared will rest with his mother and father on a hill overlooking the home he lived in just before he volunteered for service.

"We're talking about something that will never happen again," Bert said. "There will never be another Confederate States of America.

"Now, after 10 years, I have finally realized my dream of bringing Pvt. Archibald Scruggs Jared back home to be buried in the family cemetery with his mother and father."

By Charles Roll, A.M., The Lewis Publishing Company, 1931

ALBERT GALLATIN HOLCOMB was for many years one of the outstanding citizens of Gibson County, a farmer and fruit grower, and from early manhood was the recipient of repeated honors from his fellow citizens, holding all the offices within their gift.

Mr. Holcomb was born in Johnson Township, Gibson County, March 7, 1858. His grandfather, Hosea Holcomb, came from Virginia and was one of the pioneers of Southern Indiana, entering land from the Government located three and a half miles east of Haubstadt. Here he cleared the timber, built a home, reared a fine family and was in every sense of the word a successful man. Albert G. Holcomb was a son of Silas Mercer and Nancy M. (Ralston) Holcomb, his mother being a sister of Doctor Ralston of Evansville. The parents had a family of five children: William R., of Vincennes; Albert G.; Minnie, deceased; Martha, of Fort Branch; and Andrew R., who died in Oklahoma.

Albert Gallatin Holcomb made good use of his early educational advantages, attending the district and high schools of Gibson County. Eight years of his early life were spent in teaching, and he always lived on a farm, his place adjoining the City of Fort Branch. He gave much attention to fruit growing, and took an active part in the Farmers Institute for many years.

When only eighteen years of age he was elected chairman of the Democratic township committee, and held that office thirty years. He was also for four years chairman of the county Democratic committee. For two consecutive terms he served as township trustee, and it was his splendid administration of the schools and other duties included in that office that made him the choice of his district for the State Senate, as was his father, Silas Holcomb, before him. He was elected for one term, and in 1904 was Democratic candidate from this district for Congress, being defeated in the general landslide which occurred when Roosevelt was candidate for his second term. Mr. Holcomb was president for several years and director for sixteen years of the Gibson County Fair Association.

This greatly beloved citizen of Gibson County passed away October 12, 1928, when seventy years of age. He married October 27, 1881, Miss Alice M. Hull, who survives him and continues to occupy the old homestead near Fort Branch. This farm comprises about 200 acres, and is an important unit in the fruit growing interests of this section of the state. Mrs. Holcomb is a daughter of Thomas Hull, a pioneer of Gibson County. She is the mother of two sons, Thomas and Harold. Thomas, a graduate of the University of Georgia in 1908 and of the Yale Law School in 1909, is now practicing law. He served as a first lieutenant in the Ninety-first Division during the World war and previously in the Philippine Constabulary. He married Miss Sarah E. Whittemore, of Evansville. He was retired from the army service on December 7, 1928, with the rank of first lieutenant. The son Harold, a fruit grower near Fort Branch, is a graduate of Purdue University and served as a second lieutenant in the war, being in France for eleven months and participating in the Meuse Argonne drive. He married Mary E. Martin, of Terre Haute, and has one child, Dorothy Alice, born in 1925.

while in Nelson was uneventful' spent for the most part at home. It is in the home tht she radiated the sunshine of her life even though through a good deal of suffering and pain to which she was heir. She bore it all with a fortitude and patience and grace that was a lesson to many. "We scarcely knew mother when she was well," said the children, "but her strong will and faith kept her heart steady to the end." For the last three years she was a confirmed invalid in her bed or on the couch, but the husband and sons took care of her to tenderly until the time when the summons came. Although an invalid for these years and the warning was evident, yet we are never ready to give up our loved ones. She is gone from earthly scenes, but not forgotten' she lives today in hearts left behind.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her loving husband, the two sons, grandchildren and a host of friends.

The bravest battle that ever was fought
Shall I tell you by the mothers of men.
The shadows are dense, but the light again
Of Heaven's great glory shall life the gloom;
And bring to view every hill and glen
Dear friends, for this lift of the soul make room.

The funeral services were conducted from the home in east Nelson on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. Rev. S.H. Jones had charge of the service. Intermnt {sic} was made in the Nelson cemetery.

JUDGE WESLEY RALSTON

The Republican Candidate for Third Ward Councilman

"Judge Wesley Ralston the Republican nominee for councilman in the third ward is one of the best known residents of this city.

He was born in McDonough county, Illinois August 19, 1836 and was reared there. He fought in the war of the rebellion in the 58th Illinois infantry and in 1869 except for two years in the eighties when he lived in this city. He was a member of the county court from 1884 to 1888, and made a creditable record in that capacity.

In 1889 Judge Ralston rented his farm and moved to Carthage where he has since resided. He is a clean, reliable man with a reputation for good business judgement and plenty of good common sense. He will make an excellent councilman and should be elected next Tuesday by a wide margin."

JUDGE RALSTON IS DEAD

UREMIC POISONING FATAL TO CIVIL WAR VETERAN

Former Member of County Court and Council Came Here in 1869 - Was 80 Years Old

Judge Wesley Ralston, 80 years old, a pioneer resident of Jasper county, died at 3:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Ralston home, corner of Maple and Ninth streets.

Death was due to uremic poisoning. Judge Ralston was taken sick three weeks ago yesterday. He had grown steadily worse from that time on. However he had been in poor health for two years. Wesley Ralston was born in McDonough county, Illinois, August 19, 1836. When he was 19 years old he married Miss Charlotte Wade at Alexandria, Missouri. both he and Miss Wade lived in Illinois but on account of his age they could not get a license and he had to come to Missouri to be married.

Moved Here in 1869

After their marriage, they went back to Illinois and lived there until 1869 when they moved to Jasper county, settling on a farm ten miles south of Carthage in Union township. While residing there Judge Ralston acted as township collector of taxes. He was also superintendent of the Sunday school in Union township, which was the only one for miles around. Every Sunday he carried a melodeon back and forth to the church in order that there would be some musical instrument to use at the service. His melodeon was the only musical instrument in the surrounding country at the time.

In 1884 Judge Ralston was elected judge of the county court from the eastern district on the Republican ticket. He then moved to Carthage. During that time he conducted a grocery with T. H. Grieb, on the site where the Block building now stands.

Re-elected County Judge

In 1866 he was re-elected for another term as member of the county court and served for two years. He then moved back to his farm and engaged in farming until 1898 when he moved to Carthage. He engaged in the real estate business here for many years. About ten years ago he served two terms on the city council. It was during his term as councilman that he and Mrs. Ralston celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. The council presented them with a beautiful gold clock. Mr. Ralston was always prominently connected with the public affairs of the county.

When he first came to Jasper county he joined one of the local granges and was a little later made a member of the state grange, in which he always took an active part.

Served in Union Army

Mr. Ralston was a veteran of the Civil War. He joined the Fifty-eighth Illinois volunteer infantry in March 1864. He was in the army just a year, having been mustered out in March 1865. His regiment did not actively engage in any of the big battles of that conflict. During the last battle of the war, the regiment was just being prepared to send into the fray when the word came that Lee had surrendered. For several months Judge Ralston acted as captain of the company after the death of the regular captain. He was a member of the G.A.R. and of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Judge and Mrs. Ralston celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1905. In 1915 they celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary.

Industry and honesty are necessary to a successful commercial life and they are as necessary to a successful farmer, and this thought is suggested by a consideration of the career of Simon W. Dreisbach, a leading farmer of the Madison township, Jasper County, Missouri

Mr. Dreisbach is a descendant of an old Pennsylvania family, his grandfather, John Dreisbach having been a native of that state and his father, Jacob E. Dreisbach, having been born in Union county, Pennsylvania in 1823. About 1832 Jacob E. Dreisbach went from his native town in Pennsylvania to Pickaway county, Ohio, where he married Catherine Wagner, who was born in Fairfield county, Ohio, a daughter of Jacob Wagner, who had come out to Ohio from Pennsylvania.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES

Charles E. Ralston, the Nominee for Collector of Jasper County

Charles E. Ralston, the Republican candidate for county collector, an excellent likeness of whom appears herewith, was born in McDonough county, Illinois, in 1869 and is consequently 31 years of age.

In 1870 his parents removed with him to Jasper county, where he grew up and has lived ever since. When he became old enough he worked on his father's farm in the summer and attended the country school in his neighborhood in the winter. In the fall of 1884 he entered the public schools of Carthage, which he attended till 1888. The following year he began a course in the Carthage Business college, from which institution he graduated in 1892. For the next six years he engaged in farming with his father, Judge Wesley Ralston, on the old homestead in Union township. In 1898 he was made the Republican nominee for collector of Jasper county and was defeated by a close vote. when this year's Republican convention met he was again chosen to make the race for this office, and there is every indication that he and all his associates on the ticket will be elected in November.

Mr. Ralston is an intelligent, industrious young man, and is well qualified to fill the responsible position for which he has been nominated.

CHARLES E. RALSTON FOR ASSESSOR

Well Known Carthage Republican Announces Candidacy For Nomination

Charles E. Ralston, of Carthage, a likeness of whom appears in this column, announces elsewhere in this issue his candidacy for his party's nomination for the important office of assessor of Jasper county.

No formal introduction of the candidate to the average man who has been long in politics is necessary, for Charley Ralston has been a familiar figure in the political battles in Jasper county for the last 20 years, and in that period not election has passed into history, but that the efforts of Charley Ralston were contributed toward the success of the Republican ticket.

Twice in years gone by, Mr. Ralston was nominated by his party for the office of collector. In both campaigns, those of 1898 and 1900, Mr. Ralston and the other candidates on the county ticket, were the fighters for a vain hope, and the party was unsuccessful, as students of local political history will remember. Notwithstanding the fact that the honors then conferred upon him proved not only expensive but valueless, Mr. Ralston established a reputation for being a "good loser" and has since been as earnest and as vigorous in fighting his party's battles as he was before.

Two questions should, according to modern political philosophy, be passed upon by the electorate before conferring an important nomination upon any man, the first and more important of these is, of course, the question of personal merit, capacity, fitness, efficiency, capability; the second and hardly less important, is the question as to whether or not a given aspirant for public favor had so conducted himself, as his party's earnest friend, as to politically deserve distinction and public trust. To both of these questions the record of Charley Ralston returns a favorable answer.

Mr. Ralston, who is now 42 years of age, came to Jasper county when he was three months old. Although he took up his residence here without being consulted in the matter, he has never since expressed or felt the slightest regret at having become a citizen of the queen county of Missouri.

Until he was 29 years of his age his life was spent on a farm in Union township, and he there became thoroughly acquainted with farm values, a good judge of horse, mule and implement values and learned the lessons of hard labor by personal contact with farm duties extending over a period of more than fifteen years.

For the past thirteen years he has made his home in Carthage, where he has been engaged in the real estate business. For some years he acted in the capacity of deputy sheriff. In his private business, and in the discharge of his public duties as an under sheriff, he has received a liberal education in mine, business and home values, and is all in all a dependable judge of worth of a given piece of property, no matter what its nature. Mr. Ralston received his education in the country school in Union township and later in the Carthage schools, finishing with a business course.

He is a member of the A.H.T.A., Modern Woodmen, Sons of Veterans and Yeoman Lodges and enjoys the confidence of a large circle of fraternal friends and acquaintances. If elected assessor of Jasper county he pledges his personal attention to the business of the office, and will prove a fair, equitable and just appraiser of the assessable value of the people's property, promising justice and fairness to the owner of the poorest as well as finest houses.

An administration of the office of county assessor in the hands of Charles E. Ralston would mean efficiency, courtesy and reliability."

Sometime prior to the 1930 census, Charles married the widowed Mrs. Nellie Fields, maiden name unknown. The couple and Nellie's youngest child were enumerated in the 1930 census of Carthage, Jasper County, Missouri:

Charles Ralston	Head	M	58	Illinois

About 1862, Nancy married Cyrus F. Widup. One child was born to the couple. They divorced after about a year of marriage.

About 1865, Nancy married Stephen E. Roberts. Six children were born to the couple; two died prior to the 1900 census. The family was enumerated in the 1880 census of Saint Marys, Hancock County, Illinois:

Elzie Roberts	Son	M	9	Illinois
Josie Roberts	Daughter	F	9/12	Illinois
Jasey Roberts	Son	M	9/12	Illinois
Arthur Widup	Son	M	17	Illinois ****

**** Nancy's son from her first marriage.

In 1900 Nancy and her daughter Josephine were visiting on her brother James at his farm in Jasper County, Missouri. Nancy was enumerated there and again in Hancock County, Illinois with her husband at their son Elza's home:

Nancy's husband died the following year.

Notes for Cyrus F. Widup:

Cyrus F. Widup was born in September of 1832 in Indiana, the son of William Widup and his wife Lerissa. The family was enumerated in the 1850 census of Cenreville, Wayne County, Indiana:

William Wilup	M	50	North Carolina
Lerissa Wilup	F	48	Virginia
Mary J Wilup	F	16	Indiana
Leressa Widup	F	14	Indiana
Susan Widup	F	10	Indiana
Allen Widup	M	8	Indiana
George G Julian	M	32	Indiana
Ann Julian	F	22	Indiana
Edmonds Julian	M	4	Indiana
Cyrus Widup	M	19	Indiana

Their eldest son, William, was not present in 1850.

Cyrus removed to New York City by 1860 where he was working as a clerk. Although the census did not specify, he may have been a clerk for the rail road. Cyrus left New York, removing to Illinois, perhaps with his brothers William and Allen who were enumerated there in 1870.

About 1862 Cyrus married Nancy Ellen Ralston. One son was born to their union. The couple divorced after about a year of marriage.

In 1897 in Illinois, Cyrus F. Widup applied for a pension for his service, D 148 Ind. Inf.. No age or birth information was provided on the application index card. Cyrus then removed to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma where he was enumerated in the 1900 census:

Cyrus F. Widup, age 68, b. Sept 1832 Ind. (divorced), father: N.C., mother: Va.. Where it asks for years married, it says "1."

No further record of Cyrus was found after 1900.

Cyrus's brother, Allen W. Widup, was buried in the Sunset Cemetery in Quincy, Adams County, Illinois. It is coincidental perhaps that when Arthur C. Widup, Cyrus's son, returned to Illinois, he went to in Quincy, Illinois.

Cyrus F. Widup and Nancy Ellen Ralston had the following child:

- i. ARTHUR C.<sup>6</sup> WIDUP was born on 19 Nov 1862 in Illinois. He died on 08 Jun 1936 in Quincy, Adams Co., Ill. (age 73). He married Emma J. Dolph, daughter of James Eugene Dolph and Esther Hess, on 06 Nov 1901 in Danbury, Red Willow Co., Neb.. She was born in Jul 1881 in Nebraska. She died in 1971.

Notes for Arthur C. Widup:

Arthur C. Widup was born November 19, 1862 in Illinois, the only child known to have been born Cyrenus Widup and Nancy Ellen Ralston. What became of his father is unknown. The spelling of his father's given name may be incorrect, and the surname may have originally been Widdup.

In 1865 Arthur's mother married Stephen E. Roberts. From this marriage Arthur had six half-siblings. Arthur grew up with his Roberts siblings. In 1898 Arthur fought in the Spanish-American War. After the war he lived in Sherman County, Kansas.

On November 6, 1901 in Danbury, Red Willow County, Nebraska, Arthur married Emma J. Dolph. Children born to the couple, if any, are unknown. The couple was not found in the 1910 nor 1920 census and had divorced by 1930. Arthur was residing in Illinois in 1910 when he applied for a veterans pension for his service during the Spanish-American War.

In 1930 Arthur, age 67, was divorced and living in the Soldiers and Sailors Home in Riverside Township of Adams County, Illinois. In this census he states his father was born in Indiana.

Arthur, age 73, died June 8, 1936 in Quincy, Adams County, Illinois, and was buried in the Ten days of suffering ended in death at 9:30 o'clock last night when Jeannette Hood, the 13 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Hood of South Forest street, passed away. There had been hopes of her recovery for the last two days, but a reaction set in yesterday evening and she became weaker as her temperature rose and death ended all.

A week ago last Sunday she became ill fever and from the very beginning her condition was alarming. For a week life was uncertain, but when she passed through the crisis last Sunday and improved Monday and Tuesday her parents were much encouraged. About 3 o'clock yesterday her temperature, which had been hovering a little above normal, began to rise and continued to do so until her death at 9:30.

She was a pupil in the eighth grade of the Carthage public schools and was very popular with a host of girls her age. She was a member of the First Methodist church and attended the Sunday school of that church.

In addition to her parents, two brothers and four sisters live to mourn her loss. The brothers are Dixie and Fred P. Hood, both of Carthage; one sister, Miss Dorothy Hood makes her home in Carthage, and another sister, Mrs. L. F. Miller, lives in Joplin; the other two sisters reside in San Francisco and one, Miss Nell Hood, arrived here this morning. The other sister, Mrs. Lottie B. Cook will arrive tomorrow night.

The funeral services will be held at Park Cemetery at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning and will be conducted by the Rev. Samuel Blair, assisted by Rev. F. M. Weddell. Owing to the nature of the disease which caused Miss Hood's death, no services can be held at the house.

History of Jasper County Missouri, Mills and Company, Des Moines, IA, 1883, pp. 734-735

CHARLES W. JOHNSON, farmer and stock-raiser, postoffice Carthage, was born in Washington county, Ark., Jan. 1, 1839, and was there reared to manhood. In his youthful days he was of delicate health. During the war, though of strong union sentiment, himself and two brothers were conscripted into the Confederate service. He was discharged shortly on account of poor health, and his brothers managed to escape with much difficulty. In 1862 the entire family fled to Kansas, and located near Fort Scott, where our subject was engaged in freighting for United States Government contractors. While at that business he was attacked on Cabin Creek by the Rebel Gen. Cooper, and the entire train of about 100 teams and wagons was captured. This was one of the richest hauls the Confederates made in the Southwest. Our subject and his brothers sustained a loss of several hundred dollars. In the spring of 1866 he became a resident of Jasper county. He was married here Nov. 20, 1867, to Miss Dicy Ralston, a native of Jasper county, Mo., daughter of Nathan Ralston, deceased. ### Generation 5 (cont.)

The country of Baden became a state of Germany in 1871 and is located in the southern part of present day Germany.

John probably removed to the United States with his parents. Sometime by the 1830's or perhaps earlier, John resided in Ohio, in or around Clermont County.

On March 24, 1836 in Hamilton County, Tennessee, John married Sarah "Sallie" Derrough, a native of Clermont County, Ohio. John's brother Joseph had married Sarah's sister, Mary Ann, three years earlier. John and his wife remained in Ohio until sometime after 1844, after which time they removed to Iowa where they are known to have lived from 1847 through 1857 and perhaps longer. The family left Iowa and moved west to California where they were enumerated in the 1860 census of Butte County in northern California. By 1865 John had moved the family to Douglas County, Oregon. He and his wife settled there for the remainder of their lives.

John, about 74, preceded his wife in death in 1884 in Douglas County, Oregon, and was buried in the Ten Mile Cemetery in Ten Mile Township of Douglas County, Oregon. His wife and two of their children were also buried there. John and his wife share a tombstone. On this stone, John's birth year is enscribed as 1800. Biography of John Gurley Flook,

August 12, 1839, John G. Flook was born in Clermont County, Ohio, a son of John and Sarah (Durough) Flook. Mrs. Flook was descended from distinguished Virginian stock. Her father, who was a native of Virginia, early in life, settled in Ohio, being one of the pioneers to that state, and it was in that state that his death occurred. The beloved mother attained the age of eighty-four years, and her death occurred in Douglas County. John Flook was a native of Baden, Germany, who upon coming to America, made settlement in Clermont County, Ohio, and engaged in the manufacture of clocks, having learned this useful trade in his native land, Later he turned his attention to farming, but incidentally worked at his trade by doing repairing. In 1842 he removed to Iowa, and for a number of years made his home in Farmington, VanBuren County, and there he also followed the dual occupation of farming and clock making. In 1857 Mr. Flook crossed overland to California with his wife and seven children, and for several years the family home was at Chico, Butte County. In 1860 he came to Douglas County, Ore., and purchasing the Ten Mile farm, engaged in farming and stock-raising. He lived to a ripe old age, and was a well to do and highly esteemed citizen. The parental family comprised seven children, of whom we mention the following: William, who during the Civil war was a volunteer in the First Oregon Cavalry, died at Roseburg; by occupation he was a farmer. John Gurley was the next child in order of birth. Orville is engaged in the lumber business in Olalla, Ore. Henry is a resident of Roseburg. Mary, Mrs. Ireland, died in Roseburg. Anna became the wife of T. W. Newland and they reside in Olalla. Dollie, Mrs. Levi Smith, is a resident of Marshfield.

Although but a few years old when his parents moved to Iowa, Mr. Flook distinctly remembers the incidents that transpired while the family lived in Ohio. His early education was obtained in the district schools of Iowa, which he attended diligently until his eighteenth year. It was at this point in his career that the removal of the family to California occurred, and it was upon this trip that he was allowed to act as driver of one of the wagons. There were three wagons in the train belonging to the father, these being drawn by four and six yoke of oxen. They left Iowa in April, going by way of St. Joseph, Mo., up the Platte River, over the old California trail known as South Pass, down the Humboldt River and through Honey Lake valley, the trip lasting six months. That was the year of the Mountain Meadow massacre, and they saw Mrs. Halloway, who had been scalped by the Indians. During the trip they had several skirmishes with the Indians, who molested them from time to time, and were especially troublesome on the Humboldt and in the Thousand Springs valley, and one man was wounded. By concentrating their forces and crowding into twelve wagons they were better enabled to resist the attacks of the Indians, and finally reached Chico their destination.

Biography, Wikipedia.

Early years

John Gurley Flook was born August 12, 1839 in Clermont County, Ohio. Flook's father, John Flook, Sr., was an immigrant born in Baden, then a sovereign country which joined the German empire only in 1871. His mother, the former Sarah Durough, was the daughter of an Ohio pioneer with family lineage dating back to the Virginia colony.

Flook's parents moved to the Midwestern state of Iowa in 1842, where they established themselves as farmers near the town of Farmington. The family moved west to Chico, California in 1857, coming west in three covered wagons, one of which was driven by the second-eldest son, John.

The family moved north to Douglas County, Oregon in 1860 to take up farming and the raising of livestock there. John, Jr. finally left home in 1864, enlisting in Company A of the 1st Oregon Cavalry, mustered in Roseburg. He served time at various bases in the region, mustering out of the service in July 1866 as a first corporal.

Political career

In 1868, while still a resident of Douglas County, Flook was elected to the Oregon State Legislature as a Republican.[1] He would only serve for a single two-year term in that office, but during that time he managed to make his mark as the author of the so-called "Flook bill," which established a state-owned land-grant agricultural college at Corvallis, now known as Oregon State University.

It should be noted that Flook's legislation did not create a university in Corvallis from thin air. As early as 1851 the legislature of the Oregon Territory passed a bill establishing a territorial university in the town of Marysville, a small enclave in the Willamette Valley renamed Corvallis in December 1853. It was not until 1856 that the Corvallis Academy - the first post-secondary school in the area - was established, however. This school was incorporated and rechristened as Corvallis College in 1858. The school went bankrupt and was purchased by representatives of the Southern Methodist Church, which relaunched Corvallis College under church auspices in 1860.

Congressional legislation was signed into law in 1862 providing for the granting of 90,000 acres of federal land to the state of Oregon for the establishment of a state agricultural college. Flook learned that the time to take advantage of this land grant was soon to expire and introduced legislation providing for the establishment of such a school in Corvallis. In August 1868, aided by the effort of W. W. Moreland of the Corvallis College faculty, new articles of incorporation were filed and Corvallis College was formally "designated and adopted" as the recipient of the federal land grant. The Agricultural College of Oregon became known as Oregon State College in 1937, and subsequently Oregon State University in 1961.

Later years

After his stint in the military, Flook returned home to the family farm in Douglas County. He left farming in 1873 to establish a flour mill in Roseburg as J.G. Flook Company, gradually modernizing his facility and expanding capacity to 75 barrels per day. About 15 people were employed in his milling operation. Flook then sold his flour mill and used the funds to launch a planing mill in Roseburg, also known as the J.G. Flook Company.

During his life Flook married twice, siring two daughters prior to his first wife's death. Flook's second marriage took place in April 1893. The couple had no children.

Flook was a member of the First Christian Church of Roseburg, serving on that institution's board of trustees and as superintendent of its Sunday school. Flook was also instrumental in the construction of a new high school for Roseburg, serving as head of a committee which obtained a building site and plans and which solicited bids for construction.

Death and legacy

John G. Flook died January 24, 1926 at his home in Corvallis. He was buried in a cemetery located in his former home town of Roseburg. He was 86 years old at the time of his death.

The country of Baden became a state of Germany in 1871 and is located in the southern part of present day Germany. Joseph probably removed to the United States with his parents. Sometime by the 1830's or perhaps earlier, Joseph resided in Ohio, in or around Clermont County.

On September 19, 1833 in Brown County, Ohio, Joseph married Mary Ann Derrough. Two sons are known to have been born to the couple. In 1836 Joseph's brother John married Sarah Derrough, a sister of Joseph's wife.

was the grandson of John Derrough and Abigail "Abbie" Rolston. Henry was named after his maternal uncle, Henry Ralston Derrough. Both his mother and father died about 1839 when Henry was little more than five years old. Who cared for Henry and his brother Amos is unknown; perhaps their paternal uncle, John Flook and Aunt Sarah Derrough Flook.

On January 11, 1855 in Johnson County, Indiana, Henry married Mary Ann Fisher. Four children were born to their union. Henry and family were enumerated in the 1860 census of Adams Township, Morgan County, Indiana:

His wife Mary died in 1872.

In 1874 in Burlington, Coffey County, Kansas, Henry married Olivia J. Welch. No children are known to have been born to their union. Henry left Kansas sometime after 1875 and was enumerated in the 1880 census of Marseilles, La salle County, Illinois. Henry worked as a dentist. He was listed as married, but his wife and youngest child were enumerated separately. In 1889 Henry and his youngest son, William, were living in Chicago, Cook County, Illinois; Olivia was not present. William, Olivia, and son William were residing together at 1414 West Monroe in Chicago, Cook County, Illinois, in 1900. Wife or ex-wife Olivia died in 1901. The 1902 probate for Olivia was administered by Henry and Barbara Flook of 1414 West Monroe, and Russell S. Clark of Chicago. Barbara is assumed to have been Henry's third wife.

Malinda Derrough was born February 20, 1816 in Clermont County, Ohio, one of twelve children born to John Derrough and Abigail Rolston.

Malinda was twice married. Her first marriage, in 1835 in Clermont County, Ohio, was to John Young. Three daughters were born to the couple. The couple removed to Illinois and may have returned to Ohio before her husband's death in 1849. Malinda and the children are known to have returned to Clermont County, Ohio. After her husband's death, Malinda split up the children.

On October 29, 1851 in Clermont County, Ohio, Malinda married Lazarus Ross. He was previously married and likely widowed. Four sons and a daughter are known to have been born to the couple. The family was residing in Perry Township of Pike County, Illinois, where Lazarus, her husband of 28 years, died March 8, 1870 at the age of 65. In the 1870 census of Pike County, Illinois, months after Lazarus's death, the widow, Mrs. Malinda Ross, was living next to James Ross. James was 35 years old, born about 1835 in Ohio. James is assumed to be a son from Malinda's late husband's first marriage.

Malinda, 63, died December 18, 1879 in Pike County, Illinois. Her place of burial is unknown.

Notes for Victoria Olivia Young:

Victoria Olivia "Viola" Young was born June 27, 1839 in Felicity, Clermont County, Ohio, the eldest of three daughters born to John Young and Malinda Derrough. She was the granddaughter of John Derrough and Abigail Rolston. The family removed to Illinois, where her father died around 1850. After her father's death, her mother took the children back to Ohio. Once in Ohio, her mother split up the children.

In 1851 her mother married Lazarus Ross, and from that union, Victoria had four half-brothers.

Victoria is known to have married twice. She first married Jacob Y. Coil. The couple married October 11, 1855 in Harrison County, Kentucky. Neither had reached the age of majority, she was 16 and Jacob was 20. Perhaps the couple had eloped to Kentucky to marry. Eight children are known to have been born to the couple, two of which died in early childhood, during the spring of 1873. Jacob, Victoria's husband of 19 years, died the following year on November 7, 1874 in Lincoln County, Missouri, at the age of 39. All three are assumed to have died of Influenza. After her husband's death, Victoria removed to Pike County, Illinois, where she and two of her sons were enumerated in the 1880 census of Perry Township:

Victoria Coil OH	Self OH	W	Female	W	50	MO	Keeping House
Joseph Coil MO	Son	S	Male	W	22	MO	Farm Laborer	MO
William Coil MO	Son	S	Male	W	15	MO	Farm Laborer	MO
Noah Coil MO	Son	S	Male	W	13	MO	Farm Laborer	MO

Although listed as a son, Joseph Coil is probably a nephew of her husband's.

Victoria's second known marriage was to Paris America Brandom on January 14, 1902 in Cass County, Illinois. Victoria was 62 and Paris about age 70. Well beyond her child bearing years, there were no children from this union. Mr. Brandom preceded her in death in January of 1916.

Victoria, 87, died July 9, 1926 in Beardstown, Cass County, Illinois, and was buried as "Victoria O. Young Coil Brandom" in the Beardstown City Cemetery in Bearstown.

Notes for Jacob Y. Coil:

Jacob Y. Coil was born November 7, 1835 in Shamrock, Calloway County, Missouri, the third of eight children born to Noah Coil and Elizabeth Lail. His father died in 1843 when Jacob was about eight years of age. His mother remarried, and from that union, Jacob had a half-brother and a half-sister.

On October 11, 1855 in Harrison County, Kentucky, Jacob married Victoria Olivia Young. Eight children were born from their union. Two of the younger children died during the Influenza epidemic in 1873.

Jacob, 39, died the following year on November 7, 1874, also probably of influenza, in Silex, Lincoln County, Missouri. His is said to have been buried in the Sledd Cemetery in Silex.

He was married at least three times. His first marriage was sometime before 1860. From this union, three or more children were born. Paris appears in the 1880 census of Perry Township, Pike County, Illinois:

It is not known if he is widowed or divorced at the time of the 1880 census. About 1885 he married Louisa J.. Her maiden name is unknown. The couple appears in the 1900 census of Beardstown, Cass County, Illinois. Louisa had one child that was still living. As the couple had been married for 15 years, and the child was not living at home, it is assumed that Louisa's child was from a previous marriage. What became of Louisa is uncertain.

On January 14, 1902, Paris, age 71, married the widow Mrs. Victoria Young Coil, age 62. Albert Coil, who married Paris's daughter Dora, may be Victoria's son found as Alfredo in the 1870 census.

Notes for Luella Young:

Luella Young was born in 1843 in Illinois, the second of three daughters born to John Young and Malinda Derrough. She was the granddaughter of John Derrough and Abigail Rolston. The family may have returned to Ohio before her father's death in 1849. Her mother is known to have returned to Clermont County, Ohio with the children. After her father's death, her mother split up the family. Luella was enumerated in the 1850 census of Tate Township of Clermont County, Ohio:

In 1851 her mother married Lazarus Ross, and from that union, Victoria had four half-brothers.

On April 25, 1844 in Johnson County, Indiana, Josiah married Sophia Woodruff. Six children were born to the couple. Josiah's father died in 1848. Josiah's mother and his brother Oliver then moved to Johnson County. After his mother's death in 1874, his brother Oliver moved in with them.

Josiah joined the Union Army during the Civil War and served as a 2nd Lieut. in Company H of the 54th Regiment of the Indiana Infantry. Josiah was wounded in the Battle of Chickasaw Bayou near Vicksburg, Mississippi on December 29, 1862. Josiah was taken to the hospital steamship "City of Memphis" docked at Millikens Bend, Louisiana, on the Mississippi River about 15 miles north of Vicksburg.

Josiah, age 42, died January 12, 1863, two weeks after he was wounded. Josiah's place of death and burial are uncertain. He may have died aboard the steamship "City of Memphis" or he may have been transported to a regular hospital and died.

There are two burial locations for Josiah Ralston. One is his physical burial and the other is a memorial burial:

AUNT'S DREAM OF MAN'S DEATH SOON COMES TRUE

ARTHUR E. RALSTON IS ELEC- TROCUTED ON TOP OF BOX CAR IN YARDS

-----

In the employ of the Frisco railroad company but five days, Arthur E. Ralston, 25 years old, a switchman of 8413 Olive street, while riding on the top of a box car, which was being switched from the Old Frisco coal yards, near Tiffany street and Vista avenue, yesterday afternoon, became entangled in a trolley wire and was instantly killed. His aunt's dream of his death was thus verified.

Frank W. Stetzell, foreman of the train crew, signaled the engineer to stop and ran to the power house of the United Railways, Vandeventer and Park avenues, where he caused the current to be disconnected. The body, after much difficulty, was lowered and taken to the morgue.

Ralston until last Saturday was in the employ of a hardware company as a driver. His aunt, Mrs. Frank Hughes, with whom he boarded, says that she had begged him to keep away from the railroad.

When notified of the accident, Mrs. Hughes said that shortly after he accepted the position she had a vision in which she saw Ralston lying dead by the railroad tracks.

Ralston was born in St. Louis. Both his parents are dead. He is survived by four brothers, William, George, Joseph and Robert.

Notes for Loue Brown:
